Town Record Vol 1 p 48 Certificate of Birth
John Patten born November 1, 1751 Merrimack, New Hampshire

Died December 22, 1820 West Charleston, Maine
John Patten is buried in West Charleston, Maine, in a single-grave lot. I do not know where his two wives are buried as yet. I have a picture of his grave with a flag placed upon it.

Clara Patten Bowen - Hallowell, Maine

Census 1820 Penobscot County New Charleston p 33
John Patten one son 16/26 one daughter 16/26 wife 45+
Probably the daughter was Margaret born 1795 Hampden, Maine, who married Levi Bradley of New Charleston 1822; the son probably was Abraham born 1798 Hampden, Maine.

John Patten evidently came from Merrimack, New Hampshire, to Hampden, Maine, between 1783, when his son Ezra was born in Merrimack, and 1785, when his son Moses was born in Hampden, Maine. See record below taken from a town office record in Hampden, Maine. The book this is taken from is so old it is not handled except by the clerk.

John Patten 1751-1820 = Revolutionary War Soldier pension papers = Pension law passed 1776 granted half pay for life in case of limb or other disabilities. This law had one great drawback. There were no funds to pay the benefits and hardly 300 veterans of the Revolution drew any pensions. In 1818 a new pension law was passed providing for service pensions. This law provided pensions for officers and enlisted men who served "to the end thereof" or for the time of nine months or more in any period of war and who was in need. Commissioned officers were to receive $20 a month; enlisted men $9.

Newspaper clipping: Officially, even in Colonial times, the Mass. regiment wore blue, altho usually the Militia was without uniform. However Winslow's men, used to transport the Arcadians, were so informed. In the Revolution the Militia wore anything that came to hand, but the regiments of the Mass. line, Continental Army, wore uniforms of blue faced with red under the crossed belts of the Continentals. These were obtained from the French and issued 1778. The first issue was of brown cloth faced with red. But these outfits were exchanged with other states for the blue faced with red. Virginia and Delaware also had the blue. The regular Continental regiments even without uniforms were identified by the white crossed belts.

Two descendants of John Patten 1751-1820 have become members of the D A R using his papers as follows:

Mrs Clara Eileen (Bowen) Eames MacFarland, 7 Lincoln Street, Hallowell, Maine, daughter of Dr. Howard L. Bowen and Clara (Patten) Bowen of 177 Second Street, Hallowell, Maine. Clara Bowen compiled this genealogy. Mrs MacFarland's number is 560352 nationally. Her membership is in the Mary Kelton Dummer Chapter, Hallowell, Maine D A R. Mrs Grace Maxwell assisted in obtaining information from Washington, a member of the Hallowell Chapter.

Mrs Delmar (Elizabeth) Cottle 404 Bellevue Avenue, Marietta, Ohio = I want to report that my D A R papers were accepted in December on the service of John Patten 1751-1820 and that I now am a full pledged member of the Marietta Chapter. John Patten --Mass. Line age 68
35 c is a report from the Secretary of War in obedience to resolutions of the senate in 1834-35.
35c is the pensioners under the act of March 18, 1818; listed as the pensioners under the act of June 7, 1832.

This compilation was made from AN ALPHABETICAL INDEX OF REVOLUTIONARY PENSIONERS LIVING IN MAINE by Charles Alcott Flagg, published in Dover-Foxcroft in 1920, reprinted from Spragues Journal of Maine History.

According to Histories of New Hampshire William Patten, Deacon, father of John Patten 1751-1820 and his brother Robert Patten came to Boston in 1725. Robert Patten stayed in Mass. for a time but finally went to New Hampshire. Deacon William Patten went to New Hampshire. Below is a letter from Mrs. Elizabeth Cottle of Marietta, Ohio.

Dear Cousin Clara: I am pleased to report that I believe I have found the marriage of our "Deacon" William Patten in the "Vital Records of Chelmsford, Mass. to the end of 1914 " published by the Essex Institute, Salem, Mass. 1914

p 290 Patten, William, of Litchfield, and Elizabeth Gammell, int. Nov. 11, 1739

The part that makes this so exciting is that William Patten is of Litchfield which is the town on the Merrimack River opposite Merrimack, N H where he later lived. According to "Towm Papers of New Hampshire" " Vol x11 p273 Litchfield was incorporated in 1734 by the general court of Mass. and was considered part of that province until the line was established between Mass. and New Hampshire in 1741. Litchfield is just west of Londonderry which we know was a major center of the Scotch-Irish in N H.

The marriage date of November 11, 1739 seems to fit in well with the other facts. According to the "Patten Families" by Moore p 67 William Patten was one of the first group of settlers of Merrimack and on the tax list of January 8, 1739/40 which would be just two months after the marriage. Also their first child Mary was born September 30, 1740 and recorded on the town books. In addition Moore says that in 1731 John Gamble, who is presumed to be Elizabeth's father was " of Chelmsford, Mass. when he bought Dec. 31, the 40 acre lot referred to as being in the west range, 2nd division of Londonderry Hugh and Anna Ramsey being the sellers. In 1732 he witnessed a deed in Londonderry but by 1748 he must h ave died. Who his wife was and if he had any other children than Elizabeth (Patten) and Rachel (Single) we do not know."

Deacon William Patten was selectman in 1740 of Merrimack, N H when it was incorporated.

*Letter from Mrs Eben Smith of Raymond, N H August 4, 1972 to Clara Patten Bowen of Hallowell, Maine: Am so glad to get your letter, have done much research on my family, Simpson side, of the family, and I do have the Simpson Bible of Andrew Simpson's descendants. My grandfather (my father's mother) and Mary G. Simpson who married Warren Glidden of Pembroke, N H. She left me a few records which are very similar to those in Cogswell's History of Nottingham, Deerfield, and Northwood. In other respects she had found a book by Frank Kelley M D entitled "Reminescences of New Hampshire". It has records of the Simpson family plus lots of material on the massacre of Elizabeth Patten, the first wife of Andrew Simpson. Robert Patten was a Deacon and he moved from Nottingham N H to Exeter N H, to Chesiter and I believe Candia, N H. Wish I knew more about him. He was Elizabeth's brother and he and Andrew Simpson bought ten acres here in Nottingham, where I live on the old homestead, back in 1728. I don't have too much on Robert Patten. I did not know he had any brothers. Andrew Simpson and Robert had cabins here where I live. There is still a hollow on our lawn where Andrew Simpson and Elizabeth's cabin set. She was killed by the Indians in 1747, some date 1742, others 1746. There is a place in Nottingham Square which denotes her massacre; also that of two other people who were massacred the same day. Some of the Simpson descendants went to Maine before going to Ohio." Sincerely Mrs Eben Smith Raymond N H 03077 R 1

In another letter Mrs Smith says Robert Patten and Andrew Simpson came to Boston in 1725 with forty weavers on the ship TRUE LOVE, from Scotland.

CHILD 1: William Patten, Esq. 1773-1852

The remaining pages of Volume 1 contain the record of William Patten, Esq. and his descendants.

THE PATTEN FAMILIES BY HOWARD PARKER MOORE, referred to frequently by genealogists, is a major work. However, on page 71 there is an erroneous list of children of William Patten, Esq. above.

I think the article from the American Genealogist by Jacobus should be printed on the following pages to show the correction.

For reference at Bangor Public Library see: The American Genealogist by Jacobus Whole No. 163 July 1965 Vol. 41 No. 3 p 161

The article p 161 - Patten of Hampden and Hermon, Maine, by Mrs. Howard Bowen of Hallowell, Maine, and George Harvey of Sacramento, California

The corrections were discovered in various ways: gravestones in the Lakeview Cemetery at West Hampden, Maine; gravestones in the Hermon Pond Cemetery, Hermon, Maine; censuses; Patten-Webber Bible records; Records of another William Patten of Hampden, Maine, found at the home of Mrs. Jeanne Whitten of Hampden, Maine and now of Bangor, Maine; and personal knowledge of the Hermon, Maine, Pattens of whom I am one. The Patten-Webber Bible is in my home.

Clara Patten Bowen, great great grand daughter of William Patten, Esq. 1773-1852

PATTEN OF HAMPDEN AND HERMAN, MAINE

By Mrs. Howard Bowen of Hallowell, Maine and George Harvey of Sacramento, California

Howard Parker Moore, in The Patten Families (Edwards Brothers, Ann Arbor, Mich. 1939), on page 71, in listing the children of John and Margaret (Gibson) Patten, states that the eldest child, William, born 5 Jan. 1773, died 7 June 1852, married Harriett Goodell, born 5 Jan. 1778, died 2 Apr. 1872, and had seven children, namely: 1 Thomas, 2 Richard, 3 William, 4 John, 5 Sally (m. a Parker), 6 Rachel (m. Isaac Robinson), and 7 Betsy (m. John O'Dell). These children did not belong to the above William Patten (1773-1852).

There was a William Patten who bought lot no. 39 in Hampden, Maine, before 1784 and may well be the father of the seven children listed by Moore. Traditionally this family was from Massachusetts and we have found records of some of these children which show that they were born much too early to be children of the William who was born in 1773. The following items about these children will prove the point:

1. Thomas, b. ca. Aug. 1782; d 31 Mar. 1857 ae. 74 yrs. 7 mos. (g.s., Lakeview Gen., Hampden); m. (intention pub. Hampden 26 Mar. 1805) Sally (Emily) Rich, who d. 7 July 1854 ae. 83 yrs. (g.s., ib.). Five children, of whom Lucy m. Robert Swan (b. 1800, a first settler of Hermon, Maine), where they are buried in Hermon Pond Cemetery; a daughter who m. John Swan; and a daughter who m.------ Dunn.
2. Richard, m. by Rev. Elijah R. Sabin, 14 Oct. 1813, Mercy Cole,
3. William, b. ca. Apr. 1784; d. 11 Dec. 1853 ae. 69 yrs. 8 mos. (g. s., Lakeview Cemetery, Hampden); m. Abigail Whitney; had 13 children. Mrs. Jeanne Whitten of Hampden descends from this family on her father's side, and has data on the descendants.
4. John
5. Sarah (Sally), m. (intention pub. Hampden 16 Mar. 1799) Samuel Parker.
6. Rachel, b. ca. 1778, d. 2 Dec. 1863 ae. 85 yrs. (g.s. Lakeview Cemetery, Hampden); m. (intention pub. Hampden 13 Oct. 1797) Isaac Robinson, who d. 19 Dec. 1836 ae. 66 (g.s., ib.)
7. Betsy, m. John O'Dell.

With this family group removed from the erroneous parentage assigned to it in the Moore book, we may now consider the John and Margaret (Gibson) Patten family and that of their son William. The vital statistics of Hampden, Maine, provide the following data:

John Patten son to William and Elizabeth Patten was born in Marrymick state of newhampshire Novr 1 A.D. 1751 old style
Margaret Patten the wife of John Patten was born in Pelham in the state of newhampshire October the 16th 1749 old style

(El) iza their daughter born December the 6 A.D. 1800
(C) lement their son born December 15 A.D. 1803
Clement March died January the 4th A.D. 1804

Also recorded are the marriage banns between John Patten and his second wife, "widow" Polly March. She was Polly (Shaw) March.

Mrs. Jeanne Whitten, above mentioned as descended paternally from the other Patten family, descends on her mother's side from Samuel Gibson Patten, Sr., the ninth child of John Patten (1751-1820). She kindly provides a statement written in 1907 by Samuel Gibson Patten, Jr., to someone who was doing work on the Patten genealogy, as follows: "I have no record of William Patten's family. He and Jane and John settled in Hermon, Maine, each of whom settled on a farm." Signed: "Samuel G. Patten born in 1825 - is now in his 82nd year of age and is the son of Samuel G. Patten who was born in 1789. Denver, Colorado, Feb. 20, 1907"

John Patten (1776-1850), fourth son of John Patten (1751-1820), did settle in Hermon, Maine, about 1806, near his brother William (1773-1852), and the contributor (Clara Emily Patten Bowen) is paternally descended from him. He married first, in 1794, Lydia Garland, by whom he had children Margaret (m. Thomas Perkins), Ebenezer (m. Elizabeth Gubtil), and Richard (m. Lavinia Kimball). He married second, Hannah Simpson Sawyer, by whom he had children Lydia, John, Sarah, Joseph, Levi, and Jonathan.

The same contributor (Mrs. Bowen) also descends maternally from William Patten (1773-1852), eldest son of John Patten (1751-1820), whose children, as we have seen, were erroneously stated in the Moore book. There is a Bible record which gives the children of William Patten in one column and those of Isaac Webber in another; Patten's daughter Polly married Webber's son Eliezer. These entries read:

William Patten born March the 23rd 1773	Isaac Webber born February 1765
Hannah wife of the said William Patten born January first 1778	Rachel Walker born August 1766
	Married May 22, 1786
Their children born as follows:
Chesley born 20th May 1797	Sarah Webber September 7, 1788

Marriages

William Patten was married to Hannah Goodell July 7th 1796

William Patten, born 23 March 1773, was son, as we have seen above, of John Patten, born 1 Nov. 1751, died 22 Dec. 1820, and of Margaret Gibson, born 16 Oct. 1749, died 23 Sept. 1793, and grandson of Deacon William Patten of Merrimack, N.H., and of Elizabeth Gamble. He died 7 July 1852 (g.s., Hermon Pond Cemetery, Maine). His wife, Hannah Goodell, died 6 Apr. 1872 (g.s., ib.). Of their children, the following can be added. Chesley died 14 Feb 1849 (g.s., ib.), and his wife Elizabeth died 14 Dec. 1864. William, Jr., died 24 June 1850 (g.s., ib.), and married first, Sophronia Dole, who died in 1830 aged 26, and second, Charlotte Swett. Mary (or Polly) died 11 Oct. 1898 (g.s., Snow's Corner Cem., Hermon, Me.); her jusband, Eliezer Webber, born 17 Apr. 1795, died 11 Mar. 1879 (ib.). John died 11 May 1850 (g.s., Hermon Pond Cem.). Olive Hoxie----------"wife of George Hoxie" on stone
John Patten----------1805-1850 son of William Patten and Hannah (Goodell)

1975 -- This summer Clara Patten Bowen and Iola Patten Atkins, great great grandchildren, found the William Patten Esq. cemetery lot had been vandalized. William Patten's stone was broken from the base, the son John's stone broken off and in three sections, and other stones broken. Hannah Goodell Patten's stone still stood. Mary Patten Grant's stone stood but her husband Elisha's stone was broken off at the base.

Lived Hermon, Maine

From History of Penobscot County 1882 - William Patten settled in Hermon in an early day. He built a house by driving stakes and covering them with peeled bark, and lived in it for some time. The first season he felled thirty acres of timber, burnt the ground, and raised 500 bushels of corn. He subsisted on potatoes and fish. He also built a house of hewn logs in which he lived for sixty years until his death. He was in the War of 1812, died at the age of 79. He preached the gospel for thirty years. He was a delegate to the convention which separated states, and was a selectman until his death. He served as representative a number of times and held all the town offices. He did all the Justice business for a great many years and in that time officiated at the marriages of a large number of the townsmen. He married Hannah Goodell of Prospect by whom he had the following children: Chesley, William II, Gibson, John, Alva, Gibson, Polly, Olive, and Jane.

Note: In the Bible Jane is recorded as Margaret J.

Letter from R A Stubbs 8/17/65 to Mrs. H. Bowen Hallowell, Maine
Dear Mrs. Bowen -- I wish to thank you for your kind letter of August 10, 1965. Yes, in studying the Patten Book (The Patten Families by Moore) I concluded the outline was incorrect and suspected a careless typesetter, for any genealogist could figure that William Patten 3 could not be the father of Rachel, etc. I'm so glad for your article in The American Genealogist. Now we are straightened out. I'm sure you have done a great service for us. I am glad especially for data on Rachel's brothers and sisters. Yours truly, R A Stubbs

3/8/67 Mr. George Harvey Sacramento, California
Dear Mr. Harvey -- Thank you for your kind letter which was informative. I did not have the death date of Deacon William Patten so was pleased to receive it. I had figured it would be about that time.
My wife's line 1 William 1 Patten; 2 William 2 Patten; 3 Rachel Patten Robinson Penobscot Co. Probate, p. 300 - Wm. Patten of Hampden appointed administrator for Isaac Robinson 25 Dec. 1837; 4 Almy (Robinson) Smith; 5 Lauretta (Smith) Grove; 6 Gertrude (Grove) Hall; 7 Rena (Hall) Stubbs
I did write to someone who had a Patten article correction in July 65 American Genealogist. That must have been Mrs. Bowen. I don't seem to recall her name. I have written over 1000 letters over the 40 years on 350 surnames in our daughter's ancestry and have a poor memory, unfortunately. Some years ago I reached the same conclusions as you people. I spent so much money paying town clerks and genealogists in Maine, much more than I could afford to. I discovered that there were English and Scotch Pattens in and around Bangor. Sincerely yours,
R A Stubbs

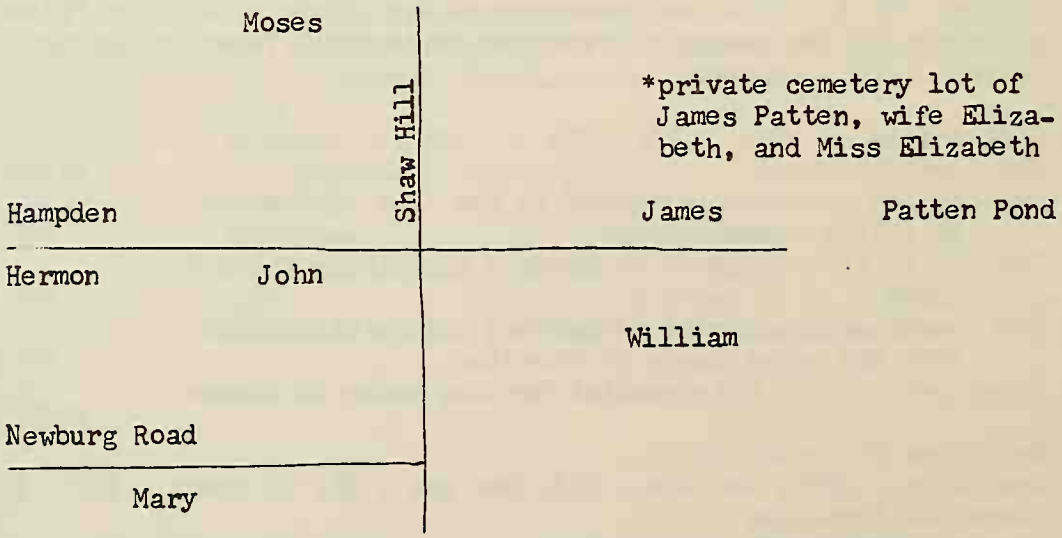
From a letter sent by Mrs. Annie Ambrahams of Denver, Colorado to someone in Hampden, Maine - (Mrs. Abrahams was the granddaughter of Samuel Patten Jr. who lived in Denver.) Contents of letter given by Samuel Patten Jr. of Denver, Colorado.

Samuel Patten Sr. brother of William Patten Esq.
Samuel Patten Jr. son of Samuel Patten Sr.
Elizabeth (Patten) Jewett daughter of Samuel Patten Jr.
Annie Abrahams daughter of Elizabeth Jewett

Letter: "I have no record of William Patten's family. He and Jane and John settled in Hermon, Maine on farms. No doubt there are mistakes in this record of the Patten race, for instance I am not sure of who my grandfather was, whether he was John Patten or Robert Patten but I think it was John, the son of Actor Patten." The rest of the letter is in other parts of the family records as they concern each family.

Comments on letter: Four brothers and a sister settled in Hampden and Hermon as neighbors. Moses and James on the Hampden side of the town line and John and William on the Hermon side. The sister Mary married Elisha Grant and settled on a farm near them on the Newburgh Road.



Moses Patten house burned and he moved to Bald Hill Cove
James Patten house tumbled down in 1974
John Patten house standing 1974 in fine condition
William Patten house long gone.

"As to Jane Patten I do not know whether it was Jane, daughter of John Patten 1751-1820 or the daughter of William Patten Esq. named Margaret J. Patten" - The daughter of John Patten 1751-1820 married Lawyer James Holmes and lived in Dover-Foxcroft, Maine

Note on Samuel Patten Jr. who sent the letter: was 80 years old when the above letter was sent in 1905. (See Samuel Patten 1825-1913 in Volume 11 of the Descendants of John Patten 1751-1820)

Comments on letter from Annie Abrahams of Denver for Samuel Patten Jr.  Research shows that John Patten, son of Actor Patten was probably related to John Patten 1751-1820 but was not the great grandfather. Actor and his son John came to southern Maine in 1727. This genealogy is in the State Library in Augusta, Maine by Clara Patten Bowen. The parents of John Patten 1751-1820 were William Patten, Deacon and Elizabeth Gamble of Merrimack, N H; William who came to Boston in 1725 then went to Merrimack, N H. John Patten 1751-1820 came from Merrimack, N H with his family to Hampden, Maine about 1784 as the son Moses was born in Hampden, Maine in 1785.

From Centennial Souvenir of Hermon, Maine 1914

Town of Hermon 1819 - town meeting held in No. 1 district school house. Voted on separation of Maine from Massachusetts - passed.
1819 Mr. Patten was chosen delegate to the convention to frame the state constitution. Voted to accept constitution.
1848 Universalist Church built by Rev. William Patten, its first pastor.

Note: William Patten Esq. donated $700 toward the building of the church and his family attended there. Pews were sold, one of them to Eliezer Webber for $46.50 which was signed by William Patten Esq. (Eliezer Webber married Polly Patten who was the daughter of William Patten Esq.) Clara Patten Bowen has one of these papers signed by William Patten J P and John Kimball.

1900 The Universalist Church was sold to the Grange for $1.00 with the agreement that it be torn down when the Grange disbanded.
1930 The Church - Grange building was torn down. A fine building lost to posterity.

The family of Russell Patten and Iola Webber Patten had fine times at the Grange Hall, one of the daughters Clara Patten Bowen who did this genealogy. Iola (Webber) Patten was given a fifty year pin from the Grange. (See write up under Chesley Patten Webber, son of Polly (Patten) Webber and Eliezer.)

In 1854 Hannah Goodell Patten went to live with Polly and Eliezer Webber -- Polly was her daughter. See below -

From the account book of Eliezer Webber of Hermon, Maine --
"Hannah Patten com to my house to bord with me and brot with her one note five hundred dollars, Alva note three hundred dollars, silver ninty dollars, paper money ninty fore dollars." March 10, 1854

From the History of Penobscot County 1882* In the History they have Chesley 1797-1849  It should be Chesley W. Patten 1847-1898.

"Chesley W. Patten was born in Hermon March 31, 1847. After receiving a common school education he began devoting his energies to farming in which he made a great success. He now has a fine farm in a good state of cultivation and supplied with good buildings. He married Syville Kimball, daughter of James Kimball of Carmel, April 22, 1865 and had three children."

Another child was born to them named Clyde. The farm burned in 1938 and with it many pictures and material of value to future generations such as family history.

Obituary of Chesley W. Patten - Only part of the obituary is here - He resided in the Carmel-Hermon area all his life and had been engaged in farming. Survivors are his widow Mrs. Seville Patten. The obituary would be in the Bangor Daily News or other Bangor paper.

Letter of Elizabeth Ann Patten Swett

I congratulate you one and all for your energy and perseverance in your endeavor to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the good old town of Hermon on this the 16th day of June 1914 for I consider it is well worthy of your celebration. It has raised some very large and good families that have made good citizens and I have known some excellent men and women who were raised in Hermon. Among them was my grandfather William Patten who was a leading citizen in the town business. And also James Patten who was a good business man of the town, and I heard Hannabel Hamlin say at his funeral "he was an honest man which is the noblest work of God." Then it had John Kimball, Nathaniel Eaton, and Josiah Eaton, all good and worthy citizens, and many others to numerous to mention.

One hundred years have made a great change everywhere and in everything. I am not one hundred years old as yet but will be eighty nine in February next. I can remember seeing flax grow in my grandfather's field and seeing him swingle it out in his shed for my grandmother to take on her little wheel and I can see her now making it into yarn to make linen for the table and towels. She also spun and wove the woolen wale cloth for her boy's breeches and made it up with a darning needle - which they were glad to wear then and would be ashamed to wear now. Those boys were my father and Uncle Chesley and Alva Patten. She also spun and wove all her woolen blankets without thinking once of hiring a hired girl.

Oh what a change one hundred years hath wrought for we now can buy clothes already fitted to our backs, if we can get the money to buy them.

Wishing you all a very merry and enjoyable centennial.

I remain,
Elizabeth Swett

Obituary of Edith Idell Emerson - Bangor Daily News - Danbury, Conn. - Mrs. Edith Patten 82 a life long resident of Hermon, died Sunday at the home of her daughter Mrs. Ruth Wing after a long illness. Mrs. Patten, who had been living with her daughter throughout the winter months and spring, was a member of the Eastern Star Lodge of Hermon and attended the Grace Methodist in Bangor, Maine. She was born in Hermon October 20, 1878, the daughter of Isaac and Ellen (Connelly) Emerson. She was the widow of Lester P. Patten. Surviving are a brother Albion of Waterville, Maine; three daughters, Mrs. Ruth Wing of Danbury, Conn., Mrs. Edith Littlefield of Rochester, N.Y., Mrs. Lois Gilpatrick of Searsport, Maine; a son Rex Patten of Hampden, Maine; seven grandchildren; several great grandchildren. Also neices and nephews. Funeral services will be held at the Clark-Mitchell Funeral Home, 299 Union Street, Bangor, Maine at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Friends may call in the afternoon and evening, Tuesday.

Lester Patten was a tax collector of Hermon for many years. He was crippled, some say because he bent over a shoe making bench when small. Edith had two brothers, Albion and Leroy.

Letter from Mrs. Emery Leathers (Ada Snow) - Surry, Maine (formerly of Hermon) The Rackliffes were own cousins of my father, Francis Snow, of Hampden, Maine. So their mother must have been a sister to his mother's. This is what I am trying to find out. My grandmother, my father's mother, was Nancy Bussey Varney. She married a Smith and they lived in Newburg. Did your source mention who were parents of these Rackliffes? I wondered if the Newburg Cemetery would yield information. I would like to know who the older Varneys were.

Obituary of Henry Foster - Bangor Daily News -
The death of Henry Foster 82 occured at his home Friday 95th Second Street. He was born in Newburg, the son of Charles and Fannie (Farrell) Foster. He lived most of his life in Bangor and in his later years was a contractor and carpenter. Surviving are his widow Mrs. Roxena P. Foster, Bangor; a brother Merton Foster, Bangor; a sister Mrs. Myra Clark, Bangor; two neices and a nephew. Funeral services will be held Monday at 1 p.m. in the Clark-Mitchell Funeral Home 299 Union Street, Bangor, where friends may call Sunday afternoon and evening.

In early days Henry Foster was a shipping clerk for Hammond and Simmons Company. Roxena Foster attended Hermon Grade School and the Metropolitan Hospital in New York City. She was a nurse and after her father died she and her mother Zilpha Prescott opened a convalescent home in Bangor.

Dorothy had two children by her first husband.

James Prescott and Julia (McAllister) Prescott had two sons: Frank and Emery. Emery Prescott married Etta Homsted of Hampden, Maine. They had one son Maurice Prescott who lived on the old homestead all his life. Maurice Prescott 1900-1962 was not married.

From town report of Hermon, Maine 1893 --
Mr. F O Prescott taught the winter term. We consider the district fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Prescott, as he is a teacher of experience and ability.

From the Maine Teacher Augusta, Maine 1973

March 1855 A temper and disposition suitable for a teacher of youth. The superintending committee of district No. 2 Union judged Miss Julia McAllister qualified to teach school - and that was the way a teacher was certified in 1855. The original of the document reproduced is the property of Mrs. Howard Bowen of Hallowell and was brought to the attention of the Maine Teacher by her husband who is retired after a long teaching career in Maine Education.

State of Maine Lincoln SS

This certifies that, in the opinion of the undersigned, Miss Julia McAllister sustains a good moral character of youth, that she has a capacity for the government and discipline of a school, and is qualified to instruct in reading, arithmetic, spelling, writing, English grammar, geography, history, and other such things of learning as are taught in second district No. 2 in the town of Union.

Children: Hannah, John, Daniel, Chesley, Levi, Tolman, Permelia, William, Angelette, Henry, Mary, Laurette, Eleazer

At one time Currier and Ives printed a family register in color, one sheet, these used by the Eliezer Webber and Polly (Patten) Webber family. The original register in color is in possession of Mrs. Kathleen (McGown) Harris (Mrs. Ralph) of Hermon, Maine / Address-Carmel, Maine, R #2 /, a great great granddaughter of Eliezer and Polly, and great granddaughter of Chesley Patten Webber of Hermon, Maine.

The Patten-Webber Bible was used by both William Patten, Esq. and Isaac Webber families. A copy of this is under William Patten, Esq. The Bible is in the possession of Clara Patten Bowen who did this genealogy, given her by Harlow Webber of Clarksburg, California, a great grandson of Eliezer and Polly Webber and grandson of John Webber.

Lived: Eliezer and Polly Webber cleared land and built a house a short distance from Hermon Corner, Hermon, Maine, on the way to Hermon Center. Their son John Webber and his wife Ann (Smith) lived here until their deaths. It was then sold by their sons Ullyses, Fred and Dr. Henry Webber. Dr. Henry Webber then went to live with Chesley Patten Webber 1828-1914 and his wife Clara (Stone) of Hermon. Families who have lived in the house include the Irvin Simpsons and the Ernest Overlocks. Mrs. Overlock has the original deed 1975. She sold the place to Adrien Jones 1968 reserving a small lot of land to build a house on. In 1975 the Webber place stands in fine condition. Tourists stop during the summer to take pictures.

In 1852 William Patten, Esq. 1773-1852 died. His wife Hannah (Goodell) Webber then lived from time to time with Eliezer and Polly Webber. Below are notes to show this:

1854 -- From the account book of Eliezer Webber:
"March 10, 1854 Hermon p 91 Hannah Patten com to my house to board with mee and brot with her one note five hundred dollars Alvah Patten; one three hundred dollar note Banes; silver money ninety nine dollars; paper money ninety fore dollars"
Clara Patten Bowen has the account book and the Alva Patten note.

1859 map of Penobscot County, Hermon, Maine -- A Mrs. Patten lived on the Carmel Road. This was probably the location where William Patten, Esq. and Hannah lived as they lived on the Carmel Road.

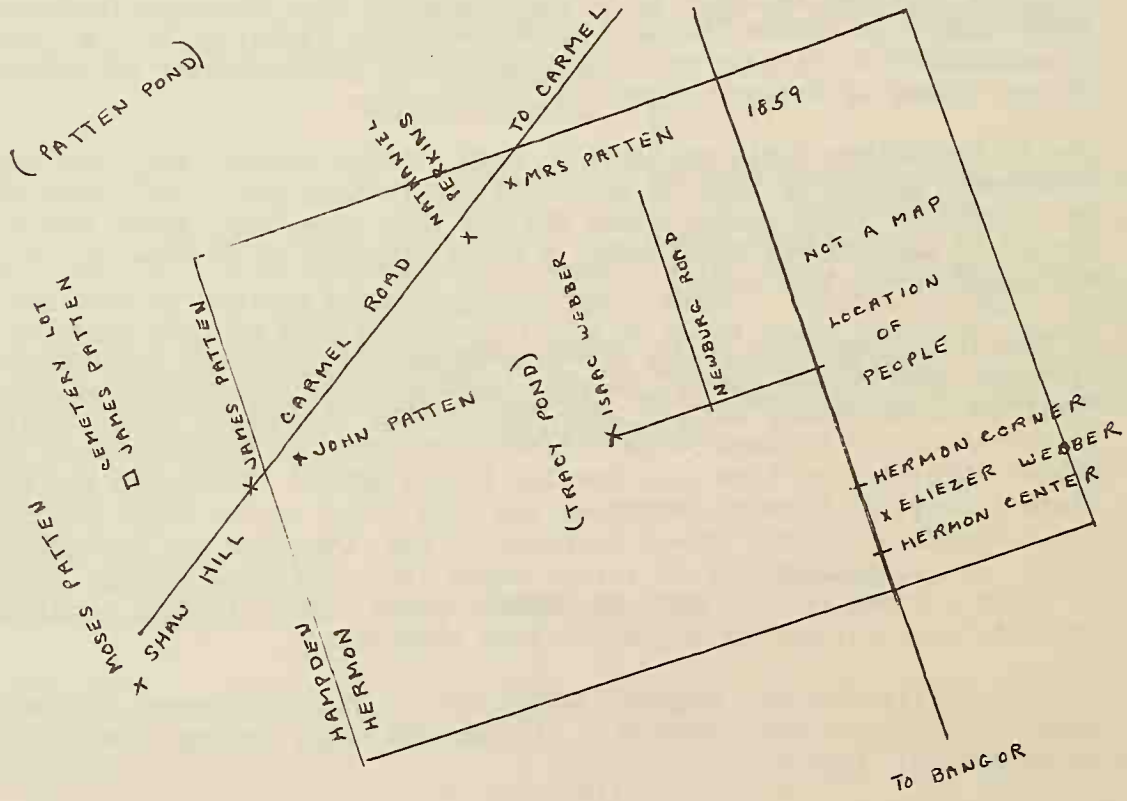
1860 census Penobscot County Hermon Hannah Patten 82,
Samuel Bodge 11, Charles Bodge 8

According to the census of 1860 Hannah (Goodell) Webber, wife of William Patten Esq., was caring for the two boys of her daughter Hannah (Webber) Bodge. Hannah Bodge had gone to Panama to find the grave of her husband Samuel Bodge who had died of yellow fever. Her brother Daniel Webber and probably George Bodge, brother of Samuel Bodge had gone with her and possibly a brother Chesley Patten Webber. The daughter of Hannah Webber Bodge named Rosilla stayed during the week with probably David Bodge in Bangor to go to school. Rosilla was taken to be with her mother Hannah Bodge by 1858 by it is thought Chesley Patten Webber and the sister of Hannah Bodge, Angelette Webber. The California census shows both Daniel and Chesley Webber were there. And Angelette was married there in 1860. So it is thought by the map of 1859 and the census of 1860 that Hannah (Goodell) Webber might have been living on the Carmel Road.



Nathaniel Perkins married Olive Patten, dau. of William Patten Esq.
Moses Patten, James Patten, John Patten were brothers of William Patten esq.
Moses Pattens house burned so he moved to Bald Hill Cove.
James Pattens house tumbled down in 1975.

These four brothers were children of John Patten 1751-1820 of Hampden, Maine.

Eliezer and Polly Webber attended the Universalist Church at Hermon Corner, Billings Road, Hermon, Maine. This was built by William Patten Esq. with his own money, $700. He was the minister there for over thirty years. Eliezer and Polly Webber bought one of the pews September 20th 1845 for $46.50. It was signed on the paper by William Patten Esq. and John Kimball. Clara Patten Bowen has one of the original papers. In 1900 the church was sold to the grange for $1.00 with the understanding that the building was to be torn down if they should disband. This was done in 1930 so a fine building was lost to the town and to posterity. Clara Patten Bowen has pictures of the church taken for the 1914 Centenniel of the town of Hermon.

Heirlooms of Polly Patten Webber - Clara Patten Bowen has pictures of Eliezer and Polly Patten Webber given to her by her mother Iola (Webber) Patten, a granddaughter. Also the night cap trimmed with lace which Polly Webber wore, a piece of the wedding dress of linen with lace insertion, the basket which she carried lunch to school; dishes of flowing blue, tea pot, given her by Mabel (Miller) Mowatt, a granddaughter, and a quilt top in the log cabin pattern. The quilt top Clara Bowen took to Mrs. Munson of Hermon to be quilted in the 1960s. Also mourning clothes and a black embroidered apron.

Among articles in possession of Iola (Patten) Atkins which belonged to Polly Webber are a round living room table, a tea pot of brown; and in possession of Annie Mabel (Patten) McGown's children are dishes. (Sisters of Clara Patten Bowen.) (Daughters of Russell and Iola Patten of Hermon.)

1869 -- Hermon - Bangor paper - Polly's Thanksgiving at 91 years of age - The papers are full of Thanksgiving events but the writer thinks none can beat this. Mrs. Polly Webber, who is one of the old ladies one reads about, being ninety years of age, in perfect health and retaining her faculties, had a goodly number of children and grandchildren and great grandchildren, including a few friends, met with her at her home with her daughter Mrs. John Miller of Hermon Corner for a Thanksgiving event and feast that no one there will ever forget or see its equal in quality or quantity. Everything eatable and drinkable one could mention were served in pretty dishes by the young ladies while the dining room was handsomely trimmed with evergreen with Grandmother on one side and the Motto "eat, drink and be happy" on the other. The occasional cake was well dressed in fancy candles and marked Polly Webber 91, looked too good to eat, but of course all things worthy of mention was a fruit cake with walnut frosting made without the help by the remarkable old lady. It was a sight to behold, worth seeing, and long to remember, the four generations with their intelligent faces, and happy, coming as they did from Hanover, N.H.; Boston, Mass.; Hampden and Hermon to spend the day together. But all things must end and at last the people were obliged to leave hoping that many more Thanksgivings pass before the end of this old lady, a grand old lady, who has fought the battle of life so nobly.

Some of the grandchildren who served on this day were Iola (Webber) Patten, and Annie (Webber) Hunt, daughters of Chesley (Patten) Webber of Hermon; and Mabel (Miller) Mowatt daughter of Laurette (Webber) Miller. Laurette was called Laura, was a daughter of Eliezer and Polly Webber. The party was held at Laura Millers.

Know all men by these presents,

THAT I, JOHN KIMBALL, of HERMON, in the County of PENOBSCOT, and State of MAINE, being chosen by a vote at a legal meeting of the proprietors of the FIRST UNIVERSALIST MEETING-HOUSE CORPORATION in HERMON, holden at the house of Alva Patten, on the 30th day of August, 1845, to make and execute quit-claim deeds for and in behalf of the proprietors of said corporation to persons purchasing Pews in the UNIVERSALIST MEETING-HOUSE in HERMON,

In consideration of forty one 50/100 dollars paid by Ebenezer Webber of Hermon in said county, the receipt whereof, in my said capacity I do hereby acknowledge, have remised, released, transferred, and forever quit-claimed, and do for myself and the proprietors of said corporation, remise, release, transfer and forever quit-claim unto the said Ebenezer Webber and his heirs and assigns, PEW or SLIP numbered forty five in said MEETING-HOUSE, situate in said HERMON, with a common interest in said Meeting-House.

ALSO, one forty eighth part of the Lot of Land on which said Meeting-House now stands, bounded and described as follows, viz:—Beginning at a stake and stones standing on the west side of the Billings road so called, thence northerly six rods to a stake and stones, thence easterly six rods to a stake and stones standing ten feet easterly of the corner of land owned by Alva Patten, thence six rods to a stake and stones standing on the west side of said road, thence six rods southerly by said road to the bounds first mentioned, being thirty-six square rods.

To Have and to Hold, THE AFOREMENTIONED PREMISES, with all the privileges and appurtenances thereunto belonging, to be held in common and undivided forever to the said Ebenezer Webber and his heirs and assigns forever; so that neither I, the said JOHN KIMBALL, nor said proprietors of said corporation, nor our heirs, or any other person or persons claiming from or under us or them, or in the name, right, or stead of us or them, shall or will, by any way or means, have, claim, or demand any right or title to the aforesaid premises or their appurtenances, or to any part or parcel thereof forever.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I the said JOHN KIMBALL, in my said authorized capacity, have hereunto set my hand and seal this 20th day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-five.

Signed, sealed and delivered in presence of

1883 St. Helena, California Newspaper -- Auld Lang Syne -
Polly (Patten) Webber's trip to California, age 80 years -
The novel and exceedingly pleasant party was given by Mrs D B Carver yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the eightieth birthday of her mother Mrs Webber who lately arrived from Maine. We call it a novel party because no lady under 70 years of age received an invitation and because each lady was expected to put a few stitches in a quilt pieced by Mrs Webber since she came out here. Shortly after one o'clock the guests commenced to arrive and before three eight of the twelve were present, so all adjourned from the sitting room to the parlor where the quilt was waiting them and with merriment went to work with a will. During the quilting Mrs Sylvester, lady of 74 years of age, treated the company to some old time music on the piano, then Miss Carver and Master Dimmy Carver gave the ladies some music of the present time which was much enjoyed. The "stent" done all were ushered in to the dining room where an elegant supper was spread. While here they all gave themselves up to the enjoyment of a good old fashioned time and an hour was spent enjoyably. At the table were Mrs Webber, age 80; Mrs Rabbe, age 83; Mrs McGeorge, age 79; Mrs Martha Hudson, 74; Mrs Sylvester, 74; Mrs W A Haskin, 72; Mrs C T Simmons, 70; Mrs J Jordan, 70; all remarkable, active and in excellent spirits. Meantime Mrs Crane and her friend Mrs Branham had come in and after taking a cup of tea all returned to the parlor where Mrs Crane treated the company to the good Auld Lang Syne as a reminder of the old times. It is worthy of mention that all these ladies who lived in town were widows and walked to and from Mrs Carver's, all but one whose husband was still living. Mrs. Crabb, mother of H B Crabb, Mrs Claus, Mrs Bancroft, and Mrs. Cameron, were also invited, were prevented from being present by the inclemency of the weather. Mrs Carver was assisted in entertaining by her daughter Anna. Dark came all too soon and all said their adieus, expressing themselves as having had a most pleasant time, and hoping that another year would find the lady in whose honor the party was given as bright and happy as on the present occassion.

Bangor Daily News, Bangor, Maine 1897 - article found in scrap book of Mrs Edna Fowler Batchelder, mother of Mrs Lila Wier of Bucksport, Maine. Mrs Lila Weir a descendant of William Patten Esq. and Hannah (Goodell) Patten and their daughter Olive (Patten) Perkins.

Mrs Polly Webber of Hermon lays claim to the distinction of being one of the few still receiving a pension from the War of 1812. She was born in that town Nov. 13, 1802 and will soon be celebrating her 95th birthday. Her father William Patten was the pioneer settler of the town. Her mother lived to be 96 years old and her mother's two sisters were centenerians, one being 100 and the other 104 years of age. She has a brother living now 91. She married when 19 years of age and was blessed with a large family, 13 children in all, six of whom are still living. Her husband at the age of 16 enlisted in the War of 1812 and received an honorable discharge at the close of the War. He died 18 years ago at 83. Since that time his widow has lived with her daughter Mrs John B. Miller of Hermon. She used tobacco for many years having acquired the habit when a girl lighting pipes for her grandmother who was an inveterate smoker. Her sight and hearing are but slightly impaired and for a woman of her age her mind is remarkably clear. She relates many interesting anecdotes of her girlhood days. With the past few years she has made 25 quilts which she gave to friends and grandchildren. At the age of fourscore she made a trip to California and remained away a year.

Children of Eliezer Webber and Polly (Patten) Webber were busy, interesting, wonderful people.Some of them became pioneers.Hannah,Daniel,Angelette,and Chesley went to California,all staying except Chesley whose wife was taken ill at Hermon and died . In all these families Polly was a legend. They tell of her kindness,her active life,and remembered that she smoked a clay pipe even when teaching children before the fireplace. Iola (Webber) Patten and Mabel(Miller)Mowatt,grandchildren,told of lighting it for her. To be a legend seems to me to be the biggest compliment one could receive from the generations of the future .

Rachel (Walker) was from Eastham, Mass. Her father Eleazer Walker came from Eastham, Mass. to Orphan Isle at the same time as Isaac Webber. First they went to Deer Isle, Maine then to Orphan Isle.
The name of Orphan Isle was changed to Verona Island later.
Rachel Walker can be traced to the Mayflower thru Stephen Hopkins and the Snows.

The Isaac Webber Family

Isaac Webber Sr. and his wife Rachel (Walker) Webber built a house at the end of the Klatt road in Hermon, Maine. The land bordered on the shore of Tracy Pond whick empties into Hermon Pond. Some say it was the first frame house built in Hermon. The picture of it is on the 1914 Centennial Souvenir, History of Hermon, also on medals and lapel pins. The house and barn were of salt box type of architecture and was put together with hand made nails. The foundation of the house was of rocks which still stand. The people who live in the house in the 1970s say their children found bits of dishes and silver there. On one side were old gnarled apple trees. The barn was standing in 1966 when Clara Patten Bowen, who did this genealogy, and her sister Iola (Patten) Atkins took pictures of it.

At one time Isaac Webber Sr. owned 200 acres of land bordering the Newburg Road adjoining that of Samuel Grant. Some land was sold to the Central Maine Railroad.

History of Hermon p 7
Mr Chesley Webber who lives in Hermon Center and who is 87 years old says that his grandmother, Mrs. Isaac Webber, when living in the old house now standing on the Klatt farm formerly called the Tracy farm and by some believed to be the first frame house built in Hermon, going out to feed the swine, drove a bear out of the hog pen with a pitch fork. On another occasion when she went with her children where her husband was working "piling" the bears came out of the woods and drove them to the house.

Women were skilled in spinning,weaving,knitting. Children had to work.To economize they went barefoot until near the meeting house.The shoes were of cowhide but stylish young swains and school marms sometimes wore calfskins.Old boot legs were made into shoes for the children.

Possibly son of Samuel Bodge of Hermon or Bangor, Maine

In 1854 Hannah (Webber) Bodge went west to find the grave of her husband Samuel Newell Bodge. It has not been discovered as yet with whom she went but probably with her brother Daniel Webber, and the brother of Samuel Newell Bodge, who was George Bodge. George Bodge was in Hoodville, Cal. in 1859 when Hannah's daughter Lilliam Riehl was born as he signed the birth certificate. Daniel Webber was in California in 1854 when Hannah wrote the first letter home to her father and mother.

From Panama Hannah went north to Sacramento and then to the mining camp at Hoodville, Cal. (Hangtown)(Slabtown) - Daniel Webber and his brother Chesley carted supplies to the mining camp from Sacramento to Placerville, a mining town called Hangtown, and Hannah was near. Hannah met Philip Riehl here and married him in 1855. Their children were born in Hoodville, Cal.

Hannah left her three children in Hermon, Maine when she left for California. According to the 1860 census the two boys were with the great grandmother Hannah (Goodell) Patten - Hermon

Hannah Patten	82	Me
Samuel Bodge	11
Charles Bodge	8

Rosilla Bodge was in Bangor during the week with a David and Ann and their son Edwin. This probably was David Bodge. Rosilla went to a girl's school there. (See Hannah's letters to Rosilla). In 1858 Rosilla was taken to her mother probably by Chesley Webber, Hannah's brother, and Angelette Webber, Hannah's sister. (1860 census of California shows Daniel and Chesley both there.

 From a letter of George Harvey of Sacramento, Cal. 1973 -
"I have a record of a George Bodge who married a Miss Catherine Oakes in 1845 - and a Charles Bodge who married a Miss Abigail Oakes 1843." One might think these could be brothers of Samuel Newell Bodge who married Hannah (Webber) of Hermon, Maine. Samuel and Hannah named their children Samuel and Charles.

Philip George Riehl was the son of a French mother and a German father. The father was named also Philip George Riehl. He went west in later life to Sacramento where both he and his wife died of cholera in the epidemic there. They had a daughter who lived there also.

Buried: Hannah and Philip Riehl buried 10th and Broadway, Sacramento, Cal. The lot is covered with a cement slab. In this lot are also a son George Riehl who died Dec. 14, 1882 26 y 9 m - and a grandson, son of Rosilla Bodge Harvey, named Clarence Alva Harvey who died Dec. 19, 1878 ae 4 y 7 m 8 d.

Lived: Hannah and George Riehl lived Hoodville, Cal. and Freeport, Cal. Philip Riehl was a miner, a farm superintendent, and a merchant. He was crippled in the mines, his legs were always bad after that but he had to climb trees to string and fix telephone wires he started on the river. He did so much for the family, as did Hannah. She was a famous midwife and rowed across the Sacramento River at the ring of a bell at night to deliver, and alone. It is unbelievable what women could do then.
Note of George Harvey of Sacramento

Hannah must have been a help to the family when at home in Hermon, Maine also as she was with relatives in trouble. In one of her letters she said "Mother have you taken my things from Lydia's yet. If not I wish you would as she wants the chamber. Tell me how Chet's baby grows." Chet was her brother Chesley Webber who went west twice.

1870 - Philip Riehl ae 34 farmer in Franklin County Township, possibly on Whitney Ranch.

1880 - Philip Riehl in Franklin Township running Freeport Store which he had bought from Daniel Webber in 1878. Also there was Hannah ae 53, George Jr. 23, J G Hite and wife Lillian and Lovelle 2 and Alice 2.

(For information on the Freeport store see Daniel Webber, son of Polly (Patten) and Eliezer Webber. (Daniel child 3)

Clara Patten Bowen who did this genealogy has a picture of Philip Riehl, Chesley Webber (Her grandfather) and a Mr. McPherson in California.

Letter from George Harvey of Sacramento, California -- 1080 Appollo Way, Sacramento, California March 10, 1964.

Dear Clara and Howard:
Well, Clara, you just knocked me right out of the chair with your last letter. Just imagine getting a letter from your great grandmother written over 100 years ago. And that is just what it was. I just called Bon and Love who were Hannah's grandchildren and they couldn't believe it. I am going over there this weekend and read it to them and we will piece out the names. Of course the second letter I pretty much know every one. The Rosie was my grandmother and Lamey or Samey was Hannah's son Sam who was in the Civil War when a kid from Maine and died when he was 50. Then my Aunt Maytie will be just beside herself when she reads the letters. I know she only half believes all the stuff on the family history I have told her. But this will make her a 100% believer. If there are other letters I simply must have them. It was always a puzzle to us who of the family looked after Hannah's children when she came out here, and this first letter explains it.

Clara this is another letter to her daughter from Hannah. I have just found out there were six of these letters saved. Have now located four but don't know if I can find the others. This one is important as it gives the time she left Maine to the day. And it gives the name Edwin who must have been her cousin and maybe from this we can find with whom she was staying. We know the boys were staying with their grandmother, great grandmother or the wife of William Esq. It would not be necessary to be a Webber she was staying with. It must be Brattleboro, Maine but I never heard of the town.

 Letter from Hannah Bodge - Hoodville, California 1855 March 9

Father this is the ninth of March. We have not heard from or had a letter from home, either of us. We thot we would try to stick it out and not write until you did, but I can't wait any longer. I must write now. We are all well. Dan is down here today with me. Jack is well. They are not doing much on account of not having any water. We have not had eny rain yet to speak of but has been a very dull winter so far and there is not much sign of it being eny better. They call it a bad winter if it doesn't rain half the time, but it is the most pleasant weather you ever see. It rains in summer. It is green and every thing looks so nice. It is so warm and no rain that the grain is all drying up but the wheat looks good now. I wish you could come here this afternoon and see how nice and happy we all are all of us when we are all well. The happiest set in all the world. Dan goes about dancing and singing just as he did at home. He is just as as ever. Have to fight him to get a clean shirt on him, but will comb his hair and read the newspaper just the same as ever. Ga came down here once ina while and sees us then he goes home. Stacy is an old man - you would think he was the eldest son of the boys to see how stidy he stays home. George is very well. Some days his cough is bad and he is sick the most of the time but he tries to make us think he is getting well and going to last forever. I expect I will stay with him two or three months longer.

We have from five to twelve boarders this winter. My man boards here. He is well and contented, never wants to leave California any more than myself. I got a letter from David. Sis says Ann tells her he is a Dutchman. If he is I wish she had one as good as he is and I will make a Dutchman out of her if she don't write soon. Going to school all winter long and she can't write. David said that Sammy and Charlie goes to school, both of them. Do they learn eny. Does Charlie know his letters. I would give enything to see them. If they are as fat and as smart as I hear they are and they say Sis is growing fast too. Is she a good girl. Or is she just as wild as ever. Does she like to go back to the city after she goes home. Is she learning anything. How do they dress her. Does she and the little boys care whether they see one another or not. I wish I could get one letter from home that would tell us all the particulars about them. John Miller is starting home next week this springand expect he will start soon. He will tell you all about us. In two weeks go to Wells-Fargo office. You will find a letter with a check for fifty dollars for his board so I can pay board. When you write immediately about it then I can send Mother a check as soon as I hear from her. Mother have you taken my things from Lydia's yet. If not I wish you would do something with them. I know she wants the chamber. Tell me how Chet's baby is, and how he grows and does he love it eny. Let my things all be in the chest and burro just as I left them for there is nothing that will hurt. I am coming home sometime. Dan says he will write in five or ten months from now if he dont hear sometime from home. When you write tell us what kind of winter you have had. John I suppose is above work. Is he courting that Verrill girl yet. I wonder. Give a fish hook to see her. Dan is well so is all the rest of us but Sim Kimball. He is a sick man. Don't think he will live long. Henry Webber, write to me. If you know how to write or Welthy. Some of you aught to know how to write. Tell Bub and lot I will give them a gold pen when I come home if they will learn. Tell Grandmother I wish to see her very much.

Goodbye I will write again soon

You think me slow in writing I had to wait for Dan to come home. He came last night. He wrote the recets. We sent them this morning. Laura we were surprised for we did not expect it, thot there want eny more then enuf to pay expenses. I think you very much and I will have to thank you for Dan. He is slower then I am. I told him to write to you he says yes but he puts it off writing till he forgets it He just as glad to hear from home as I am He just went into a new store again I hope he will prosper and pick up som agane Trouble and old age tell on him altho he is quite cheerful Says he is going to make a new start in his old age I tell him not to be discouraged Fite the fait till we die That's what I am going to do if we keep our health That is the best of all Our families are well at the present time I was glad to hear all was well at home I think of my old home very often but it is miles away and as I grow older it looks further off than it aught it seems to me and the folks dearer I couldn't do without the Bangor papers I often see things that interest me, a great paper from home Laura I wish you and John would come out here and see us I expect John thinks it is the same old California it used to be but no one can tell what his eyes could see If he would come once close the store and come again and Mabel. We would be glad to have her again. Our Luvie's health is poor She is confined to her bed most of the time. She got a good man he is so kind to her She wants for nothing in this and it too bad she dont have her health to enjoy her home for she got a lovely home, every thing to make her happy. We feel offuly for her. I just received a letter from Rosey. She says she dont know how to live since Lamey died. It was hard enuf when Charley died. She misses Lamey more for he was with her for fifteen years. She has been an awful good girl to her brothers. They both left her many miles away from us. It takes four days to get a letter to her since Lamey died. Lamey went home to his sister. He was six years with us. I miss him very much. For his mother's sake I am glad he went home. She got another son that lives by her. He got his family to look out for, his mother too. He is a good boy to his mother and sister. Rosie's girl is years old. Rosie says she will visit with me this fall if everything is alright with the children. She always talks as tho she was raising Dell's children same as my grandmother would. Chesley's wife is married again. I hope she got a good husband that will take good care of her and Chesley's children, a boy and a girl, same as my grandmother would. There mother just as good as she can be. She lives Salt Lake City with his folks. I haven't seen her since Chesley died. I went to visit him just before he died. I shall always be thankful for going to see him. I did not see Lamey for seven years before he died. I couldn't see him so far away but I know Rose took good care of him, as if it had been me. I was sorry I could not have had the boys buried together. It couldn't be, I only have two girls left, Lillie comes home every Sunday. I dont know what I would do without her if she didn't. Little Charbet is such a comfort to me. She is ten years old and a very lovable child. It is nearly ten years since Mabel went home. She had her troubles as well as Grace, in following thru as well as she can. It is pretty hard to support two children and keep them in school. The father dont help take care of them but his folks help Grace a great deal, they stick by Grace and the children. They take the children home, clothe them up, and take them home again. Mr and Mrs Lawler is just as good as they can be. They dont uphold their son for his cruel treatment of Grace. Fannie is still in her lodging house and doing well. She has all three boys with her at work in the city, board with her. Dan store that he got is about twenty miles from them so dont see him very often but they are trying to get Dan back on his feet. If Dan lives two years longer he will draw two thousand dollars, a lodge insurance, he says when he gets it he is going back home to see the folks once more. I hope he lives that long and a good deal longer but life is uncertain for us all. People say to grandmother, as your grandmother lived to such an age you may but I aint that strong as my mother was when she was eighty altho Im real well for an old lady, do all the housework and keep it pretty much in order too. Well Laura I guess you will get tired of my little letter so when I write home I dont know wen to stop. I expect if I was there I would talk you all to death but I am going to stop now and I thank you for the money. Will put it into something to remember her by. I thank you for all - Oh you terrible in getting all that money. I never heard from Welthy eny more then if she was dead.

Joseph Harvey was born in Monmouth, Maine 1795, supposedly he went with his father James Harvey to Glenburn, Maine and maybe Bradford, Maine. He was living in Woodstock N B when his son George Washington Harvey was born, later he went to Florenceville N B, and still later to Haverill, Mass. where his daughters were and married again late in life, just a couple of years before he died. I suppose he might have learned the shoe trade in Haverill when young and was a shoe maker when he died and possibly in N B. More important I would like to know the name of his first wife Emily who married a Ladd as her first husband.

her daughter Mrs Daniel Droz, after a short illness of paralyses. Mrs Harvey was born February 23, 1848 in Hermon, Maine, the daughter of Samuel and Hannah (Webber) Bodge, one of New Englands oldest families. The family left Maine for California by sailing in 1854 on a vessel, and the father died enroute on board ship, and was buried on the Isthmus of Panama, the mother proceeding with the other members of the family finally settling in Sacramento. Mrs Harvey's grandfathers Bodge and Webber served as patriots in the Revolutionary War. October 19, 1864 she was married to George W. Harvey in Brighton, California. They came to Colville in 1870 and for four years resided in the town of Pinkney City, then the civilian outpost of the military, returning then to the old home in the Sacramento Valley where they remained until 1883 in which year the family returned to Washington territory and settled in Fort Spokane where Mr Harvey engaged in government contracting, the same year they selected the beautiful spot on the Columbia River at the mouth of Harvey Creek for a homestead and resided there for more than thirteen years. The three children who survive are D P Harvey of Myers Falls, L R Harvey of Orient, and Mrs Daniel Droz of Colville.

 Corrections: Hannah had left her children in Hermon, Maine when she went west. So it must have been her family of brother and a husband's brother who went north to Sacramento. According to research by George Harvey, Samuel Bodge had gone west and died there which was the reason for Hannah to go west to find his grave. * It was Hannah's great grandfather John Patten 1751-1820 who was in the Revolutionary War in Maine which was then Mass. until 1820. I do not know about the Bodge line in the war.

ary educational branches as diligently as would a professional teacher would have done. And these services she extended to neighbor children as the settlement gathered in white population until the public school was established. Her religious life was first passed in the Episcopal Church but her tendencies of religious work practiced in the west opened the door of contingencies and her affiliation for many years has been with the Christian Church here where she was a devout and consistent worshipper. And under the guidance of which her funeral was held at Rice yesterday at 11 o'clock where interment was made in the family lot in the old home cemetery beside her husband. Note from George Harvey of Sacramento, Cal.
I found my grandmother's grave which I never expected and believe or not found one descendant who was using a tombstone for a door step to an old house which was the tombstone of my great grandmother born in 1778. Believe me this shook me up - not the use of the stone as I expect that after my experience in New Brunswick with another grandmother, but because she was born 20 years before I thought possible and this still plagues me. She was born in 1778 and of six children had 3 boys born 1824-16. Now puzzle this out. She died in 1852 - committed suicide with a bed cord they say. This all sounds worse than it is - actually it was a family buriel plot before the country had a public one or had a church one in the country; a farmer outside the family bought the land and plowed it and told this farmer if he wanted it to come and get it. It said she was Sallie Dowell, consort of John Higgenbotham and gave dates. Her husband was killed in Illinois in 1832 killing wolves with a club 100 miles away from home. His ice shod horse slipped and killed herself. He was buried there and the widow worried about it until she read in the Bible "As a tree falls, so let it lie". She took the children and returned to Kentucky.

Obituary of Dimsdell Philip Harvey --
D P Harvey 73 pioneer resident of Kettle Falls and former county official passed away Monday at a local hospital. Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2 p m from the Cory-Moser Chapel, Rev. Percy Stoute officiating. Interment was in Highland Cemetery. The pall bearers were Vern Swartout, Harold Ross, Ted Gardner, Ernest Matthews, Alex Swanson, and Clem Anson. The services were attended by a large crowd of sorrowing friends, the Kettle Falls community being well represented. There were many beautiful floral tributes to the memory of one of the valley's earliest pioneers. Dimsdell Philip Harvey was born September 20, 1869 at Freeport, California. At the age of four years he came thru Walla-Walla and Fort Spokane to the old town of Colville on the creek which was then called Colville River. In 1876 he returned to California and was taken as far as Walla-Walla by Jimmy Monaghan's team. then on the California by the first railroad. In 1884 he returned to Fort Spokane, where his father George W. Harvey, ran the trading post or store. He attended the first Spokane college for young men and was a graduate of the Old Blair business college of Spokane. In 1894 he was married to Emma Higgenbotham and to them five children were born. Surviving are Nello Harvey of Seattle, D P Harvey Jr. and Mrs Lovella Ford, both of Kellogg, Idaho. Also surviving are a sister Mrs Dan Droz of Colville, Washington, and a brother Lew W. Harvey of Klamath Falls, Oregon. There are also five grandchildren. Mr Harvey became a member of the Prespyterian Church in the early days, being baptized by the Rev. Cushing Eels, a pioneer missionary. He served as deputy county assessor of Stevens County from 1908 to 1912. The remaining years have been spent at his home at Kettle Falls.

Card of thanks - We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the many friends and neighbors for their kindness to us during the illness and death of our loved one. Also for the beautiful flowers.

Letter from George Harvey of Sacramento, California
A brother -- to Clara Patten Bowen of Hallowell, Maine --
My brother Dimsdell died October 20, 1972. He was next oldest to me and we were more or less brought up together and altho I haven't seen him the last forty years it was sad to know he had gone even tho he was in pain most of the time the last month with enlarged heart, hard to breathe, diabetes, etc. He came down to California last month to see his brother in law in a new camper but had to return before he could come down to see me. I didn't go to his funeral as I was in bed with a bad back - worst attack in five years. Ferda has a father who lives down in Quenel alone. She has two daughters and a grandson they raised as well as granddaughter with her. Every thing seems to fall on her as her brothers are of no help. The grandson is named Philip and he was going to help her. These two children were by his daughter's first marriage and they were practically raised by her. She has five more children by her second husband. He has quite a bit of property but the town of Kellogg, Idaho runs by the price of land and there have been so many layoffs he couldn't get rid of the property like as advised to - he had a 70 acre farm he lived on but did not farm.

They took the Bowens to Placerville, sometimes called Hangtown, where Clara's grandfather Chesley Webber carted supplies to the miners along with his brother Daniel, and where the sister Hannah was living at the time. High mountains and beautiful scenery. A most interesting and wonderful couple.

Letter of Mother Vera Harvey --
George Jr. is in Chinhae Korea which is down in the south west of Korea about 50 or 80 miles from Pusan and 250from Seoul. He is an Assistant Administrator to the Commander so he will have a chance to learn all about paper pushing, must check mail separate the junk from important mail. Said the cities were lively because the cherry blossoms were in bloom. Had dinner at a Korean home.

Wedding letter of Mother Vera Harvey --
We got thru the wedding which was beautiful. Linda and George looked adorable. Linda was so pretty in her lovely wedding gown. George Jr. in a Lord Byron Tux with a pink ruffled shirt really looked handsome. She had four bridesmaids and Dixie was one, they wore long burgandy velvet dresses and the fellows in tux, two flower girls and a four year old ring bearer. George Jr. and Linda wrote the ceremony giver by a Methodist minister. Then the reception was terrific, held in a large club with dancing and the works. On the bar was a fountain spouting champayne, just go up and help yourself. Then a lovely buffet dinner, a five tier cake. There were 250 guests. We were glad we were the groom's parents. We only had to take care of the rehearsal dinner of 30. All in all it was a really grand time, but Linda's father said when she got married he was going to give her the best wedding and he really did. They are wonderful people. We like them very much and are happy for George and cause Linda is a wonderful girl.

A note on the visit of Clara and Howard Bowen to George Harvey Sr. and Vera - about 1966 - George and Vera took us to Hoodville where Hannah and husband Philip Riehl lived after they were married. It is just south of Jackson, Amador County, they lived there 1850. A mining town, nothing was left there in 1966 except one shed and one family living there. The scenery is beautiful, mountains with deep valleys and roads steep and scary at times. The green in the Mother Lode country in the spring is almost overwhelming. A contrast is the spring when it is brown.

August 16, 1961 -- Mrs. Cora Violette, 310 Windsor Locks, Conn.
Dear Cora:
You cannot imagine what a thrill it was to hear from you, and I am indebted to both you and Aunt Martha Webber for answering my ad. It may be that due to the unfortunate circumstances of your birth and the loss of your grandparents that the information I send you will be unknown to you and possibly even your Aunt Mrs. Hammond. I trust you will forward the copy of your genealogy as I know it to her, and I would like very much for her to write and tell me what she can. I have always been interested in the study of family lines, but it was just a couple years ago when I retired that I had time to pursue it. I have two, no three relatives who were great granddaughters of Eleazer Webber who are the generation of your Aunt Martha probably of you also. They are in the high seventies and much interested. I have fairly exhausted the sources on this coast with the information. What I need to go farther is the name of Eliezer Webber, born in 1796. You will note from the enclosed table that there are little doubt that we are descendants of Eleazer Webber as you are. However there are two things I would say now. I had tried advertising in the Calais and Machias, Maine, papers for some descendants of the Harveys to write me, but with no luck. It seemed impossible, but I thought I would try the Bangor paper and the New England and Historical register. Your reply gave me great encouragement. The second is that the Webber family seemed so strong that it is amazing that you would be the only one left, particularly no males carrying on the name some place in the U S or Canada. I am quite certain there are no males of the Webber line today out here - by this I mean those who came in the 1850's. Now I will ramble on trying to confuse us as little as possible -- according to Vera the way I start writing and ending is confusion. We stem out here from Hannah Matilda Webber who was the oldest child of Eleazer Webber born in 1796. Hannah married George Newel Bodge, probably about 1845 in Hermon or Bangor. They had children Mary Rosilla, Samuel N., and Charles Emery. In 1852 or 53 Sam Bodge died on board ship on way to California and was buried at Cocoanut Grove Cemetery, Panama City, Panama - he died 2/9/1853 age 28 y 2 m. In 1854 Hannah came to California, and Sacramento together with a brother Daniel and possibly a brother of Samuel by the name of George Bodge, apparently to look for her husband. She was in Sacramento a short time then went to the gold camp Hoodville, better known as Slabtown, in Amador County where she made a living running a boarding house. We have a few letters she wrote to Rose, her girl back in Maine. In 1855 she married a man by the name of Philip Riehl who was eleven years her Junior. By him she had two girls and a boy. The boy died at age 26 - never married. I am sorry there was only one girl by the name of Lillian Angeletta. Lillian married a man by the name of Hite and had two girls -- Lovetta who married a man by the name of Carver, and Bon as she is called who married a man by the name of Birkenkamp and had six children, 5 of whom survive. Both Bon and Love are alive and live in Sacramento. Hannah and Philip eventually bought a store and saloon from Daniel Grant Webber at Freeport, Cal ., six miles from Sacramento, and died there in 1904-5. Daniel Webber started a store in Clarksburg, Cal. not far from Freeport. I have his issue in notes but not readily available. No sons survive to marry if had any - his daughter Grace later ran a store with her son by the name of Lawler just a few years ago and her daughter is still alive but unknown to me, and I believe knows little about ancestors. Now one other daughter by the name of Angelette was in California having married a Dim Carver. She lived in St. Helena and as I recall it was her son that married Lovella Hite - he died young. I do not believe there are any of Angelette's descendants living, but could be wrong. I will get this all straightened out, maybe when the rains come this winter. Now in some way Hannah got her daughter Rose to California before 1860 (I found the Webber and the Sam Bodge family in the census of Maine for 1850 and found Hannah in the census of 1860 in Amador County, California, and Rose was with her both times. Rose married a George Wash. Harvey at age of 15 in 1864 a man eighteen years older than she was. Harvey was a surveyor and prospector and much else from Woodstock, N B, but father from Maine originally. He followed the gold strikes from California to the Cariboo Mines in B C, and finally settled in Stevens County, Washington and took his family there. Rose had three children -- Dell, Lou, and Maytie. Dell was my father and he had Nello, Lovella, Dim and George (me) all who still survive. I am the youngest at age 53. Lou was married twice and all his children survive but know of them only generally. Maytie still lives in Colville, Washington and has three children who all survive. I happen to live in Sacramento, about six miles from Hannah's old place, quite by accident as I was transferred here from the Department of Agriculture for which I worked many years. Now out of the twelve children of Eleazer Sr., I can account for three who ended their days in California. You account for three, two of whom died young. There is no doubt that the Henry and William that Martha found on the grave stones are the same ones as in my table. What do you suppose happened to the other children. I hope you are not tired by now (it is funny about these things. When you are interested you cannot get enuf of it. My Aunt Maytie and I talk and talk about family history and events whereas her husband Dan and my wife Vera get very bored and say "What does it get you". I no longer try to explain that the more one knows their ancestors the more they know about themselves. All I have done has been most rewarding, but mainly I feel sorry for any descendants who come along and want to know about their antecedents and have the door closed because along the line thoughtless people left no records. Now in my research I ran across a book in the Surro library, S F, entitled Centennial History of Hermon, Maine, printed by Carmel Print, Walter L. Smith, prop., Carmel, Maine. This brief book gave a history of the town of Hermon from plantation days, but in it it had references to the Webber family - the first authentic data I had picked up outside the census and family records. It mentioned Chesley Webber living then in 1914 who was 87 years of age. If you check the table again you will see that Chesley Patten Webber there would be 87 years of age in 1914. I felt sure this was the same Chesley. However, the book quotes Chesley as saying his mother Mrs. Isaac Webber when living in the old house then standing on the George Klatt place or farm, formerly the Tracy Farm, and the first frame building in town at one time was going to see her husband who was felling wood but was driven back into the house by bears. Nowthere are other things mentioned which puzzle. For instance Ezra Patten, Chesley Patten, Daniel Emerson, Isaac Webber and Eleazer Webber petitioned for a district meeting to build a school house in # 2 -- this was March 6, 1825. The Pattens were very promenent in the early plantation life from 1797-1804 and because two of Eleazer's boys carried the name of Patten there seems little doubt that the Webbers and Patten intermarried. In fact I am not sure that Polly, the wife of Eleazer Sr. did not have the maiden name of Patten. We think Goodale was the name of Hannah's grandmother but which side of the family we do not know. At any rate I wish you or Maytie would clear up for me this point: Was not the Isaac Webber mentioned the father of Eleazer Sr., and did not Chesley Webber mean his grandmother rather than his mother when he was quoted? If Martha could find the dates on the grave of Isaac this would clear things up. Incidentally, William Patten was the first pastor of the Universalist Church in Hermon in 1848. Also Eleazer Sr. was in the War of 1812 and Eleazer Jr. in the Civil War. Since I believe the Bodges were also from Hermon, it may be that if Martha lives there she would know some descendants of this family to whom I could write. I should have mentioned above that Sam Bodge did not marry and died at age of 50 and Charles married and had two children, but died at age 40 -- both were crippled and died of mine injuries. The son of Charles was also named Charles and died of thirst at the age of 21 on the desert going from Ryolite, Nevada to Skido, Calif. His daughter is still alive and has issue living in So. Calif. but I do not know her although Maytie does - she is not interested in family history but her aunt is and I correspond with her although she is not in the line, but is a Mormon and since they baptize in proxy is interested in genealogy of the Bodge line because it was her sister who married Charles Sr., and she has helped me and I she. The book mentioned above states that Eleazer Sr. was in the battle of Hampden. If Isaac was the father of Eleazer Sr. I believe I can connect the line up with that shown in one of the published Webber genealogical line books. I know I must stop, but I did want to give you a general idea of how little we actually know. We have no correspondence with the Webbers among effects handed down. We do know that two Webbers came to visit Hannah, probably brothers or nephews in Calif., and we think that even Hannah's mother came here once. You will note that the family has the name of Eleazer Sr.'s wife as Polly (we believe Patten) whereas the census shows it was Mary (was he married twice). We think Daniel went back home and got Rose and brought her to Calif. but this is supposition only.

"I just received a letter from Rosie (Rosilla, Hannah's daughter) She says she don't know how to live since Sammy died. It was hard enuf when Charlie died. She misses Sammy more for he was with her for fifteen years. She has been an awful good girl to her brothers. Sammy was with us for six years. I miss him very much."

From the Paradise Reporter, Nevada - Saturday 17, May, 1879 -
A serious accident - On Monday last a serious accident and probably fatal occured at the Paradise Mill. A man named Bodge, assisting in the grading of the new mill was caved in and will probably die from the effects of injuries received. The back of earth stood about eight feet high and twelve feet long. Bodge had worked to under the bank when he felt some pieces of loosened earth dropping on his neck and back. He jumped backward as quickly as possible but too late to save himself. It was the last piece of work to be done to complete the grading for the mill. The immense amount of earth fell and caught him covering him completely. He did not feel much hurt and by trying to move his head and body, soon discovered he could get it uncovered. After some time and before assistance arrived he succeeded in uncovering his head and part of his body. When released from his perilous position he was found to be seriously injured. He was taken to the residence of Mr Pierce at Centerville and Dr. Powell sent for. Several of his ribs on the left side were broken, the left leg and ankle badly bruised, and arms and chest and face badly scratched. There is also a rip requiring eight stitches of several inches in the abdomen. He was made as easy as possible by Dr. Powell and Dr. Bogman of Winnemucca was sent for to assist in the examination and relief of the unfortunate man. Later Dr. Bogman has just arrived and reports the injured man out of danger, but says it will be several weeks before he will be able to move about much "

Letter from Harlow Webber of Clarksburg, Cal., son of Dr. Henry Webber, to Clara Patten Bowen:
"As to my grandmother Ann G. Smith I know little and that little only from stories. Her brother George Smith of Hampden, owner and operator of the Hampden Grain Company, told me that his father came to this country as a cabin boy in a sailing vessel which came up the Penobscot River to Bangor where he deserted ship and came to Hampden. Of his family I know nothing. It interested me that there was a Dr. Smith of Norridgework, Maine. I have completely forgotten details. I have a faint recollection of meeting Norridgework Webbers at the family reunion in the early twenties. It is my belief that my grandmother died when Dad was attending Hampden Academy and I believe at that time and for a year or more he lived with your mother's family, Chesley Patten Webber. Your mother told me of the happy times that they spent together as "brother and sister". In reading your letter my mind goes back to 1920 when I worked as bookkeeper for Uncle George Smith in Hampden. I met an old lady by the name of Curtis who told me she remembered Polly Patten Webber (above) that she remembered seeing her teaching a class of children in a log cabin and that she stood by the fireplace smoking a pipe of clay. I picture her in my mind as a very fine woman, and lovable. I have no information where my grandfather lived. My Dad, Henry John Webber, graduated from Hampden Academy, Dartmouth College and from John Hopkins. He then started practice in Munroe, Maine, where I was born. He then moved to New York City Hospital. My grandmother, Lydia Harlow, became ill and we returned to Winterport, Maine where he practiced until 1910. Before going to New York City he practiced at Monroe, Maine in 1900 and after that in Hermon, Maine where Emmond was born. After he practiced at Winterport he moved to Auburn, Maine where he practiced until his death in 1922."

Note from Harlow Webber of Clarksburg, Cal. to Clara Patten Bowen of Hallowell, Maine; both great-grand children of Polly and Eliezer Webber:
"You amaze me with your ability and forcefullness in digging out facts on the history of our respective families. Thank you most kindly"

Grace Harlow Webber married (2) Hobart Lambert, lived in Sacramento. He died before she did. She lived with her son, Harlow, for a time in Clarksburg, Cal. She taught voice in Sacramento. When Grace died she was cremated and her remains brought to Auburn by her son, Harlow Webber. When living in Auburn Grace Webber often visited relatives in Hermon. Clara Patten Bowen remembers her as dressed with exquisite taste, a speaking voice that was musical, and a laugh that was unforgetable. After the death of Dr. Henry Webber the family all moved west to be near the oldest son, Harlow. Dr. Webber was fun-loving, understanding and kind; a fine man and a handsome man. He was beloved by all. After the death of his parents he made his home with Chesley Patten Webber and wife Clara Webber, Chesley was the brother of John Webber above. He was the grandfather of Clara Patten Webber who did this genealogy. Chesley's daughter Iola, Clara's mother, and Dr. Henry were like brother and sister and the whole family loved him. He attended Hermon High School the year it was in existence (1886) and belonged to the literary club.

When Dr. Henry Webber practiced in Hermon, Maine, for a time the family lived with John Miller and his wife, Laurette; Laurette the sister of John Webber (1823-1888). Dr. Henry Webber was active in town affairs and on the school board.

From an Auburn, Maine, newspaper -- sudden death of Dr. Henry Webber - Well known physician passed away Sunday evening-
The sudden death of Dr. Henry Webber at his residence 92 Pleasant Street, Auburn in the early morning Sunday, came as a severe shock to a wide circle of friends in these cities. He had been in a delicate condition of health for the past year but had attended to his large practice without interruption. Sunday evening he returned from a visit to a patient about half past seven o'clock and on entering the house suffered a severe attack of shock and died within minutes. Dr. Webber was the son of John and Ann Webber, one of the old families of Hermon where he was born 55 years ago. He was educated in the town schools and Hampden Academy. After graduating he entered the Medical school of Dartmouth College where he received his degree after a thorough instruction in the chosen profession. After leaving Hanover he served one year as intern in John Hopkins, Baltimore, after which he settled in Winterport, Maine where he built a large practice. He was a natural born physician and with his training he was remarkably successful. His Winterport practice took many long rides into the country and the strain becoming too severe he removed to Auburn some ten or a dozen years ago and purchased the large property on Pleasant Street, where he has since resided. Another object in coming to Auburn was to educate the children as he found the city had a fine schooling facility. Here he soon built up a fine practice. In fact he has steadily been over-worked until his constitution was weakened. Dr. Webber married Miss Grace Darling Harlow of Winterport and to the couple five children have been born. These are Harlow and Emmond, who are now in California, Laura, Eileen, Milton who are in their home in Auburn. It was an ideal family and this first break comes as a terrible blow. In addition to his widow and children Dr. Webber leaves two brothers, N G Webber of Auburn and Fred Webber of Carmel. Other Auburn relatives are Mrs West Dunn, Miss Ella Smith, Mrs Enoch Leathers, and Mrs Harry McKenney, cousin and Mrs Wealthy Rogers, an Aunt. Mr. Webber was a Mason and an Odd Fellow and to these orders he was greatly attached but his large practice kept him from attending meetings as much as he desired. He was also a member of the High Street Congregational Church, and attending physician at the Central Maine General Hospital. Dr. Webber will be greatly missed in these cities not only as a skilled physician but as an honored citizen. And by a wide circle of friends to whom he was greatly endeared. He was one of the most generous of men and no one ever appealed to his sympathies in vain. He was gentle and very companionable among his acquaintances. As a physician he ranked very high and as a friend he was true as steel. Society can ill afford to lose such a man as Dr. Webber and he will be mourned by many who knew him only in his professional character. To has family and his personal friends his death comes as a shock that time can hardly heal.

From a History of Maine by Hatch p 294 - Biographical - Henry Webber M D
"There are few, if any, professions in which real and substantial devotion involves a greater expenditure of every effort, or self sacraficing devotion to its cause than medicine. The nature of the needs of which the physician ministers to make it necessary that he should put aside all thought of self and give his whole being to the cause at hand. Dr. Henry John Webber, the prominent and successful physician of Auburn, Maine may well be compared with our modern Doctor. And is without doubt one of the leading physicians of his vicinity. He is a son of John P. Webber and Ann G. Smith, the older Mr. Webber emigrating to this country from Holland in the company of his brothers."

 Correction here - Henry Webber 1872-1922 was born in Hermon, Maine. His grandfather Eliezer Webber was born in Hampden, Maine and the family lived in Hermon, Maine after 1810. Eliezer Webber's father was Isaac Webber 1765-1842. Isaac came from Boston to Orphan Isle, Maine and to Hampden, Maine by 1784, and to Hermon, Maine by 1810.

"To Mr and Mrs Webber three children were born: Ulysses, living in Auburn, Maine; Henry John; and Fred born 1877 engaged in contracting business in Hermon, Maine. Dr. Henry Webber, second child of John P. and Ann G. Webber, passed his early years of his life in his native town. It was there he acquired the elementary portion of his education and afterwards attended Hampden Academy. He then entered Dartmouth Medical college in 1891 and was graduated from the same in the class of 1895. He then took a post graduate course at John Hopkins University at Baltimore, Maryland, studying there one year, graduating in 1896. He at once returned to the north and located at Winterport, Maine, and after a number of years came to Auburn, Maine where he is now located. His profound knowledge of his subject and his natural talent there forehandedly brought him to the attention of his fellow citizens, and he has developed a large and remunerative practice in the city. Dr. Webber is a well known figure in fraternal life of the community and is affiliated with the local lodges of the Masonic Order and the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. In his religious life of the community he is Congregational. Mr. Webber is devotedly fond of fishing and open air life and his hobby might be called hunting and fishing, particularly the hunting of big game. In this exciting sport he is very expert and besides many other small animals he has shot three moose. Dr. Webber was united in marriage September 17, 1897 at Winterport, Maine with Grace Harlow, a daughter of Americus Harlow and Lydia (Lord) Harlow, an old and respected family of that town. To Dr. and Mrs. Webber five children were born as follows: J. Harlow Sept. 7, 1898; Robert Edmund March 31, 1900; Laura Clarine Jan. 15, 1902; Henrietta Eileen March 1, 1904; Henry Milton July 3, 1910."

Letter from Harlow Webber June 20, 1972 - Clarksburg Cal., to Clara Patten Bowen, who did the genealogy, and her husband Howard Bowen-"Dear Clara and Howard: You both have been on my mind lately and this morning reread your letter for the fourth time. It is so pleasant reading of your old associations. They were all so very close to me. Memories of a wonderful summer spent with Uncle Eliezer, Aunt Justina and Mattie, helping to milk morning and evening and swinging a hand scythe by the fences and around the rock piles at haying time. My thoughts go back to many meals with Fred Lowd and Aunt Grace. Her table was always covered with a white linen cloth and the best china ware and brightly shining silver ware. To go farther down the road I have very happy thoughts of Mabel and Will Mowatt. Her table so attractive with a red and white checkered table cloth. I helped with the milking in the sweet smelling barn. Let's go back to the time I was about four years old when for some reason we lived for a few months with Aunt Laura and Uncle John Miller. I well remember their talking parrot and the big hogshead barrel placed near the back door under the eaves to catch rain water. Uncle John's place was always well painted and his yard neatly kept. I remember his handing me a hoe and putting me to work weeding the driveway. He told me I had to earn my keep. As I became older Hermon became a wonderful place to go and thoughts of happy times with Lincoln and Webber at Russ and Iola's farm were high lights of these trips. After graduating from business college I accepted an offer from Uncle George Smith to keep books for him at his Hampden grain mill. While there I talked with an old lady, Mrs. Curtis, who remembered Aunt Polly, grandmother of my father, standing by a large rock fireplace teaching children who were grouped around her. She told me this was a big log cabin and that Aunt Polly was smoking a pipe of clay. This picture has remained with me. Mrs. Curtis spoke of her with the greatest respect. While at Uncle George's I received a call from the United States Marines for which I enlisted several months before. After a stint at sea I took a job in the Maine woods. On the way to Bangor I stopped at Northern Maine Junction in Hermon and walked a few miles to Uncle Chess and Aunt Clara's place. Arriving in the evening Aunt Clara baked a large pan of delicious bisquits. We stayed for the night and left early next morning for Bangor and from there to Pquassic and a few interesting months in a logging camp. This was the last time I saw Aunt Clara and I remember her as a very wonderful person.

Letter from Ruth Krull Webber July 24, 1972 Clarksburg, Cal. --
"Harlow wrote his letter and now I do mine. The hot weather nearly did us in. About 112 here and up to 117 in places in central California. Harlow looked at the thermometer on our front porch at 7:30 AM and it was 120. The sun was beating on the wall and as soon as the sun was higher and the sun was in the shade it went down. We turned on our cooler and stayed inside at 80 degrees so it was not too bad. Last week it was cold and we wore sweaters. John's boy, Bob, and his bride were home on leave last week from McGuire Field in New Jersey. Darleen is a very nice girl, tall, blonde and nice looking. Fits our family. They will be at McGuire for one year and two months yet. Then be home for good. I suggested that if they get into New England on one of their exploring trips that they knock at your door. Bob is interested in history of the family and would like to see where his grampa came from. Have you wondered why the ground in Andrus and Brandon Island are below sea level. I finally found out. The whole area is peat and 100 years ago it took only a low levee to keep it dry. Then the peat began to oxidize and settle at the rate of one inch a year making it about 6 feet in 100 years. Then they built the levees higher and their weight caused more problems. So round and round we go. The break is being difficult to fill then the water has to be pumped out."

The levee goes down on one side to the water and on the other side goes down to farm lands. The road is built on top of the levee, being only wide enuf for two cars to pass and no guard rails. If there is a flood or break in the levee it destroys all farm crops and destroys homes. There was a break in 1972 but it did not effect Harlow's place as it was below there. It did destroy or flood John's business, the son, but did not effect John's home as it is next door to Harlow's. A careful watch is made at all times for leaks in the levee. If one takes a drive down the levee in the spring the fruit trees are covered with bloom and one looks down at them. These levees were built by Chinese immigrants who were brot in to do this work. There is a Chinese Chinatown near Harlow's on the river, the slough as it is sometimes called, is like a canal coming from the River of the Sacramento. There is much traffic on the slough at times.

Letter in the Clarksburg Newspaper by Mary Jo Holmes -
"Before leaving for Washington State last month Mr. Webber decided to take an old pump up to his son, Ed. Picking up the pump out of the grass he threw it into the back of the car. Many miles and hours later the Webbers were enjoying a companionable ride along the freeways of Oregon. Mr. Webber broke the silence - "What is it, Ruth" "What is what, Harlow" "you tapped me on the shoulder" More miles and silence...then... "Stop the car, Harlow" "Why stop the car, Ruth" "Because there is a snake crawling over my shoulder. Now he is on my lap. Now he is slithering down my leg, Harlow, and he is crawling across the floor board toward your feet" Harlow stopped the car. Opening one of the doors on his side Mr. Webber watched as the large bull snake calmly slid out the door onto the highway. "Well, Ruth" "Well, Harlow" The car moved out on to the highway and the Webbers continued their ride along the freeways of Oregon."

"John and Ruth Webber flew to the wedding of their son October 16. They like Darleen very much and her family. She is a college student gratuate and a good church member, and choir soloist. A very musical background. Our grandson, Bob, is now in the air force, officers training camp, stationed in San Antonio, Texas. He is there for six years. Just finished his basic training. He is not too far from his gramma Harolson so goes there on weekends. Darleen is also in the Air Force, a college graduate, and a farm background. John, Ruth, Lynn and Tom flew to Tulsa, rented a car for the weekend, met all the family and liked them very much. Bob will be transferred to Tacoma, Washington January 1, then Darleen will ask for a transfer too. They will be there for two years, not too far for a visit once in a while.

Letter from Harlow and Ruth Webber August 9, 1968, to Clara Bowen and Howard Bowen of Hallowell, Maine:

"Dear Clara and Howard: Our family has been in deep grief this week due to the departure of our granddaughter Cindy. She was returning from a small party with a girl friend Saturday night when they were hit head on by a supposedly drunken driver. Both girls were killed. The funeral was yesterday. The loss has been very great to us all. We will write later when our thoughts are more collected. Sincerely Harlow"

Harlow and Ruth Webber, grandparents, had just returned from a trip to Maine when Cynthia's accident occurred.

Wedding of Ruth Webber and Dominique LaChance - Bangor Daily News, Bangor, Maine: Well known couple married in St. Mary's Church ceremony - Miss Ruth Webber, daughter of Mary A. Webber and the late Fred Webber of Hermon, and Dominique LaChance, son of Mrs. Marion LaChance of Lewiston and the late Louis LaChance of Lewiston were married in St. Mary's Church, the Rev. Francis A. Manette officiating. Miss Ruth Vose of Biddeford was maid of honor and Alfred William of Lewiston was the best man. The bride was attractively gowned in a street length dress of blue velvet with matching hat and accessories. She complimented her gown with a wrist bouquet of better time roses. Miss Vose was gowned in wine colored velvet with matching accessories and her wrist bouquet was of yellow roses. Mrs. Webber, mother of the bride, was gowned in black velvet with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of orchid poms. Mr. and Mrs. LaChance left by motor Friday for a wedding trip, the destination was not announced. On their return they will make their home in Bangor. The bride chose for traveling a smart fall suit of wine colored wool with which she wore blue accessories. The bride graduated from Maine Central Institute and Bates College. Mr. LaChance was graduated from Maine Central Institute and Lewiston High School. He was a varsity football player at both schools. He is employed by the Maine State Police and is stationed at the Bangor barracks. Out of town guests attending the wedding included Mr. & Mrs. Thomas Caswell, Dover-Foxcroft; Mr. & Mrs. Jere Monyhan, Daniel Cassidy, Mr. & Mrs. John J. Bangor Daily News by Bill Geagon - Bangor, Maine
"Retired State trooper has own ideas on road safety - The rushing to investigate the accidents, the awful chore of dragging out broken and dead bodies and the distasteful job of going to the homes of the victims and breaking the shocking news." Retired state trooper Dominique LaChance can't forget them. Especially a train-car crash in Lewiston 1936, the first of his 20 years as a state trooper. It killed members of four generations-a baby girl and her mother, grandmother and great grandmother. Now in his 10 years of retirement Dom LaChance operates a mobile home court near the Bangor-Hermon line. But he can't forget his years patrolling the highways and their toll of blood and tears. He insists that drastic steps be taken to stem the death tide of the state's highways. "There is no simple answer to the problem - no one cause on which to place a finger" he says. We must first consider the fact that the manufacturers are cramming more and more powerful cars than is needed. It's a selling point. "Then too each year brings more of these cars onto the highways with a new crop of drivers. And the faster they make them some owners will drive them. And it's a well known fact that accessive speed is responsible for most accidents. Liquor is also responsible for a great many too. I never had any sympathy for drinking drivers and I showed them no mercy. That's all as it should be, I believe, and all of them should be severely punished. Such punishment would, I'm sure, prove very helpful in reducing accident rates."
The rest of the article is in the Bangor Daily News but we do not have the date. The last part of the article followes however: Several years ago another policeman reported to him that he had caught Dom's oldest son speeding in the family car, but being a friend of the family was reluctant to report it. Dom asked if he had ever caught the boy before. The officer said he had and that he had warned the youngster. Dom told the officer friend to do his duty and the next morning father and son appeared in the Bangor Court, where the boy pleaded guilty and paid the fine with his own money. LaChance's next step was to take away his son's license for a month. Another son recently received the same treatment. And both have been cured, says LaChance "This will be continued until my children are of age" LaChance joined the police force April 30, 1936 and retired April 1956. He started his career in the Old Troop A under Capt. William Hancock in the Rumford area. He was transferred to the Fairfield-Pittsfield area and then to the northern part of Aroostook County and to the Thomaston area, before coming to Bangor area for 18 years."

St. Mary's Catholic Church was the scene of a wedding ceremony Saturday when Miss Mary Ann LaChance of 1337 Hammond Street, Bangor, became the bride of Jack Eneff of Bangor, son of Carl Vic Eneff and the late Mrs. Eneff. The Rev. Raymond Chisholm officiated at the ceremony. Miss Isabel Carlin was the organist. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white woll suit and carried a bouquet of white roses. Mrs. Richard Dubois of Holden was the matron of honor. She wore aqua wool suit and carried pale pink bouquet. The best man was Richard Dubois of Brewer. Ushers were Joseph LaChance and Michael LaChance. The reception was held at Pilot's Grill. Assisting were Ruth LaChance, Leslie LaChance, Rebecca Chalmers, Catherine Whitehall. The couple selected Illinois and New Jersey for a wedding trip. They will reside at Ft. Monmouth, New Jersey after April 20. The bride is a graduate of Bangor High School, Beal Business College, and St. Joseph's school of nursing where she is employed. The bride groom is a graduate of Bangor High School and attended Husson College. He is in the army stationed at Ft. Monmouth, N.J.

In 1964 she graduated from Bangor High school, 1968 graduated from the University of Maine school of nursing, during Junior year she joined the Army Nurse Corps who paid for her Junior and Senior years of college. Then she went to Fort Ord, Monteray, Cal. In receiving the Bronze Star her success was due to her ability to organize and administer the details of hospital work; her quickness to grasp implications of new problems of ever changing situations and solving those problems. In 1974 Ruth will have 12 years in the service, then hopes to work in retirement at Togus Veterans Hospital in Maine. Capt. Walter Bourroughs will retire at age 37 from the Marine Corp.

Obituary of Daniel Grant Webber, Sacramento Dec. 29, 1920 - Daniel Grant Webber, county pioneer, died at 95 - One of the most familiar figures of the down town river section is gone from his usual haunts in the vicinity of Clarksburg for Daniel Webber, a resident of this county for the past 70 years has passed away at the home of his daughter Mrs J H Cave, 2321 Marshall Way, Sacto. He was 95 years of age but in spite of his many years he has been one of the halest inhabitants of the county for many years. Webber came from his birthplace in Hermon when he was twenty five years old. For twenty years he lived at 12 Mile House on the Folsom Road and then moved to Clarksburg where he conducted a store up to the time of his death. In the early days of his life he was a teamster in the mountains. The aged man was a member of the Odd Fellows and funeral services will be conducted by that lodge tomorrow at two. He will be buried in the family lot in the city cemetery. Webber leaves a widow Mrs. Fannie R. Webber, five children, Mrs J H Cave, William Webber, Dr. Percy Webber, all of Sacto, Fred Webber of Ryde, and Daniel Webber of Honolulu.

Sacramento Union 30 Nov. 1920 Daniel Grant Webber, husband of Fannie R. Webber, father of Mrs J H Cave, Fred E., William, Dr. Percy, and Daniel G Webber, Jr.: a native of Maine age 95 y - Friends may call and are especially invited to attend the funeral today, Tuesday at 2.30 PM from the home of Clark, Booth and Yardley, 917 H Street. Interment will be in City Cemetery - Members of Sacto Lodge No. 2 I O O F meet at Clark, Booth and Yardley at 2.30 PM to attend the funeral services of our late brother D G Webber - Tuesday J H Penney N G Clayton Sec.

In 1854 or earlier Daniel Grant Webber went to California. 1854 was the date his sister Hannah went west to find the grave of her husband who had died in California or Panama, buried Panama. In 1855 Hannah and Daniel were in Placerville, Cal., Hannah writing home from Hangtown, a mining town. Daniel and brother Chesley were carting supplies to the miners at Hangtown from Sacramento in the 1850s. A California census shows them in Brighton township 1860s.

They also built a house which burned later years and also the home of Grace Lawler Cave and the house of my grandmother Ammons and Grandfather Ammons, not far from Clarksburg.

*Note from George Harvey of Sacramento, Cal. - "In the obituary of Dan Webber it stated he lived at 12 Mile House. I finally found out where it was. One was south of Sacramento on the lower Stockton road, but the one we want is as follows: Cross Inns of California - Sacramento 1859: Miles Station or Hangtown Crossing at mile 11.00. From this point to old Colona Road runs eastward about halfway between the railway and the river, and the first stopping place is the 12 Mile House, of which nothing is known except there was such a place. This was on August 1, 1859 to meet Horace Greeley at Folsom. Map 218 - It was in Brighton Township. The railroad to Folsom was completed 3 Feb. 1856.

When Daniel Webber Sr. was about 77 years of age he came back to Hermon, Maine to visit with the brothers and sisters who were still living. In a letter of his sister Hannah (Webber) Bodge Riehl of Freeport, California in 1900 she said "If Daniel lives two years longer he will draw two thousand dollars of a lodge insurance, he says when he gets it he is going back home to visit the folks. I hope he lives that long and a good deal longer." There is a picture, which must have been taken at this time on the porch of Eleazer Webber in Hermon, which shows Eleazer Webber, wife Justina, son Miller and daughter Cora; Welthy (Webber) and husband Harrison Rogers of Auburn, Maine; Laurette (Webber) and husband John Miller of Hermon; Daniel Webber of Sacramento; Chesley Webber and wife Clara and sons William and Philip and William's son Chesley; This must have been a happy reunion but also sad, and a fun time as they were a clannish, family loving people. It must have been especially happy for Daniel and Chesley who had not seen each other since 1868 in California.

From BOYHOOD DAYS OF CALIFORNIA by ROCKWELL D. HUNT 1964 p 23
"The little village called Freeport - Founded in 1862 by Freeport R R Co. - The first store in Freeport was built by A J Bump in 1863, what might be called the center of the village was the general store with saloon in the back part, first owned by A J Bump. Of course the stock of cloth and dry goods was not large but there always seemed to be plenty of liquor. Many of the farmers stopped there to give their horses a good drink at the water trough while they stopped inside to make some small purchases. In the saloon there was always some gambling, but not one of us five brothers went into the saloon or formed the habit of gambling, that was because our mother was very strict with us about such things. The Freeport office was in the front of the store on the right side as you entered from the wide plank porch with the wooden bench. The village store keeper, who was usually post master too and owner of the saloon, was thought of as the most important man in the community. To some it almost seemed that what he said was the law.
 D G Webber was the principle owner. When we were young boys, Fred Webber was one of my first playmates. When his older brother was drowned in the river all the young people were made very sad. For a good while Webber's store was a natural kind of place for a group of men of the community to get together and sit around the pot bellied stove of an evening, a sort of town meeting.
 Later the store was bought by Phil Riehl((2) Husband of Daniel Webber's sister Hannah), a farmer further down the river. We did not know it then, but years later we could see that our own father and Phil Riehl came to be rivals as leading men of Freeport. They did not see things alike."

From the book RIVER OF GOLD by JULIAN DANA - River of America series - Farrar and Rinehart 1939 part 5 p 243-244
"Mr Andrew Bump combined in one moodily Olympian personage the grocer, the post master and saloon keeper - as well as the distributor of candy and prize packages: the proprietor carried a small supply of wet goods, the matter proving far more profitable. Most of the men who drove back and forth on the Freeport Road were Bump's customers. It was human to allow ones sweating horses at the cool, conveniently arranged watering trough and drop in for a glass or cheer or a cigar. Few of the callers smoked cigars. Mr. Bump was also a devotee of games of chance altho he never lost. The house always made a neat rakeoff from each game in progress for he carried a little velvety bag in a fat hip pocket and sharp eyed Bump made a neat rakeoff by dropping the take in it. Post office and candy counters were in the respectable end of the store, the front, just inside the broad plank porch that groaned under the weight of the two benches dedicated to slumber and argument. Even when Andy Bump sold out to  D G Webber, and Webber to Phil Riehl there was between those who owned the store and those who disapproved....the festering cancer in our midst. It was impossible to do any fence straddling over such an issue in Freeport. You were either for or against it!"

1973 The store in Freeport is being made into a steak house - A picture of the store as it was in Daniel Webber's time is shown with the write up of it. It is nine miles south of Sacramento. It was a thriving community where vessels tied up free. There was a bell which travelers rang to bring the ferry across the river from the Yolo side. The bell is still there at the store. The old bars which date from 1885 will be used at the steak house. The huge iron kettle which was used to cook beans is in home of Harlow Webber of Clarksburg, Cal. (Harlow Webber is a descendant of John Webber, brother of Daniel Webber)

A Steak House for Freeport - Sent by George Harvey of Sacramento, Cal. - Formerly a store run by Daniel Webber.
"Historic Sacramento doesn't have an exclusive on renovating buildings - Now they're doing it in the not-so-sleepy village of Freeport, nine miles south of the capital as the river runs. A two story structure famed for its wooden roof over the state highway is being remodeled into a steak house and should be opened about April 1. That's when the spring stripped bass run will be on. But, what's more the pity, that land mark roof, which came down in 1852, won't be restored immediately, perhaps never. Tom MacMillan the former stock broker and railroad man who is opening the restaurant, couldn't get the County Planning Commission or supervisors to approve the overhang. A man named A J Bump opened the general store and saloon on this site in 1863, when Freeport was a thriving community where river vessels tied up free. Sacramento nine miles up the river charged a tariff to dock. In 1906 the cover over the highway was built and served two purposes; to protect horses watering at the trough underneath it from the elements and to house a bell which travelers rang to bring the ferry across the river from the YOLO side. While MacMillan does not have the roof at present he does have the old bell. It will be ensconced in the restaurant with an explanation underneath. MacMillan is redoing that old 62 year old structure. He will use two bars which date from 1885 and have been in the building ever since. MacMillan's venture just might start things humming in the Delta again. Much of the former grandeur and glory disappeared with the Ryde Hotel, 20 miles down stream, quit serving great Italian dinners years ago. Legislators and lobbyists ate there. And the Walnut Grove Hotel, later called the Boondox burned down."

Note-The Ryde Hotel was run at one time by Fred Webber 1868-1946, a grandson of Daniel Webber. Mrs Mildred Webber Andress of Vacaville, Cal. and daughter of Fred Webber says: "We moved to Ryde and Dad purchased the hotel, saloon, and livery stable."

History of Freeport, Cal. - "The history goes back farther than that of most of the other towns along the Sacramento River. In the final years of the gold rush it was a major shipping center for the mines. In 1855 the Sacramento Valley Railroad was completed - the first in the west. It went from Sacramento to beyond Folsom. A dispute arose between the owners of the railroad and the City of Sacramento, and it was because of this dispute that Freeport gained its importance. The stage lines moved from Sacramento to Folsom to connect with the railroad line, and as a result of this Sacramento lost money. To compensate for this loss the city fathers decided to place a levy on freight that left the river to connect with the trains. The railroad objected to this action so they pulled out of Sacramento to establish a new port down the river which would be free. This is how the town of Freeport got its name. Another advantage in not continuing up the river to Sacramento was that there was a big bend in the river just beyond Freeport. Now the wind was not blowing right the ships might have to wait as long as two or three days to get around the bend and on to Sacramento. By stopping at the new free port they could have valuable time as well as money. In 1862 the railroad projected a line from Freeport to connect with the main line near Bridgton, bypassing Sacramento. This caused a boom in the town of Freeport and by the end of 1863 the town had a population of 400 people. It was than that A J Bump built the first general store and saloon. Nine miles of track was laid by 1865 making Freeport a major shipping center which it continued to be for several years. In addition to Bump's store the town of Freeport gained recognition and distinction from its Liberty Flagpole erected during the Grant-Colfax presidential campaign. The flagpole was topped with a red rooster and was the leading landmark for the country side. Other mementous institutions in the village included the Andy Greer's boot shop and Tom Kirkland's blacksmith shop. Jim Lee the batchelor dandy and the town's style setter, he was a prominent boarder in Freeport's only hotel run by "Aunty" Eilbach. Stant Myers ran the Freeport flat bottomed ferry that travelers used to cross the Sacramento River. In 1866 Freeport was projected as the western terminus of transcontinental railroad to rival the Central Pacific. However in 1870 a secret agent of the Central Pacific got control of the Sacramento Valley Railroad and turned it over to his employers. After this the Freeport-Bridgton line was not used and Freeport declined as a major port. But it continued for many years."

Note from George Harvey of Sacramento, Cal.
The first dirt turned for the Central Pacific was made by a brother-in-law of Phil Riehl who was Charley Riehl. Charley's daughter said this in a History of Sacramento. Millie weighed 210 pounds when 18 years old, an only child who married and divorced Charles Fredericks after having a daughter by him.

My daughter and son in law Joe Holmes in Clarksburg often dropped in on her and phoned if she needed help. After 87 years of age she moved from Clarksburg into a small apartment in Strawberry until Feb. 15, 1960 when she felt she should not be alone and I drove her to Woodland where she talked with the Doctor. He recommended a little home in Esperta, Yolo County, she was very pleased but not for long. She passed away March 7, 1960. My mother was a darling, staunch, brave and lovely looking. I miss her very much. Mother was very different from Father, religious and loved everyone, so different, quiet and lived for her family and a few friends. Father was loving, kind, likable, capable and a fast moving brain. He was a wonderful provider and father, giving us more than we should have had. Going back to Clarksburg days, our childhood days when Grandmother and Grandfather gave up housekeeping and sold the store to Grace Cove about 1905. He lived with us days. My mother loved him. He was always so kind to her. Since my father was a produce man Grampa was a big help to "Gracie" as he called her. My father's first adventure was as a produce man, and rent of the ferry boat which ran from the Sacramento on one side and the Yolo on the other side. So he and Mother had a small house on the river side of Clarksburg. He soon was making contracts with San Francisco and a commission salary, and ferry of over $1000 a month. He bought the ferry from Mr. Elliott from the Franklin area. Then he sold the ferry. We moved to Courtland and that was when Grampa came to live with us. By that time my father was beginning to become a well known person as a buyer of beans and fruit and all produce and became known as the Bean King. He made money fast and then several years later he purchased the Ryde Hotel and a 300 acre ranch so Mother could have a home. Grampa lived with us at the hotel until 1913. Then he moved to Sacramento where the boys and Grace Cave had purchased a little house on Marshall Way. Grampa was too ill then having spells like with his heart. He had them days when he lived with us. Helen and I were instructed to always keep an eye on Grampa.
We purchased the Ryde Hotel, saloon and livery stable. Dad also farmed and did a commission business. He had a hand in most every thing, even mining 1913-14. He had a spring garden near Carbille, owned three ranches and farmed another, organized the Pacific Fruit Company with Scott Inness, worked for D T Jacobs for three or four years and with commission companies for three or four years in San Francisco. Dad made friends from Oregon to the Mexican border. His business gave him wide experience and acquaintance. He was witty, had a gorgeous singing voice, and so our home was happy and gay and full of people. He was a gourmet cook, so was Uncle P A, and they often entertained men with duck and steak dinners until 1921. He always kept help for mother, cooks and handy men at the hotel so she never had to do anything but she hated the hotel life. You could write a book about Dad's antics and activities. Then in July in San Jose 1917 Helen was attending college of the Pacific and married A G Foster. Helen was ill 1918 when Admiral was born for six months. The cost to Father was great. We moved to Sacramento to be near her on T Street. During 1926 Dad spent a fortune and lost the ranch at Ryde which he sold. Dad went to work for a real estate company and insurance business and was in his seventies then. He liked the city of Sacramento. He attended the wedding of my two daughters Renee and Barbara and was the life of the party. He went on a hunting trip with Ed Peters, an old neighbor who Dad practically brought up, to Placerville, had a stroke and died Sept 26, 1946 at Placerville hospital.

Note: Clara Patten Bowen and husband Howard Bowen visited with Fred and Mildred Andress twice when relatives gathered at their home for a happy fun time in Vacaville. They are a fine, generous, kind and clannish group of people. Mildred's letters gave much information on this family and parts of them are included in the genealogy of Daniel Grant Webber, Sr.

Letters of Mildred Andress concerning Fred Andress: Fred came west with my brother in law Clarenden B F Foster. They were roommates in the Navy. I met Fred at the Sacramento Hotel where his parents lived. Doctor Foster was the hotel Doctor at the time. We had a beautiful family wedding with the Webbers present - Ermel and Norman Lawler, Mabel and Gus Olson, Aunt Grace and Jesse Cave, Harlow Webber, Grandfather and Grandmother Daniel and Frances Webber, Dr. P A Webber and wife Albra, William Webber. Dr. Foster's wife was helpful in decorating. Other relatives of the Ammons family were Gretcher Huntley, Anita Anderson, Dr and Mrs Clarenden Foster, Fred and Mamma Grace, Reginald Foster, Helen and Clarenden Foster, the maid of honor was my sister Helen. The best man was Clarenden Foster. The minister Rev. Barr Lee. Episcopal rites. Music by Mrs. C. Foster.

with Morse code. One side is Vail-Cutler, one side Ledgewood-Hunt, and one Andress-Armstrong. On his mother's side (Mary Nichols Thomas) is first Gov of N Y Robert Nichols, great great grandfather. In the New Jersey families are connections Bradleys, Moodys of financial fame, Thomas Plateus. Fred has one Aunt living in New York on the father's side 78 years, and one cousin William Ledgerwood of Conn. and New York. The Aunt is Mrs. John Daugherty. One Aunt Mary Vail Andress passed away in 1965. She was with the Chase National Bank of N Y, formerly with the Red Cross in Paris 1917-18. A very well known and distinguished woman.

Helen and I attended St. Gertrude's Academy in Rio Vista until the second year then transferred to the Rio Vista High from which I graduated in 1917. I entered Mills College in Oakland, a girl's school, and was in Mills until the year I was a Junior 1920.

Note: The years of 1949-1960 were very difficult for Fred and me. His father and sister passed away and left us with his ailing mother and we brought her home to live with us. She lived here about 4½ years then Fred placed her in a home. Fred was with the American Can Co. and had a good job. At the same time I was looking after my mother and sister. This kept me running from Strawberry to Napa and Sacramento.

"My father handled the buriel of our little son thru a friend, Mr. Garlic, who also handled the funerals of my father and mother later. This information can be obtained from Mr. Parkenhouse who was Mr Garlic's mortuary worker."

From letter of Mildred Andress, mother - My baby was born in Sacramento. Grampa and Gramma died about that time so I did not go to the funeral, altho my grandfather was very near and dear to me. It seems to me I was the only one in his late life that he talked with about his family. Grampa was gentle and easy going and Grandmother was full of pep as my father was. She ran the boarding house in Sacramento while Grampa lived with us during the days of 1906-1913. She was instrumental in educating her boys who both graduated from the University of California, P A Webber in dentistry and Danial G. Webber, Jr. as a druggist. It was about this time that Uncle Percy married Sadie Berry in San Francisco. I may have been wrong.
Hannah Riehl was a sister of Grampa Webber. Her daughter's daughter, Lillian Riehl Hite, did not live far away from Hannah and Grampa. Lillian was on hand to help deliver my first baby boy, Fred W. Andress. Love as she was called was a devoted and dear friend but since the 1921 year Fred and I moved and had our house in Marin County and then I did not see too much of her. I would hear of her now and then and now would like to see her. She, Aunt Lillian, was so devoted to me and they were angry at Fred because I had such a difficult time at birth. She was very dear and loyal. She and Aunt Grace Cave were dear friends as long as they lived. We used to have Christmas celebrations every year at Aunt Grace Cave's in Sacramento, all living Webbers and families always present. Now most are gone."

Wedding of Julie Holmes and Logan Lockabey - East Yolo Record, Cal. with picture of bride. Garden Rites Unites Couple in Marriage April 30 - On April 30 the first beautiful day of the season, in the beautiful garden of their Clarksburg home, Joe Holmes escorted his lovely daughter Julie down the garden path, past the magnificent Japanese Cherry in full bloom, to the altar in the patio of the garden where he gave her hand in marriage to Logan Lockabey, The Rev. Robert Pomeroy officiated as over two hundred guests witnessed the ceremony. Julie was wearing the gown and veil her mother wore on her wedding day many years ago. The gown styled in classic lines was gathered at the waist line and fell in a full train. The bell sleeves embroidered with seedling pearls. A Juliet cap secured the veil of heir loom lace which fell in soft folds behind her train. Barbara Holmes was gowned in an apple green sheath as she served as her sister's maid of honor. She carried a pert bouquet of transvael daisies. The bridesmaids were dressed in soft yellow linen sheaths styled the same as the maid of honor. They were Linda Lorell Reaves and Aileen Mansgura. Mistress Bobbie Brown age 6 and Master Carl Sidney 5 years walked up the aisle with the maid of honor. They served as flower girl and ring bearer. Serving as the broom's best man was Carl Woodmanside while Lester Holmes, Lloyd Rogers and Payson Reed seated the guests. Gregory Mervin played the piano before the wedding march and accompanied Elizabeth Lobensals who sang the wedding songs.

Helen's two sons were Clarenden Webber Foster and Jean Frederick Foster. They were darling little boys. When Clarenden was born Helen was very ill in Krull Hospital. Dad had seven Doctors with her and Dr. Foster of course was one. Dr. Foster was delighted with Little Don. So Dad and Dr. Foster always referred to him as "Little Admiral", a nick name which stuck and every one on the river knows him as Admiral." Grace Cave lived in Sacramento in 1929 with her children. Daniel Grant Webber, Sr. lived with her also and died at her home. She had annual reunions of the Webber clan which were enjoyed immensely by everyone. In later years she had a small house on the lawn of her daughter Mabel Lawler Olsen. She had been to Maine and when Clara Patten Bowen and husband visited California people in 1939 she said, "I am so thrilled to see someone from Maine", back east as she called it. When they left she said, "Come back often to see us and remember us to all the people back home." The Gus Olsens telephoned all the relatives and within an hour they arrived for a cook out around the pool with Gus Olsen doing the cooking. A fun loving people who enjoyed being together. The brother of Clara Patten Bowen was there working on the ranch of Gus Olsen and proudly showed them the ranch. During her last days Grace Webber lived with Grace Darling Webber in Sacramento, wife of Dr. Henry Webber, deceased, of Auburn, Maine. The day Grace Cave passed away she was visiting with Virginia Cave Slater; she became ill and was taken to the hospital where she died.

The information for the genealogy was sent by Ermel Lawler to Clara Patten Bowen of Hallowell, Maine. Norman Lawler had passed away when Clara Patten Bowen and husband, Howard Bowen, were in California in the 1960s but everyone told them what a wonderful person he was. Norman and Ermel traveled extensively with enjoyment of it. Norman Lawler had a store in Clarksburg, Cal. which had been owned by Daniel Webber, Sr. Norman's mother, Grace, had bought it from her father Daniel Webber, Sr. about 1905 and Norman Lawler carried it on later and then Norman's son was there in 1974. Ermel Crenshaw Lawler still resided on her place in Clarksburg enjoying her garden and grandchildren. Harlow and Ruth Webber of Clarksburg, Cal. lived near and when Clara Patten Bowen and her husband were visiting them they went to have tea with her.

Note from Ruth and Harlow 1973: "Her arthritis kept her at home and she just sort of faded away, couldn's eat and had no desire. She spent a lot of time in bed, said it was easier than trying to get up. Her boys were considering putting her in a nursing home but she objected. On a Monday morning they went to check on her and found she had passed away in her sleep in the night. Just the way she hoped it would be."

Note from Mildred Andress of Vacaville, Cal. 1974: "The Lawler family were from early San Francisco days. A dear and devoted couple, German. My father Fred Webber roomed with them and boarded with them when going to San Francisco Business College, so he told me.
Clarksburg was very rural in those days, small levees protecting farmers in flood times. Only boat transportation to Sacramento and San Francisco, horse and buggy from the ranch to the store. Where my Uncle Louis was drowned in back of Clarksburg was once owned by my grandfather and grandmother Ammons, my mother was Mary Catherine Curtis who married James Ammons, an assessor in Woodland, Yolo County. Grandmother was land poor and a neighbor of Daniel Webber's family. Daniel Webber and his wife Frances built a nice home which later burned along with the homes of my grandmother and Grace Cave. My Grandmother Curtis Ammons mother and father were the first settlers who came on land which ran from the Clarksburg River levee to the back of the land later owned by Renee and Joe Holmes."

Obituary of Gus Olsen: Clarksburg leader dies at 81 - Gus Olsen, prominent in farming and water circles in Sacramento and Yolo counties, died at the age of 81 in a local hospital. He made his home in Clarksburg. Memorial services are pending. Olsen has lived in the Yolo area ever since 1911. He was a former Regent of the University of California and past president of the Sacramento Rotary Club. He died yesterday in a local hospital. He was president of the board of trustees of Reclamation District 999. He also was on the Sacramento River flood control association. Olsen was a 50 year member of Franklin Masonic Lodge No. 143 and a 50 year member of the California Farm Bureau. He served on the agriculture committee of the state chamber of commerce. He also belonged to the Old Capital Club in Monteray and was a former director of the California Association. He was the husband of the late Mabel L. Olsen and is survived by his children Mrs. Elizabeth Cleeves of Clarksburg, Norman A. and Robert L. of Berkeley, Mrs. Sally Peters of Piedmont, and Mrs. Jean Snaveley of Menlo Park. He also leaves 13 grandchildren and four great grandchildren. He was a native of Paso Rables. Funeral services will be made under the direction of Harry A. Nauman and son.

Olsen, in this city Sept. 22, 1970 - Gus Olsen, husband of the late Mabel L. Olsen, father of Gus Olsen Jr., Mrs. Elizabeth Cleeves of Clarksburg, Norman and Robert Olsen of Berkeley, Mrs Sally Peters of Piedmont, Mrs. Jean Slavely of Menlo Park. leaves 13 grandchildren, four great grandchildren. A native of Paso Rables, aged 81 years. Friends are respectfully invited to attend the funeral services Monday at 11:00 AM in the Clarksburg Community Church, Clarksburg. Henry Nauman and sons directors. Memorials may be sent to the California Association Foundation alumni or a charity of their choice.

Obituary of Mabel Olsen - From the Sacramento Bee - July 10, 1969 - Mrs. Olsen rites are scheduled - Clarksburg -- Memorial services will be held at 10 AM Saturday in the Community Church here for Mabel Olsen, 75, a longtime resident of Clarksburg. She died Tuesday in Walnut Creek, Contra Nostra County. Mrs. Olsen is survived by her husband, Gus; sons Gus Jr. of Clarksburg, Norman and Robert, both of Berkeley; daughters Mrs. John Cleeves of Clarksburg, Mrs. Walter Peters of Piedmont, Alemeda County, and Mrs. James Snavely of Menlo Park, San Mateo County; 17 grandchildren, four great grandchildren. Mrs. Olsen was a member of the California Farm Bureau and the Farm Bureau Women, and Order of Eastern Star. She helped establish the community church. A native of Sacramento, she was married in 1913. Her husband, delta farmer, is a former member of the University of California Board of Regents. A building at the University of California named for him. Rev. Jesse Rudkin will officiate at Saturday's service. The family asks that any remembrance be sent to the charity of their choice.

Note from Ruth and Harlow Webber of Clarksburg, Cal.:
I'M enclosing the clipping about the passing of Gus Olsen. He went to the hospital about a month ago for gall bladder trouble and they found cancer. It must have been quite far advanced as he did not live long. Betty and John Cleeves had been in Germany visiting their daughter Liz and family but were on the way home when Gus passed away. The memorial service will be tomorrow in our local church. I think a huge crowd will be there as he was so well known, and very popular.

1963 - Golden Wedding - True weddings are always lovely; but there's something about a golden wedding anniversary. Fifty years is a long time to live together and any one would tell by the smiles Mr. and Mrs. Olsen were wearing at their recent anniversary celebration that their fifty years have been rewarding ones. Family and friends of long standing gathered at the lovely oak-shaded lawn of the Olsen ranch to visit and honor the Olsens. Elizabeth Cleeves, daughter of the John Cleeves, modeled the gown worn by her grandmother fifty years ago when she became the bride of Gus Olsen. It was pleasant to see such people as Mrs. Warnie Norton of Woodland, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Hune of Sacramento, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bainer of U C Davis, Dr. R B Premasing (who looks just as good in a suit as he does in the familiar, crisp smock) of Woodland, Joe and Betty Rankins of Almeda, Virginia Cave of Sacramento, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Andress of Vacaville, with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. H B Delacy, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mrak, chanceler of the University of Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shontz, director of admissions for U C at Berkeley, and many more who are widely known among our Clarksburg friends. The heels of my white shoes kept sinking into the ground, the soft turf, causing me to stand tippy toed for a long time. I considered removing them thinking how nice the cool grass would feel; but with this impressive guest list milling about-who could remove his shoes? Among these from Clarksburg seen enjoying the afternoon were the Messrs. and Mrs. Lester Holmes, George Wilson, Stewart Lawler, Robert Yelland, Ozzie Clark, E R Butler, J B Long, Mr. Charles Pierce, Mrs. Ermel Lawler, Mrs. Mabel Marvin, Mrs. Joe Rankin, Mrs. Stephen Herringer, Mrs. Ralph Krull, and many others.

1939 - Clara Patten Bowen and her husband Howard Bowen visited the Olsens of an afternoon and found they had telephoned all the relatives for a get together about the pool with Gus Olsen doing the barbecue cooking. They were a clannish, happy, fun-loving group who reminded Clara Bowen of the relatives get togethers of Maine. The descendants who gathered were those of the children of Polly (Patten) Webber and Eliezer Webber who had gone west in the 1850s - Daniel, Hannah, Chesley, Angelette. Russell Webber Patten of Hermon was working on the ranch at the time also a brother of Clara Bowen. He toured the ranch with them showing how farming is done on a huge scale. Grace Webber Cave proudly talked of everyone and asked about relatives in Maine as she had visited there. The Olsen place in Carmel is attractive and not a ranch as at Clarksburg.

Chesley Patten Webber went to California twice. In 1858 it is thot he went with his sister Angelette to accompany the sister Hannah's daughter Rosilla to her mother in California. Hannah and Daniel had gone to California in 1854 to find the grave of Hannah's husband Samuel Bodge. Hannah, Angelette, and Daniel stayed in California but Chesley had to come home when his wife was taken ill and died 1868. Chesley and Daniel carted supplies to the miners at Placerville, California from Sacramento with teams. One load was forty cats. The sister Hannah was at the boarding house in Placerville for some time from 1854 and married her second husband while here. In the "Piece bag" at home was an embroidered glove which Chesley brought home, he also brought a pin of mother-of-pearl pin given him by a squaw indian woman, and a bag of rocks.

From Bangor Daily News, Bangor, Maine 1914 - Chesley Webber, remarkable young old man, celebrated his birthday with friends and relatives - 87th anniversary of Hermon's oldest resident --- Surrounded by the members of his family and many friends Chesley Patten Webber, the oldest citizen of Hermon, celebrated his 87th birthday Thursday, March 12, a jolly good time he had too if one were to judge by the genial expression on his face when the postman came in the midst of the festivities. Many of these cards were from different places and friends who had not seen him for years, and a few lines of greeting with their names which brought back memories of by-gone days. Mr. Webber received several substantial gifts and 210 cards. Last September he took a trip by auto from Etna campground to Auburn, Maine, a distance of 85 miles. At the end of the journey some of the older members of the family felt that they had traveled far enough for one day, but Mr. Webber declared that he was not a bit tired. While visiting at the home of his neice, Mrs. H T McKenney of Auburn, he went out one day last fall and helped picking rocks, pulling bean stalks, and otherwise making himself useful. At night he said he had enjoyed the day very much. Mr. Webber was the third son and the fourth child of Eliezer Webber and Polly (Patten) Webber. And was born March 12, 1827. His birthplace was a house built on the shore of Tracy Pond by his father (should be grandfather Isaac Webber) in 1820, the first frame house built in Hermon. Of his father's large family but three beside him are now living - Mrs. Mary Welthy Rogers of Ninth Street, Auburn; Eliezer Webber of Hermon; and Daniel Webber of Sacramento, California. Mr. Webber was married October 12, 1855 to Lydia E. Stanley of Hampden. Three daughters and one son were born to them. One daughter Mary Webber died 1860. The others are Ada, wife of Henry Pierce of Hampden; Julia, wife of John Mallory of Hampden; and William Webber of Hermon. Mr. Webber went to California in 1860, more of a task than at the present time. He went first to New York and there took a steamer on which he remained 29 days, going from New York via Cape Horn to San Francisco. After he had been in that country a few weeks he purchased six horses and started teaming over the Sierra Nevada mountains, that being before the time of railroads in the west. He did this work for six years. He used to camp in different places on his route and always bore the goodwill of his companions in slumber when they awoke, as many a morning he would find one or more Indians had been his companions. After sharing his lunch with them he would go on his way and bore the good will of all he met. Mr. Webber took a second trip to California in 1868. This time he purchased a farm in Freeport and had acquired considerable other property when he was called home by the death of his wife. In 1874 he married Clara E. Stone of Hampden. Four children were born. One daughter and one son are dead. The others are Iola Webber, wife of Russell H. Patten of Hermon, and Philip Webber who lives with his mother on the old homestead in Hermon. Mr. Webber's family now includes five children, 16 grandchildren, and three great grandchildren. Mr. Webber has been a life long Republican and has spent the greater part of his life as a farmer in Hermon, his home being about a quarter of a mile from his birthplace. He enjoys excellent health, is very active, and bids fair to see many more.

Childhood memories of Clara Patten Bowen, granddaughter of Chesley Patten Webber-Clara Bowen did this genealogy.
The house was at the top of the hill with a blind turn into the driveway. If one was coming up the hill he had to be alert for someone coming over the top of the hill. There was a duck pond in back of the house for skating and playing, catching pollywogs, and in the spring the frogs made a noisy, nice sound at night. There was a row of pines along the pasture lane where the cows came home at night. These seemed tall to a child but to an adult they looked small. A short distance from the foot of the hill at Hermon Center was the railroad station and a stream which ran past it. This was where boys and girls skated at parties in the evening. They would skate up as far as Hilda Bate's home. The trains came and went and at night at eight o'clock every one set their clocks by it. It was fascinating to watch the train go along and out of sight with the lights on and the whistle blowing, a long lonely sound of toots which could be heard miles away. There was an old fashioned garden, long and narrow, beside the driveway and at the end was a granite step for people to alight from the carriage. Grampa had a rocking chair on the lawn and when one came along the drive he would wave to them. The house had a step from the kitchen to the pantry and once Grandmother had a cramp when stepping up and had to stay in that position until it went away. There was a pump on the platform going out of the kitchen, quite high from the ground. In the dining room there was a hanging lamp with painted flowers on it which could be lowered to read by. And at the windows were curtain tie backs which were of mother-of-pearl with a bluish tinge. The parlor had furniture that was bought by Iola Webber Patten, my mother, when she earned her first money teaching school in 1891. Grandfather had his rocking chair by the living room stove which burned wood and one day when he was eighty-six years old, he just went to sleep there. The neighbors across the road were their daughter Annie Webber Hunt and her husband Everett Hunt and son Charles. A grape vine hung along the rocks by the drive and once Charlie had a party there. The Baldwins lived at the foot of the hill. Mrs. Baldwin a plump woman and friendly, and the Fred Grays and the Sweetzers, and at the Center was Pearl Porter and her mother who were sort of secretive about their life. Pearl went to New York often and came back, and only a few neighbors made calls on them, among them was my grandmother. Also at the Center was Med Hunt, brother of Everett. I must mention the cookies made by my grandmother and the cake with the cream filling and merangue frosting. The cookies were large and soft and delicious. The cake was like those Grandmother brought each Thanksgiving when they came to Mother's for dinner. Grandmother wore a long white apron with hand crocheted lace always. I have one of them. And also the long white night gown she used to wear, made of heavy cotton with a yoke which was fancy with hamburg lace. ----------

The mother, Lydia Stanley Webber was born in 1835 so Mary could not have been born in 1844. So there must be a mistake on birthday date and death date on the stone of Mary Webber. Chesley and Lydia Webber were married October 12, 1855. A letter from Chesley Webber's sister Hannah (Webber) Bodge from California Mar. 9, 1855 says: "Mother, have you taken my things from Lydia's yet. I Know she wants the chamber. Tell me how Chet's baby grows and if he loves it eny." Hannah went to California in 1854 to find her husband's grave in Panama and then went north to Placerville, Cal. Clara Patten Bowen who did this genealogy of John Patten 1751-1820 writes the following: I visited Aunt Ada and Uncle Henry each summer, at this time they lived at the corner near the entrance to Riverside Park. The electric cars went into Riverside. In the park was a summer theater, it was on the bank of the Penobscot River. The seats were on a slope toward the stage. One play I saw there was Jack and the Bean Stalk. One day Uncle Henry and I went to Old Town, Maine on the electric cars, the motor man being Alfred Hamilton who married Uncle Henry's daughter Marion. Another day he took me to Orrington Fair. We rowed across the river and as we got part way across the Boston Boat came in sight, our boat was leaking water, but the trip was successful and the fair was wonderful to a child. After the visit I went home with the mailman Emery Folsom who always took dinners with my grandmother Clara (Stone) Webber. The horse was sold to Emery Folsom by my father Russell Patten and named Snowball because he was all white. Snowball was one of the colts my father raised, Old Bess the mother, a white arabian. Wonderful people and wonderful times.

Clara Patten Bowen, who compiled this genealogy, neice of Annie Webber Hunt, says "I went 'across the road' many times from my grandfather's house to see Aunt Annie and Uncle Ev, a dear couple. In later years Aunt Annie was bedridden and blind. When I went thru the rooms to see her she would call,"I know who it is, it's my little girl." She passed away Easter evening. Papa had taken us to an Easter concert at the church to "speak our pieces" but we left early because he said we must go home with Mama. As soon as we arrived home we went by horse and surry to Grandfather Webber's. I remember I was awed by the northern lights which were exceptionally bright as they streaked across the sky. After Aunt Annie died Uncle Ev's mother came to live with him and Charles. She gave me a gray haired doll which I still have (1976). Uncle Ev had a seventy-five acre farm and milked 60 cows. The barn was 150 feet long and put together with wooden pegs.

Russell and Iola (Webber) Patten

Poem framed and hung on the wall of the living room:

Let me live in the house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by
The men who are good, the men who are bad
As good and as bad as I
I would not sit in the scorners seat
Or hurt the cynics ban
Let me live in the house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man

Sam Walter Foss

THE HOUSE

You may guard it from danger as much as you will
But sorrow and grief shall come to it still
And you shall discover when weepin is o'er
The old house is dearer to you than before.
There shall linger about it the memories rare
Of the wonderful spirit that used to be there

THE CHILDREN

Oh, give me patience when tiny hands
Tug at me with their small demands
And keep me gentle and smiling, yes
Keep my lips from hasty replies
And let not weariness, confusion or noise
Obscure my vision of life's fleeting joys.
My house is still -

No bitter memories its rooms may fill

Obituary of Iola Webber Patten - Bangor Daily News, Bangor, Maine - Hermon
Mrs. Iola Webber Patten 83 (should be 86) died Sunday at the Augusta Hospital. Born in Hermon April 21, 1876 (should be 1874) the daughter of Chesley and Clara (Stone) Webber. Mrs. Patten was a member of Johnathan Hunt Chapter O E S and a Past Matorn; Past Noble Grand of the Eastern Star Rebecca Lodge of the Hermon District; she was a member of the Grange, a golden leaf member. She was instrumental in forming many 4 H clubs in Penobscot County during the 1900s. A school teacher for many years. She was the widow of Russell Henry Patten. Survivors include two sons and three daughters: Mrs. Clara Bowen of Hallowell, Mrs. Annie McGown of Carmel and Mrs. Iola Atkins of Bangor; Lincoln Patten and R. Webber Patten of Hermon; five grandchildren; and several neices and nephews.

Poem read at the funeral service of Iola Webber Patten, composed by her -

I wonder, wonder, wonder
As today I quietly lay
And watch the glorious sunset
Of another perfect day -
I wonder, wonder, wonder
When the cares of the day are done
How they silently slip with the sunset
Into grey oblivion -
I wonder, wonder, wonder
When at midnight's quiet hour
I silently list to the woods owl
Within her leafy bower -
I wonder, wonder, wonder
Not at the owl's weird call
But to the still unanswered questioning
Down deep within my soul -
Today and every day
Unanswered, yes, unanswered
Why, I wonder why

Mother Iola

Bearers at the funeral of Iola Patten were Otis Homsted, George Homsted, Freeman Frost, Walter Munn.
Bearers at the funeral of Russell Patten were Marion (Med) Hunt, Roscoe (Win) Snow, Fred Grey, Wilbur Kimball

The day Iola Webber Patten died was a bitter cold day. The day Russell Patten was buried it was like a spring day. The family went to the grave in later afternoon with only light jackets on. The flowers for both were beautiful and numerous.

Russell and Iola Patten were the third generation to live in the Richard Patten house, Billings Road, Hermon, Maine. Russell was born there and always lived there. The house was of Cape Cod architecture and in 1976 in fine condition. At this time the sons of Russell and Iola, Lincoln and Webber, and Webber's wife Irma were living there. Webber moved from his adjoining farm in 1974 "to go home". When Russell and Iola Patten married there was a row of trees along the roadside by the edge of the lawn. All but one stood in 1975. The big "shady tree" still stood and its branches spread wide. The house was called "THE HOUSE BY THE SIDE OF THE ROAD" from a poem popular at the time. This was because Russell and Iola practiced the lines of the poem, "let me live in a house by the side of the road, and be a friend to man." They were always ready to help the sick and the poor, the needy and the troubled. The house was always open to children and when Iola was an old lady they came to call on her.

Russell was a knowledgable and successful farmer and Iola was successful with flowers. One year she had a quarter acre of dahlias which became a business, people came from all over the state. She had a booklet printed with names of dahlias and prices. Later she had a green house and large beds of flowers in the field. Florists in Bangor were supplied and customers came for bouquets of weddings and funerals. Russell, in the fall, carted by dump cart the bulbs of Dahlias to the cellar and stored them in sand. At this time the place was named "WAYSIDE GARDENS", a name always kept. On the acre of land was raised vegetables, fruits, livestock, hens and all other things connected with a farm. There was a wood lot and an ice house, the ice being cut at Hermon Pond and brought home by Russell on a long sled with horses. The cellar was stocked with vegetables, preserved fruits and vegetables, home made butter and other goodies which meant hard labor but rewarding during the long winter. As the children grew they helped with work on the farm, especially Lincoln and Webber who later became as successful and knowledgable as their father Russell.

Russell and Iola were proud of their town and became interested and active in civic affairs. They belonged to the Order of the Eastern Star O E S, and Russell was a Mason. Iola was a Past Matron. She also belonged to the Rebeccas and became a Past President as well as a district president. She was a member of the Grange and received a 50 year pin. Following are her words at the presentation: "I became a member of Union Grange when I was seventeen years of age, in April when I was teaching in Eddington, Maine. The Grange was the only social activity in the little community. I joined the Grange the same year that Mrs. Joseph Moore was Master, a charter member of Union Grange. The Grange met in the little hall over Nathaniel Eaton's store now burned. Our Grange was made up and always has been represented by the first families of the town. I have reminesced today with those members of the yesterdays who were Mr. and Mrs. James Prescott, Mr. and Mrs. Ezikiel Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keene, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wing, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Pike, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Leathers, Mr. and Mrs. William Mowatt, and others. I have always loved Union Grange. It was the first order I ever joined. It was the first place where I heard my own voice for the first time. It was where I learned to give readings and quote from memory. It was the first order in which I held office. I am proud to have been a member of Union Grange for fifty years in succession. I thank you for all the reminders. I shall always prize this gold jewel, the sheaf of wheat and engraved numerals and the 50 years above the sheaf, and the certificate of fifty years. I consider it one of my most prized possessions. To me it speaks of lasting friendships formed and of social evenings well spent." She said, "A beautiful banquet was served in my honor. I was escorted to the banquet hall by District Grand Master of Maine A S Goss."

The building owned by the Grange was bought from the Universalist Church in 1900 for $1.00 with the understanding that it be town down if they disbanded. This was done in 1930.

Russell held town offices including selectman and road commissioner. He also supervised road building for the State of Maine, one road being at Norridgewock, Maine. When an election came in March at the town meeting there was much business and compiling of a town report for printing, and ballots made for favorite candidates in the living room.
Russell Patten was a candidate for the legislature. He did not win but the announcement follows: "Russell H. Patten, a candidate for the legislature from the class of Hampden, Glenburn and Hermon is the son of Charles Patten who served as deputy sheriff for 23 years consecutively until his demise in 1895. Russell Patten was educated in the schools of Hermon and the academy of East Corinth, and later the member of the class of 1886 of Hampden Academy. He has served his town as one of the selectmen for eight years, also important offices pertaining to the town. Mr. Patten is a man of sterling qualities, a strong believer in higher education and toughness. Should Mr. Patten be elected the people of the three town comprising the class would be sure of an honest, earnest, thoughtful and consciencious representative and who would always labor for the interest of the people who he would represent." J M Taylor

When Russell Patten was nineteen years of age he was elected to the school board of Hermon, his father was elected selectman. For further information on this see the town report of Hermon 1893.

About 125 of these bottles were found in the attic of the old homestead in later years by Clara Patten Bowen, her sister, Iola Patten Atkins, and brother Lincoln Patten. Many were saved as souveniers and 100 of them sold to Mrs. Llewellyn Bradstreet, antique dealer of Hallowell, Maine.

Russell Patten attended the grammer school at the village in Hermon on the Billings Road. All the generations of the family had gone to this school beginning with the children of Richard Patten and Lavinia (Kimball) Patten who built the old homestead about 1830. When Lincoln and Clara Patten, oldest children of Russell and Iola Patten, began school on their first morning they were given pencil boxes that Russell and his sister Clara had carried their first day. This became a treasured memory and the boxes are still in possession of Lincoln and Clara in 1975. The building still stood in 1975 but had not been used as a school for some time. It had been used by the Legion, Boy Scouts and ambulance corps. After grammar school Russell and his sister Clara went to East Corinth Academy but Clara was taken ill. Clara died soon after. In 1886 there was a high school in Hermon for one year. Russell and Iola attended and belonged to the Literature Club of the school with 72 members. The names follow: George Moore, Russell Patten, Wendell Phillips, Oscar Gilman, W R Page, Claude Hunt, Clarence Sweetzer, Charlie Cushman, Enoch Leathers, Charles Murphy, Lester Kimball, Leroy Patten, Bertie Bartlett, Wilbur Kimball, Chesley Stone, William Bickford, Marion Hunt, Willie Leonard, Eddie Chapman, Halsey Wing, Leon Hewes, Bert Chapman, Walter Merrill, Edward Cushing, Simeon Fuller, Henry Webber, Thomas Illsley, Uli Webber, Sister Miller, Rennie Peabody, Charlie Annis, Frank Hanson, Fred Bartlett, John Whitney, Albra Whitmore, Charles Taylor, Ralph Arey, Warren Barrows, Shirley Emerson, Freddie Dean, Synden Moore , Everett Hunt, Jason Dunton, Mabelle Miller, Cora Littlefield, Myra Friend, Gracie Fuller, Myra Shawm, Lulu Andrews, Ethel Andrews, Mamie Andrews, Nellie Andrews, Angie Wentworth, Iola Webber, Gertie Hewes, Maude Johnson, Lizzie Patten, Jimmie Leathers, Frank Smith, Annie Webber, Effie Gilman, Mary Peabody, Hattie Pickard, Mabelle Hunt,Evie Wentworth, Della Bryant, Lewella Snow, Ruthie Barrows, Etta Homsted, Minnie Pomroy, Emma Kennedy, Frank A. Spratt, Professor.
Clara Patten Bowen who did this genealogy has the record book of the club.

The next year Russell Patten attended Hampden Academy where he graduated.

One of the Professors at Hermon High School was Mr. Spratt. Sometime later the pupils he taught organized into a group called the Sprattites. They met for a picnic each year at Hampden for sometime. The children of the families attended also and they remember it well. A booklet and pictures are still in existence.

Iola (Webber) Patten graduated from the grammar school at the entrance of the Boston Road in Hermon. In the 1960s this building was made into a residence and is still standing 1975 in fine condition. Clara Patten Bowen has the record book used by a group of neighbors from 1851 to 1898 at the time the school was built 1851. In the record book are the names among others of Chesley Webber, Daniel Webber, John Webber, Eleazer Webber. The book records the plans for building, work done and by whom, price and materials to be used. *One of these meetings is recorded on the next page in part:

Iola Patten went to Hermon High the year it was in existence in 1886. In 1891 she taught school in Eddington, Maine. Her teaching record follows: Eddington 1891 - Hermon three terms 1895 - Hermon six terms 1896-1897 - Hampden three terms 1921-1922.
Howard Bowen, son-in-law of Iola, found this record at the state house at Augusta, Maine: School No. 3 - school board J M Taylor, W E Harding, C N Patten, W A Swan - supervisor E E McLaughlin - Spring terms and Fall terms were taught by Miss Iola Webber. These were Miss Webber's first terms. She enters the school with such an air of Matronly ease that she at once gains good discipline order and the respect of her scholars. Her work was very satisfactory.
Clara Patten Bowen has a copy of the certificate.

Iola Patten worked for eighteen years 1914-1932 with the Extension Service of the University of Maine. The third year she worked with Mr. Charles Crossland and Mr. Richard Dodge to organize 4 H clubs in Penobscot County. One of her reports follows in part: 23 organized committees for Farm Bureau work - 20 organized leaders, 18 of whom are women - 96 boys and 208 girls in 4 H clubs - canning 32, chick raising 43, cooking 24, sweet corn 5, garden 14, pig 11, potato 12, room improvement 13, sewing 123. She traveled by horse and buggy and by train.

Iola, after the passing of Russell Patten, in 1933, carried on the farm with the help of her sons. In 1943 they received a certificate of farm service:

Russell and Iola Patten organized with the help of others the Patten-Webber reunions which continued from 1914 to 1933, the year Russell Patten passed away. They were held for many years at Utz's landing at Hermon Pond, Hermon, Maine. Forenoons were spent in games, swimming, boating, a noon dinner was held sometimes with beans cooked in the ground, the afternoon was spent the same with an addition of a program, the evening concluded with a dance. These left many pleasant memories for adults and children in future years.

Russell was chairman of the 1914 Centennial of Hermon,Iola was working with him and in other ways and it proved a very successful day. Pictures were taken, badges, medals and pins printed. The medals and the booklet which were printed had the picture of the first frame house in Hermon. This house was that of Isaac Webber who was the father of Polly Patten Webber's husband Eliezer above. A parade was held in the morning, a dinner served, a program in the afternoon, and a dance in the evening.

These are a few of the things that made a busy homelife for this family. Interesting, exciting, memorable. Russell and Iola Patten were fine, understanding and patient parents. They are missed greatly by all.

Lincoln Patten attended Hermon grade school, Hermon Corner to which all the family from Richard Patten had attended. He graduated from Bangor High School 1919 and two years at the University of Maine Orono. He taught two years at Newburg, Maine, worked for two years at Dover-Foxcroft for Tom Caswell, then returned to the old home to live the remainder of his life. He was a successful farmer, as was his father before him, on the land he had worked on when young and loved. He furnished vegetables to roadside stands and to customers at home. With his parents he raised flowers to supply the florist of Bangor, had a green house and each Memorial time sold 3000 pansy plants and 3000tomato plants from a hot house. They picked 300 sweet peas and large boxes of delphinium along with other flowers each morning. Delphinium was planted in the fields. He was a friend to all especially the young people. Any one in trouble called him and he was always ready to help. He cared for his father and mother until they died.

school was built about 1932 and since then it has progressed in many ways. The students now attending junior and senior schools as well as the adults of the town have done more than their share in serving in the observation post. Many of the students have won arm bands, letters, pins or certificates for the required hours. This post was established about one year ago and since then has been well manned 24 hours around the clock. Just recently the post was moved from the top of the school building to the ground. During the day the post is manned by the children of the school.

*Gardening has been emphasized since early spring. Three farmers carry vegetables and other produce to Bangor every day. There are Lincoln Patten, Judson Lord and Walter Witherley. There have been exceptionally large crops of beans and potatoes this year. With all these Victory Gardens and the home canning projects Hermon has no fear of hunger for some time. There are three good sized dairies in town, Higgens Dairy, Pleasant Hill Dairy and Gray's Dairy. A number of citizens are engaged in other full time or part time war work."

from ninth grade the teacher was Miss Lottie Baker who planned a graduation with programs, pins, class parts. The pins were gold books with the number 1915. In 1919 Clara and Lincoln graduated from Bangor High School, Clara received first honors which was above 95 for the four years. She taught in Hermon two years, four terms on the Bog Road when she boarded with Mr. and Mrs. Emery Prescott, and two terms on Reed Hill when she stayed at home. The children of the family attended the Sunday School at the Baptist Church at the village, teacher Mrs. Rodney Overlock. At Caratunk she was a member of the Women's Club; at Bingham, President of the Century Club and the church circle, president of the American Legion Auxillary and a Matron of Bingham Chapter OES; at Hallowell a member of the Current Events Club and president, county chairman for organization of the Cancer drive several years, a gray lady at Togus Veteran's hospital, surgical ward. She braided rugs, made comforters for all the family, quilted, knit, skiied, played tennis, hiked and enjoyed genealogy.

Howard Bowen graduated from Leathers Corner Grammar School, Wing Road, Hermon, Maine; from Hampden Academy, Hampden, Maine as validictorian in 1916; and from the University of Maine, Orono, June 9, 1924, doing the work in three years. At mid years 1924 he taught at Woodland, Maine until graduation, returning for two weeks after graduation with his family. They had a new Model T Ford, while going thru the nine mile woods they found the road rutty and muddy so were overjoyed to find the people where he boarded and Clayton Hunnewell, a former student at Caratunk, waiting for them at the end of the woods. Howard was elected Superintendant of Schools of the Union of Bingham, Concord, Pleasant Ridge, Moscow, Caratunk, The Forks and West Forks in 1924 so the family moved to Bingham to the country which they loved. They entered the social, civic and fraternal life of the community. Howard became Master of Masonic Lodge and treasurer, High Priest of Royal Arch Chapter, and District Deputy of District 13. Twice he became a Past Patron of Bingham Chapter OES; and twice Commander of Stanley Beane Post American Legion and adjutant. He sang in the choir of the Congregational Church. He was a delegate to the PTA conference at San Francisco, traveling by car with his family and a friend, Mrs. William Webster and daughter Betty, of Portland, Maine. After the convention they visited relatives. Later in 1956 and 1965 they went again and for two winters rented an apartment in Pasadena. In 1943 they moved to Saco, Maine, where Howard was Supt. of Schools for five years, the teachers becoming lifelong friends. They lived in the house of Miss Alice J. Davidson, 33 High Street, Miss Davidson living in the north side. In 1948 they moved to Hallowell, Maine, where they again became busy in the social, civic and church life of the town. In 1948 Howard became Associate Deputy Commissioner of Education for the State of Maine, retiring in 1954 but continuing to be called back for work of one sort or another.

Mr. Howard L. Bowen, Associate Deputy Commissioner, State Department of Education, 177 Second Street - Dear Howard: I learn with regret that you are planning to retire June 30 after having been connected with education in the State for the past thirty seven years. Please accept, on behalf of Maine and its people, sincere congratulations and very best wishes. Yours is a record of which you should be very proud, indeed, and you may be sure the State of Maine is appreciative of your contribution to Education. May I take this opportunity to add my own personal congratulations on this enviable record of accomplishment, and express the hope that your years of retirement may bring you a great deal of satisfaction and happiness - Sincerely yours Burton M. Letter to family for future reference by Clara Patten Bowen - 1976
Howard came home for a few days from Caratunk, Maine, where he was teacher and principal. He found me busy with preparations for our wedding. The dressmaker, Mrs. Gertrude (Hewes) Jackson Hunt and Mamma had been busy for days making summer dresses and the wedding gown. Mrs. Hunt did not use a pattern. For the wedding dress she "held up to me" a square of white net, cut out the openings for the neck and sleeves, sat down to the machine and made tiny pin tucks around the waist and sleeves. She made the skirt from yardage of white net prepin-tucked and accordian pleated, sewed this to the waist, made a sash of pink taffeta and a slip of white china silk, and there was a dream. Mamma and I went to Bangor to buy a hat which I thought I had to have. This was white straw trimmed with tiny flowers of cloth around the brim, cost $12, worn once. On the wedding day Lincoln, my brother and pal over the years, borrowed Uncle Philip Webber's car to take us to Bangor to the home of the Rev. Ashley A. Smith to be married. Mamma and Papa went to the front door with us then Papa disappeared, Mamma waived to us. We spent the night at the apartment in which the family was staying while the other children went to high school in Bangor. Next day we went to both our homes. Soon Howard went back to Caratunk and I followed soon after by train to Waterville, Maine, and on to Bingham where Howard met me. The Superintendant of schools invited us for lunch at a restaurant. Then we took the stage to go to Caratunk, fifteen miles up the river to the north. The stage was a seven passenger car driven and owned by Mr. William Whorf of Caratunk who was the stage driver for over forty years. In the winter he used a long sled and two horses. Mr. Whorf brought fur robes, fur coats and soap stones for our feet. We were as cozy as bugs in a rug all the way, the scenery was magnificent with the river on one side and the mountain on the other. The road was called the dug way as it was cut from the mountain and so narrow two teams or cars could not pass but had to watch for a turnout. It was an open sled to the weather. At half way Mr. Whorf changed horses.
Caratunk is an Indian name meaning rough land but the town of Caratunk is a gem nestled in the hills with the Kennebec River flowing gently along its shoreline. The people were gentle, friendly and memorable. For two weeks we boarded at Philander Baker's in the village. The school house was a bit out of the village and later became the home of the columnist Bill Clark and his wife. One day years later Howard and I called on him. He said "Do you know if the pipe from the mountain to the house is of copper?" Howard said, "It was; I was there when it was installed and was Superintendant of the School District when it was done." Bill said, "You just saved me $500." The school house was of two stories. The teachers were Ella Bowler and Leona Inness. Ella Bowler taught school in Bingham in later years and boarded with us. She married Arthur Abbott of Skowhegan and died October 1962 at 90 years of age. Leona Inness, well, there was a saying in Caratunk that if a teacher comes to town she will find a mate. Leona did just this, she married Walter York. They lived on the stream in the William Clark house and raised a family. Walter became minister of the little church in later years. This was used for graduations, the music an organ and flowers gathered from the woods. After Howard became Supt. of Schools in Bingham we went there each year to graduations with the Rev. Arthur R. MacDougal, Jr. We rented a house of Mr. and Mrs. William Powell on the Pond Road just out of the village. They were cooks on the river drives on the Kennebec River just below Caratunk. They were kind, jolly, fun-loving people and happy. Bill Powell had a seven passenger touring car which he teamed down the dugways and safely. On Saturday nights the young people of the high school came for socials bringing their refreshments. The house also has memories of dandelion greens and evenings of cards. Dandelion greens make me think of the mornings I felt sick and Mrs. Baker's suggestion that we eat them, and that I take Lydia Pinkham's tonic. We had not been in Caratunk very long before the towns people gave us a wedding reception. "At the wedding reception of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bowen last Tuesday evening a large number of people greeted them at Sterling Hotel. Mr. Bowen is an efficient principal of our high school and has many friends. Mrs. Bowen is also a teacher in her home town. She is a stranger here but is a pleasing lady and will gain friends. Mr. and Mrs. Bowen received several gifts from the schools and a goodly sum of money from the town's people. A treat of ice cream and cake was served. Music was furnished by Mike Martin, an old time fiddler, to all who wished to dance. A beautiful wedding cake was made by Mrs. Lottie Martin to grace the table. The hall was beautifully decorated. Mr. and Mrs. Bowen were very pleased and surprised. Confetti was thrown down the stairs as they left."

Mrs. Lottie Martin's husband was Carroll Martin. When our daughter Eileen was married Mrs. Martin made the wedding cake from the same recipe, which follows:

1 cup molasses	1 teasp. cloves	cherries
1 cup sugar	1 teasp. nutmeg	dates
2 eggs	2 cups unsifted flour	currents
½ cup butter	½ cup raisins	orange peel
½ cup sour milk	1 cup walnuts	lemon peel
1 teasp. soda	citron

Bake in slow oven -- Keeps for months

Sterling Hotel was run by Ralph and Leona Sterling who put up sportsmen over the years who were on their way to Pierce Pond Camps. These people crossed the river at the carrying place just above the village by bateau. Beteaus were used by Benedict Arnold's men on their way to Quebec. The daughter Millie Sterling Smith lived there in later years and her six grandchildren came to visit and each had a room of their own she said. The store was run by Alice and Albert Clark who were cultured and happily married, beloved by the towns people and interested in community life. Clifford Reynolds, who taught there at one time, says in 1975, "Clark's store was a typically old fashioned store. You could buy anything from cod fish to shoes, candy and ice cream, tobacco and sewing thread, and cloth from the bolt. The store had a big iron stove which old men sat around and reminisced and young men talked of their love affairs. In their young married life Albert and Alice joined other families to go to fairs and celebrations in their fine horse drawn carriage." John Simmons was clerk; roly-poly, jolly and friendly. Howard Mitchell inherited the store and was there in 1976. He says "There have been many changes over the years. The highway by passes the town now. In some ways this is better." This is typical of the thinking of the old residents of 1922-23. They liked quietness and neighborliness. Most families in town had water barrels at the end of kitchen counters. They were enclosed as part of the cupboards with water running constantly into and out of the barrels from a spring on the mountain. It was used for drinking.

These are a few memories of Caratunk and its people. I have written much more about them which cannot be included here. In the spring we left this place and its dear people never to for get them and with appreciation for a year of happiness.

Mrs. Lawrence Merckens. Fruit punch was made by Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Merckens. Serving as hosts were Mr. Basil Paine, Dr. Ermo Scott, Dr. Charles Okey, Mr. Clifford Reynolds and Mr. George Hunt. Hostess was Mrs. Iola Atkins, sister of Mrs. Bowen. 180 attended the party and partook of champayne and fruit punches, finger rolls, sweets and a wedding cake. The cake was made by Arlene's of Augusta and displayed in their window. The brothers Lincoln and Webber Patten, Irma Patten and Walter Munn came for lunch. Iola Atkins, sister, came for the week. The granddaughters and great granddaughters wore granny gowns. Mrs. George Hunt, Mrs. Doris Ladd and Mrs. Eleanor Falconi were a committee to fill the little safe made by Mrs. Nella Hamilton. Gifts were received and cards and telegrams.

1961 Kennebec Journal Augusta Maine Hallowell == Dr. Howard Bowen of Hallowell will leave Saturday for Garmisch, Bavarian Alps to represent the National Congress of Parents and Teachers from April 17 to 24. Dr Bowen will be accompanied by his wife Mrs Bowen and they will return April 30. He is National chairman for Rural Services of the National P T A and prior to his retirement was Associate Deputy Commissioner of the State of Maine. Dr and Mrs Bowen will visit several countries during their stay in Europe.

This was the European Congress of Parents and Teachers, with representation by the American Parent and Teachers, from the dependent schools in Free Europe, North Africa and Iceland. Dr. Bowen gave the principal address, installed the officers, and was consultant to the group. They stayed at the General Patten Hotel. They were met in Munich by an army car and returned the same way. On arrival in Munich they were met by Elfi Luginger, a teacher there, who took them to see her school and to the Platzl for dinner. On arrival in Garmisch they were met by the officers of the P T A and a social hour enjoyed. Mrs. Bowen visited Oberammergau and Linderhof Castle. Mr. Bowen had his picture taken with the girls of the ice follies and danced with a Bavarian group.

Maine Congress of Parents and Teachers, Inc. A branch of the National Congress of P T A, 15 Katahdin Street, Bangor, Maine, Nov. 8, 1957 -
Dear Mrs. Burr, The State Board of the Maine Congress of Parents and Teachers is very much pleased to present to the Chairman and Members of the National Nominating committee the name of our immediate Past President, Dr. Howard Bowen of Hallowell for the chairmanship of Rural Service.

In as much as Dr. Bowen has had considerable experience with rural committees in Maine, we heartily endorse him for this Chairmanship.

Thank you for any consideration you may give to Mr. Bowen. He is well known in central and northern New England. We are particularly enthusiastic since Maine, we believe, has never had a National Chairmanship.

Sincerely yours Mrs. Phillip Gildart, President
Maine Congress of Parents and Teachers

Howard L. Bowen - M Award - Kennebec Journal Augusta Manchester A P
Dr. Howard Bowen of Hallowell, Maine received the M Award Tuesday for outstanding service to the University of Maine. Governor Reed presented the award at the annual luncheon of the University's alumni association held at the country club in Augusta. Bowen is a retired official of the Maine educational department and a past president of the Maine Congress of Parents and Teachers and remains active in educational work. "Since his graduation from the University of Maine in 1924" Reed said, "Dr. Bowen has contributed selflessly to the causes of education thru out Maine and has worked actively with the alumni association."

M award (alumni activities award) Howard Lancaster Bowen -
On behalf of thousands of active and loyal University of Maine alumni the following citation and award is made: Dr. Howard L. Bowen, born in Hermon April 1898 and now of Hallowell was educated in Hampden Academy and graduated from the University of Maine in 1924. From the University of Maine he also received his M A degree in 1934, in addition to the earlier A B degree in mathematics. In August 1957 his University conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Science on him, for devotion as an educator and for his accomplishments in education. He was the author, in 1935 of a HISTORY OF SECONDARY EDUCATION IN SOMERSET COUNTY in Maine. Dr. Bowen also attended briefly both Wisconsin and Harvard Universities. In 1918 Howard served in the Special Army Training Corps. He was married to Clara E. Patten in 1921, and they have a daughter Mrs. C. Eileen MacFarland.

He was a teacher and principal in schools for five years and a superintendant for twenty five years principally at Bingham and Saco, but also at Hermon, Woodland, Caratunk and Wiscasset as teacher and principal. He has been on summer faculties at the University at Aroostook, Farmington and Washington state colleges, and a director of student teaching at Gorham Teachers college. For six years he was Associate Deputy Commissioner for curriculum and instruction, State Dept. of Education, retiring in 1954.
Always active in civic and association affairs, he has been an officer of many groups, especially the National P T A, the Maine Congress of Parents and Teachers (President 1957), the American Heart Association (Director in 1964) (State chairman 1965) to name only two. But also a strong and effective chairman layman and leader, and he was cited as a lay leader by the Bangor Theological Seminary in 1956. As an alumnus, ready and frequently serving: he personally began and presented in 1955 the Harland A. Ladd Scholarship Fund, having solicited and collected what is now over $3000 from friends of the former commissioner. He has been a loyal member and officer of the Southern Kennebec Alumni Association. Also he was an effective worker in the Arthur Hauck Capital Building Fund campaign. He has been a long time booster and both president and treasurer of the Maine Parent Teacher's Association. He has served time and again on special committees for alumni accomplishment and has helped his grandchildren to attend Maine.
It is with pride that we recognize him for great worth as an alumnus, and present him a token award in gratitude, called the M Award for alumni activities. It is inscribed to Howard L. Bowen '24.

Dr. Franklin Ball delivered the first child of Eileen and Stanley Eames at the home of Eileen's parents. The Rev. Arthur R. MacDougal, Jr. was a dear friend of the family. Each year he had a church service as "The Fishing Parson" when people decorated the church with wild flowers, displayed his books THE DUD DEAN YARNS and listened to his sermon. An open house was held after the service. They have a fine family of children.

From Independent Reporter, Skowhegan, Maine Sept. 7, 1940 - A wedding reception was given Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Eames at the home of Mrs. Eame's parents, Supt. and Mrs. Howard Bowen. Rev. Arthur R. MacDougal, Jr., Pastor of the Congregational Church, performed the ceremony for the young couple who were married at a civil service Labor Day. Their attendants Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kilmire were present. The wedding march was played by Mr. Alden Goodrich. Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served by Mrs. Bowen with Mrs. Franklin Ball, Mrs. Charles Kilmore, Mrs. Fred Hurley, Miss Shirley Hilton and Miss Helen Eames assisting and Mrs. Omar Sawyer presiding at the coffee table. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Carroll Martin of Caratunk who made a similar one for Mr. and Mrs. Bowen 19 years before, and was cut by Mrs. Eames. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Eames and daughter Helen of Skowhegan; Mrs. Tena Bowen and Mrs. Russell Patten of Hermon, grandmothers of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nodine of New York; Mrs. Mary Baker, grandmother of Stanley Eames; Mr. and Mrs. Omar Sawyer; Mrs. Geraldine Hannay; Miss Laura Baker; Donald Sawyer; Mrs. J. From Independent Reporter, Skowhegan, Maine - (Augusta AP) Judge resigns in Skowhegan - Clayton E. Eames of Skowhegan, who has presided in Western Somerset County Municipal Court as Judge and Asso. Judge for twenty years, resigned Thursday, Gov. Reed announced. Reed accepted the resignation and commended Judge Eames, saying "He has exemplified the highest traditions of the Judicial Court Branch of Government." The Judge said his action was prompted by the increasing demands on the Skowhegan Court area. Under the District Court act no associate judge may be named to serve until a district court is created. Reed did not indicate whether he plans to appoint a substitute for Eames.

Mrs. Arthur Christenson of Milton announces the engagement of her daughter Miss Joan Louise Christenson, to Mr. Stanley Baker Eames of Washington DC, son of Judge and Mrs. Clayton Eames of Skowhegan, Maine. Miss Christenson was graduated from Boston University school of journalism and college of Practical Arts and Letters, and is a member of Alpha Theta Phi national fraternity and of the Longwood Cricket Club. She is a public information director for the Mass. Heart Association. Mr. Eames, a former Boston Herald writer and war correspondent in Viet Nam, was medical writer for the Mass. Heart Association. In January he was appointed to Public Information Director of the Environmental Science Services Administration U S Dept. of Commerce.

L P Waddington, owner of Waddington's Inc. Skowhegan photographic Studio, has opened a new branch studio in Bingham. The new Bingham studio is located in the Pierce block, where the Boutin Studio was formerly located. The new branch studio was opened last Saturday and is in charge of Stanley Eames of Bingham, son of County Attorney Clayton E. Eames. Mr. Waddington will spend one day each week in his Bingham studio to take care of sittings and other special work. The Bingham studio will handle their regular line of film finishing offering daily service, also picture framing. In addition to this the studio will carry a line of greeting cards for all occasions.

The Upper Kennebec Valley is soon to have a new weekly newspaper. With the announcement of first publication on September 23, the Somerset County Leader will come into being. It will be published in Bingham by Cheslter W. Hammond, formerly proprietor of the Bingham Press, and Charles V. Kilmire, for the past 18 years connected with city dailies. The Somerset County Leader will occupy the same quarters formerly occupied by the Bingham Press.

For those who don't know Stanley Eames of the Boston Herald was one of the Boston reporters honored for outstanding work during the 1965 and in competition for the Sevellon Brown Memorial Award for "distinguished and meritorious public service". A native of Skowhegan, His son and namesake is a member of the K J staff and a senior at the University of Maine.

Orono, Maine May 20, 1965 - The Maine Campus - Newsman Eames gives first hand report of Viet Nam situation at 18th Press Day -- A Boston Herald staff writer painted a grim picture of the war in South Viet Nam last week, but told 50 students and newsmen that an American pullout from the strife torn nation would be disastrous.

Stanley B. Eames, addressing the 18th annual Press Day here, said: "If we leave there now, we'll be all through in the Far East." He said the United States is losing badly on the ground and will continue while American troops are advisors and not in actual command. He predicted a step up of the Viet Cong ground activity now that the monsoon has set in. "The rain will cripple our successful air strikes and the Mekong Delta will erupt again." he added. Eames termed Viet Nam "the world's worst place for Western troops to fight a war", adding, "We're trying to win an Oriental war with a western mind." Eames said the U S Department of State is "pitifully fearful of antagonizing our allies" but, he said, "no one loves us anyway." Eames advotated that Americans take actual command of military operations. "That way we can stablize the war and cut down the amount of money, supplies and troops flowing into the country." Eames, winner of the Sevellon Brown Award given by the Asso. Press, was in South Viet Nam for three months last spring, interviewing New England servicemen. He lauded the Americans fighting there. "Some people who would have us pull out to save American lives don't realize that these men are professionals, doing a tremendous job. The soldiers I talked with think we should stay there, but not as mere advisors." When asked to comment on the weekend teach-ins and teach-ins generally, he said the idea is professor-inspired. He added drily, "Remember, it's spring, maybe this is the professors equivalent of a panty raid." Earlier in the day, Raymond Siegler, City Editor of the Daily Kennebec Journal, and Henry Gosselin, Editor of the Somerset Reporter, discussed and critized the Maine Campus. A dinner preceded Eames Speech.

Bangor Daily News Monday, May 17, 1965 - Western Mind seen No Help in Oriental Viet Nam War. By Bob Drew - Orono - A grim picture of the war in Viet Nam and a glimpse into internal problems of that strife-torn Far East nation was given here Friday evening by a noted New England newspaperman. Stanley Eames of the Boston Herald, who was in Viet Nam only a few months ago told a University of Maine Newspaper Day gathering that "We are losing ground, and we are still losing badly." He declared "We are trying to win an Oriental War with a western mind." He added, "Regardless of how much we put in there-men, machines-we are still losing. It is the world's worst place for western troops to fight a war." The writer pointed out that Americans were in Viet Nam as advisors, but actually the U S Advisors were doing more, man for man, than the Vietnamese themselves. It is the internal problems of the country itself which causes much of the difficulty, he said, there is a bitter enmity between the Catholics and the Buddists in the country to complicate things the Buddists are split into about 20 sects and they in turn hate each other, the speaker declared. He described several changes in the government which have occured and said "somebody is always hatching a plot. Saigon is full of intrigue. The people don't know from one day to the next who the boss is or who is to be boss tomorrow." Eames said that the war in the small country is not entirely inspired by North Viet Nam or the Chinese. He said a good many people in South Viet Nam and many in the armed forces of that country are terrified "which doesn't help." He said that the Vietnamese "are not in any hurry to end the war. We are pouring $2 million a day into that small country." Graft among some of the Vietnamese is one of the problems, particularly among lesser commanders of field forces, he declared. "we are trying to run it honestly. Forget it, it can't be done." Eames declared that the Viet Cong has motivation in the war while the Vietnamese has little. "There is a lot more sentiment for the Viet Cong in the south than we like to admit." He noted that the operations of the Viet Cong are growing and he declared "The Viet Cong are among the finest guerrillas in the world." "They are peasants by day and fight by night", he added. Eames predicted that the rainy season now on the country will cripple air power, and the "Mekong Delta will erupt again." The writer, who interviewed many New England and Maine servicemen while in the nation for several months last fall, said American soldiers are "good, uncomplaining and sacrificial. They get paid to get shot at and they think it's all in a day's work." He cited instances and actions of several Maine Military personal, some of them University of Maine graduates. Among them were Norman St.Peter of Portage Lake, Robert Bower of Brewer, Aubrey Haines of Thomaston, Don Lord of Bethel, Wesley Hoch of Rockland, Roger Gauvin or Caribou, George Garland of Bangor, and Joseph Belanger of Bingham. Eames said that in his opinion the State Department of the United States is "pitifully fearful of antagnoizing our allies" but he added he couldn't follow this line of reasoning because "no one loves us anyway." He said he had no solutions to the problems but he warned "if we pull out of this war, we are done in the East." During a question and answer period which followed, Eames said the war on the ground was not going to be won until the Vietnamese themselves could be reconstituted with the motivation to win. He said some motivation might come from winning, but he said it was a civil war between two factions in the country and it was their way to fight.  The speaker was introduced by Stanley H. Eames, president of the student Press Club, and son of the newspaperman. During the afternoon session a critique was held of the student newspaper at the University, the Maine Campus, conducted by Raymond Siegler of the Kennebec Journal of Augusta, and Henry Gosselin of the Somerset Reporter at Skowhegan.

Dill's Pickle - We recently reported that Dr. Robert Dill, an important scientist in the Commerce Department's Manned Underseas Science and Technology office, was heavily involved with a company that furnishes his agency with midget submarines. After the story had gone out STAN EAMES, a government press agent, called to demand that we kill the story. When we refused, he yelled into the phone: "We'll be there in 20 minutes! Stay where you are." A bit later, he trooped in with a whole delegation from the agency, including Dr. Dill and then legal counsel Raud Johnson. They demanded to see a copy of the story, which we showed them. They even told us about two scientists who were minor stockholders in the company that produces midget submarines. All three have now divested themselves of the stock and Dr. Dill has been removed from the program. 1973

*The Hoag Family -- A John Hoag of Edinbourough, Scotland, a tailor, was a direct descendant of the famous poet James Hoag. His son Richard Hoag (1845-1924) went to County Caven, Ireland to become game keeper on the estate of Lloyd Farnham. Here he met Mary Carroll (1845-1921) and married her; she the daughter of Walter and Ann Carroll of County Caven. Mary was born and raised on her father's farm with her sisters Ellen and Ann. The father read the Bible each morning at eleven o'clock after the family was served a refresher of potatoes with butter and cream. As a consequence Mary was thoroughly acquainted with the Bible. Richard and Mary Hoag lived in New York City except for three years when they lived in the Masonic House in Almira, New York where they died. They are buried in Almira Masonic Cemetery, Almira, New York. They had five children; one of whom was John Henry Hoag. See above. family rec.

Jim Bishop, in his column August 20, 1975 said "To put the bomb in proper perspective one has to go back to the spring of 1945. Italy had collapsed, Germany was fighting with paper armies, Imperial Japan had been defeated by MacArthur in successive engagements up the island chain, the Japanese fleet had been defeated at Surgical Straight. War secretary Henry J. Stimpson, accompanies by Gen. George C. Marshall, displayed a huge map of Japan to President Roosevelt. It was called "Operation Olympic". It depicted the final battles on the Japanese mainlands. Cost: one million American casualties. The Americans had three atom bombs - one was tested at Alamogordo, New Mexico. Two were reserved for operational targets at Japan, each target was a Japanese headquarters."

An article from series Mortgage Manor by Nancy Eames: Kennebec Journal.
"There's upheaval upstairs in the second bedroom since we returned from Washington. The guest room we never got around to making habitable for real guests is metomorphising into a nursery (am I really using that outdated term). This is one of two rooms that have remained more or less in their natural state since we bought the house last June. The other is the den, all the paraphenalia that room will eventually house is stored in the guest room, naturally, and naturally, the room we want to tackle first is the guest room. It's no dilemma really - I'm sure it's possible to work around six cartons of books, a box of old prints, a wedding gown, wall papering table, coffee table, and fragile china and glassware, somehow. One of the two beds that we managed to find refuge there was safely back in my mother-in-laws attic when she suggested we keep one for those nights when it's easier or necessary to remain right with the baby. A great idea if you have space or even if you don't. For the first time we advocates of sleeping in the cold have to think about putting heat upstairs. Our expert in charge of heating, wiring, plumbing and you name it says it will be a chinese puzzel of 1000 pieces. The dog who once reclined from a blanket covered basket at the foot of the big size bed, has been banished to the downstairs region much to his wonderment and indignation. General principle and no other good reason prompted this action. The crowning insult came the other morning when our only alarm clock and second only alarm clock, resting on the lamp table in our living room, rang suddenly to life in his ear and sent him cowering to the foot of the stairs for reassurance. This is the same dear beast who is the bann of all of us and a local librarian, an avarious fancier of the literary, devours several books a week, one librarian suggested we take the costly fines from his weekly allowence. Notice came last week of an about-to-be departed dear friend. That monstrous pink bath tub we got on sale last summer and which graced our back yard all winter long, is too big for our modest bath room and will have to go. One of those square things with the tub set in place diagonally will take its place. Actually while this will cause a delay in the remodeling procedure, it also will solve some perplexing problems like how to avoid pink color scheme though stuck with a pink tub. Now I won't have to plant my marigolds around the tub to camoflage it while out doors. How come every day cleaning chores always seem to get in the way of those more interesting spring cleaning rites? Every time I want to antique the kitchen table, there's the kitchen floor with it's dirty bare face hanging out. Maybe girls who are home all day don't have this problem. There are mystery guests in the garden these days. They're green and they're not weeds, the mystery is how they managed to survive our tearing them out last fall in a fit of passion for evergreen shrubs. They even grew under the tar paper we put around the granite foundation, although these latter look kind of stunted. It will be interesting to see how they fare. Salad days (the eating kind at least) are rounding the corner, and wouldn't it be nice if some imaginative and sympathetic producer would bring prepackaged chef's fixings to the market."

Article by Stanley Eames Kennebec Journal - staff corner:
"She's here, folks! The most beautiful little girl in the world is a shade over three months now! Her name is Wendy Melissa and, praise to Allah, she's my daughter. There's nothing sillier in this world than a doting father over his first child; especially if the first child happens to be a girl. There are so many first to remember, even this young. Bringing her home from the hospital, her first try at the strained mash called baby food. and can there be anything lovilier than your daughter's first smile? It is a rhetorical question that really answers itself, nosireeee! You've got thru nine months of pregnancy, suffering almost as much as your wife. You've taken your wife to the hospital and into this world pops Wendy. Looking at her objectively, you know that she's no different from any other little girl. She's red all over, she squalls frequently, sounding more and more like a scalded alley cat, and she doesn't look like any other in the family. Put these plebian thoughts aside, she's your daughter, your first born. The light of your bloomin' life. Then, though, when she comes home, wrapped in swaddling clothes (to steal a little from one of our most quoted authors) the shakedown cruise begins. In these two days you and your wife learn what it's really like - the two AM feeding, the six AM feedings, the wet diapers, the unpacifiable crying jag. Wife Nancy says, "But she's not supposed to cry. The book says (an assemblege of thots by a convicted baby Doctor) says she shouldn't." You reply, "She's just exercising her lungs, Dear. She needs exercise somehow." And you feel superior. Then it's your turn to change Wendy, bless her little heart. She squirms, cries, shrieks, and in general shows her dislike for you. Confused, you step back, cock your head to one side and prepare to vent your emotions with a matching shriek. Nancy steps in deftly, does the deed, and Wendy coos, gurgles, and other signs of delight. "It helps," says wife in a lofty tone, "to warm your hands after you have been out of doors shoveling snow." Father dotes on daughter. It's an established fact but sometimes even he can be topped in this department - usually by the grandparents. Wendy's grandmother practically did an Irish jig when she heard the news. Comes Christmas and a visit to Grandmother's who had seen Wendy just a month before. The parents walked in the door loaded with the various accoutrements that must be carried when traveling with a baby. Grandmother took Wendy almost forcibly from Nancy's arms and assured herself, through a conversation that only the two of them could fashion, that Wendy is living off the fat of the land. Ten minutes later - "Mother, I know she's your first grandchild but can't you even say hello to us?" (Grandmothers are like that) Every parent knows deep down in his soul that his children is-are the most beautiful or handsome in the world. I however know that my daughter is perfect. Oh, there may be a few scratches on the mold of perfection, she may cry a bit, mess her diapers, spit up the soupy meat and vegetables she must eat. That's all a part of the fun, believe it or not. Wendy Melissa is a sheer delight. All she's got to do to break this heart of stone is smile once and I'm lost."

Kennebec Journal Staff Corner by Stan Eames - Hey World
Lo! She's a person--after nearly ten months of just lying there, cooing, gurgling and taking advantage of my better nature, my daughter has decided to take a giant leap from infancy to real, live babyhood. She has in the last month or so decided to creep, stand up, develop a temper when crossed, feed herself after a fashion, and discover that it's fun to use her two and a half teeth on Daddy's fingers. Wendy's our first child and she's generally a happy little girl, but she seems to have inherited a temper from both sides of the family. It's not that she's bratty, but when you try to cross her, she makes little Ivan The Terrible look like a Junior grade scout. She has definite ideas (not many but enuf) about what she wants to eat, what, how she wants you to treat her. Right not it's difficult to hide a smile, in some cases, an uproarious laugh when she starts affirming her "rights". But when you step in to spank a hand or pick her up as she heads for her mother's floor level kitchen cabinets full of recipe books, Wendy emits a long, angry yowl similar to that of an alley cat denied scraps of garbage. And I've never seen a creature so fast on hands and knees as Wendy does. And she does it when you least expect it. As the eldest child of eight children, I thought I knew all the tricks babies know. It does not work that way, unfortunately, Wendy's feints and drives to the goal are worthy of O J Simpson's best days, and she's shiftier on all fours than Gale Sayerts of the Chicago Bears is on two feet. (Maybe it's the low level purchase of gravity.) Take for instance, her soon to be famous drive on the family hound TJ. He's scared witless of this little girl. She pulls, she gauges, and maims him when ever he's stupid enough to lie down and not keep one eye for her approach. Wendy started her move by starting at her mother, who was seated across from the dog. Then she, Wendy, started creeping on a beeline for Mommy. Quick as a flash, she spun around and almost flew at the dog, who, noticing that the baby had started in the opposite direction, had shut his eyes. Just as she finished her approach and had poised for the spring, TJ opened his eyes and, to late, started to streak away. Wendy grabbed at his tail as he flew past, caught it somehow and pulled him to a screeching halt, whereupon TJ spun round, sending Wendy rolling across the room and she came to rest against her play pen. She laughed about that for ten minutes off and on while the dog cowered in the den under my desk. As far as that dog is concerned Wendy is Killer Kawalski or Gorgeous George, and the Spanish Inquisition all rolled up in one twenty pound bundle of anesthema. Like all babies she's got an insatiable curiosity. What she wonders, lies over the next hill? What'll happen if you pull that funny cord plugged into the wall? Not now. When she gets close to trouble it's "Wendy Melissa, get away from there. Come get this toy or come to Daddy." She's considered it for possible five seconds and goes right back for more to the plug or the toaster or the dog or the lower doors of the hutch where our good china is stored. But all she has to do is smile, right now, and most everything is forgiven. God help us if she remains as pretty when she gets older and is running around while we follow on her heels, hoping we'll catch her before she gets to the road or near the record player or my desk. But Lordie, we love that child!

Hallowell Briefs - Kennebec Journal, Augusta - "Peter Eames, son of Mrs. Harold MacFarland, 7 Lincoln Street, left Tuesday for training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas." The family gathered at Augusta Airport to "see Peter off to War". After six weeks of training at Lackland A F Base he was sent to Viet Nam, his work teaching English to Vietnamese officers.
The following pages include letters from Peter Eames from Viet Nam:

1969 - Lackland Air Force Base, Lackland Military Training Center -
Dear Nancy and Stan: Well, things are really starting to move here. This next week is going to be very important to me since this is the week of evaluation. In order to graduate from basic training we all have to pass an evaluation on first aid, academic subjects, PC (which is the dreaded physical conditioning), drill and qualification on the M 16 automatic rifle. The latter is really the least of my worries, I found out last week, when I was chosen to be the instructor-coach to another flight of basics during their dry-fire practice. Dry fire simulates actual firing for qualification on the M 16, eccept live ammunition is not used. I qualified as expert in the dry-fire when we took it with 60 out of 60 shots. They are measured by light beams from the rifles and photo-electric cells on the targets. Unfortunately, dry-fire is neither recorded on our records nor in any way officially recognized. Monday morning we are tortured on what I called the "confidence course, a painfully thinly disquised obstacle course. A sample of the pleasure found there are a simulated mine-field, with powder charges in steel drums going off all around us; three, count them, 55-60 foot cliffs and walls which are climbed by ropes; and the ultimate pleasure known quite graphically and accurately the "Belly buster" the thought of which causes me to withhold further comment.

1969 - Headquarters, United States Military Assistance Command, Vietnam A P O San Francisco 96222 -
Hello to all, Business is as usual over here in Paris East. I am working a new work-week, one to six thirty, six days a week. I am at Shirlee's apartment this morning, she has gone to work. (NOTE: Shirley Cochrane Eames was the second wife of Peter's father, Stanley Eames. She also trained at Texas A F Base and went to Viet Nam.) I have a day off this week because I worked at Headquarters last Sunday. I take my promotion fitness test on Sunday the 28th. I hope to make Sergeant soon. (I will not be a clerk typist as you can well guess.) Ever since I have been here I have been teaching the Elementary phase of the language course, and I like it quite well. It gives me more of a sense of accomplishment than teaching the higher levels, because when the students enter the school they do not speak any English at all; and when they leave my class they at least speak what can be recognized with little trouble, as English. The facilities of our schools leave much to be desired. I teach in a building housing eight classrooms. The building is made of galvanized tin, with a tin roof. It is something like teaching in an oven. There are no fans, and no screens on the windows. Our language lab facilities are quite good, since the equipment must be kept cool, so the room is air cooled. The lab equipment is of good quality. We have a seventy-position set-up, with a master recorder-bank from which we can monitor the individual positions. The students also have individual console-type recorders, so they can play back tape and thus hear their mistakes. The living conditions that the V M Air Force provides for the students would be considered unlivable in the States, but are much better than what many of them are accostumed to here in Vietnam. They live in tents, US Army issue, which would be considered suitable for perhaps 10 US soldiers in the field. There are 20 students living in each tent. They sleep on table-like affairs. They are not assigned any type of blanket or mattress. They are assigned a two foot by six foot section of these tables in which to sleep, keep their personal belongings, study or sit. There are no chairs. There is no provision for recreation. Their food is prepared in an up-to-date mess hall, but the food is sub-standard and in small quantities. They must pay for the food. It costs about 1500.00 ($12) a month. They are paid about 3000.00 per month. Many of them have families to support out of this money. Their morale is quite high, however, and it is a real pleasure to teach them, because they as, as a whole, thoughtful, respectful, sensitive people. Enough about that subject. I am happy over here, and will probably extend my tour of duty over here. Even if I do, I willbe home for thirty days or so about the beginning of next September. I have made many friends with the Vietnamese people and aside from the occasional bout with home-sickness am in good spirits. I find that I will not be able to increase my allotment until my next promotion comes along. Saigon is an expensive city to live in. I have grown very fond of French food while I have been here, but cannot as much yet accept or stomach the Vietnamese food. This is very unfortunate since we all receive frequent invitations to dinners at the homes of the students and it is a very gross insult to turn down an invitation. It is even worse form not to eat much when you are dinnering at the home of a Vietnamese, so the incidence of indigestion and other such ailments is exceptionally high among the teachers every Monday morning. They do eat some very strange things here. One of the most notable is a strange combination of chicken heads, well cooked, and pork uncooked, I tell my host, when this delicacy is placed before me, that my religion, Doctor, and conscience all demand that I do not eat this food so they are not insulted when I do not partake. I use the same ploy when dog, a favorite of the locals, is placed before me. I am gaining weight like crazy here on the fattening French food, and filling mess hall food. The temperature in Saigon is quite pleasant, ranging from 65 and 75 degrees all the time. I do not envy you your snow and cold at all. I can't thank you enuf for the newspapers. I really do appreciate them. And thank you, Gram, for the letters that you send. I know that I don't deserve them, since I never answer them, but you can't guess how much I look forward to getting them.

Merry Christmas to all Love Pete

Dear Gram and Gramp: I live in a room 6 floors up in the St. George Hotel with an army private for a room mate. The hotel is in the chinese section of Saigon, called Cholon. Cholon means "market" in Vietnamese. At first the smell was bad but now I don't even notice it. The same goes for the sound of the four generators located just beyond the courtyard which my window overlooks. We have twenty minute bus ride from here to the school I teach at, Koolper Compound, which is the name of the school, is vaguely reminiscent of an all male American high school as I imagine they were many years ago. The students attend schools in two shifts. I teach in the AM shift - 7:30 to 12:30. The school is quite old. The rooms are very small, perhaps 12 by 12'. These are an average of 10 students per room, which gives me an excellent student-teacher ratio. The school has seven floors in the main building. At Koelper there are approximately 1700 students. I believe that there is a good chance that I will start teaching English at Saigon U with a couple months during the evenings. The University can be easily compared with the U Mass. at Amherst - it's beautiful. Saigon is a nice city - if filthy- and the Vietnamese are wonderful. I am becoming quite proficient at the art of eating with chop sticks. I am developing many friendships with the Vietnamese and have come to the conclusion that a middle class Vietnamese and a middle class anything else are about the same after one gets to know them. I haven't had a chance to do too much else here but brush up on my lessons, but am sufficiently ahead of them now to start exploring the area soon. I went out to TenSon Nhut Air Force Base and put my name on a list for voluntary observors on helicopter trips. The list is so full it will probably be some time before I get to go on a trip. This observer job is merely a legitimate way that the helicopter pilots can give rides to people who would otherwise not have a chance to ride one of the beasts. While I was in San Francisco three days I got a chance to spend two days in town, so I saw Chinatown and the cable cars, which was something I'd wanted to do for a long time. The flight over was very tedious, 22 hours in the air. We flew Brannif International Airlines all the way with short stops in Honolulu, Guam and the Phillipines. Contrary to my belief, we are one day ahead of you in time here. I left California late Thursday and arrived here Saturday morning. Love Pete

Dear Gram and Gramp: Tonight is Tet, the first night, the V N version of New Years Day. Previous to the war it was not common for them to suspend all work for 30 days, and just celebrate. Now it is a 3 day affair. There are some very strict customs about Tet that are observed by all but the most negligent - some of them are: all debts must be paid, everyone must have and wear new clothes, people must be in their homes at 12:00 midnight and if possible Tet Eve, houses must be clean and if possible painted, noone may venture forth from their homes between 12 midnight on Tet Eve and noon of the first day of Tet. The first guest to enter one's home on the first day of Tet is supposed to be indicative of the household's fate during the next year. If a rich person enters the home first the family will have plenty of money that year, if a healthy person the family will be healthy, etc. For this reason a healthy person is invited to the house first and all others who may come to call before he arrives are discouraged and sometimes rudely. At midnight of Tet firecrackers are fired inside the house to scare away the ghost of the old year and welcome the guest of the new year. No business is conducted during Tet and even taxis do not run and restaurants closed and bars closed. Tet is the time for people to be happy and carefree. I am all for that for goodness knows they have little to be happy for and carefree in the recent past and the foreseeable future. I am being closely tied in with the local culture. Together with another instructor I have rented a house on Ngyen Huhnh Duc (Nwin Hwin Dock) Street in the Phu Nhuan section of Saigon, a short 15 minute walk from my school. We are living almost entirely on the local economy. I have even acquired some small facility with the Dua as we natives call chop sticks. Love Pete

Dear Gram and Gramp: Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to you. I have again been to Vung Tau, this time for six weeks, to run the language there. I have spent more time there than I have here in the main school of Saigon. After Tet the school will go on an all day schedule, with time off for the Vietnamese version of the Siesta. I am not really looking forward to that. I'm taking a week long vacation next week. I plan to go either to Bangkok or Hong Kong probably in June or May, for my out of country vacation. Next week of all places to Vung Tau. I have been to Vung Tau for two weeks and there is no mail system there. It is an army rest and recuperation center (CNV Army that is) I was teaching a group of former VCs the army basic rudiments of the English language. They will be the "Kit Carson Scouts" whose job will be to guide South VN and American troops to caches and what not. My address now is: Sgt. Peter C. Eames F R 006487929 Adv. T M " 62 (A F L S) Box 164 R P O S F 96309. I am now at a new school in Saigon. The several schools in the Saigon area have been consolidated into one big school. There are about 3000 students per shift. 6000 per day. I am teaching in the afternoon 1-6 PM. I am living in MACV (Military Advisory Command Vietnam) annex. Very safe here. Saigon was placed off limits today until August 31 to play down the US Military presence during the VN congressional elections. I got word today that I will be promoted to Staff Sargent some time before January 1972. I am hoping for November. I have met almost all of my old Vietnamese friends since I have been here. It's really good to be back here. Nothing has changed much. Shirlee has decided to stay here and I have extended my tour of duty either 6 months or a year. I will still have a leave at home for 30 days perhaps in July or August. I am tutoring two families in English in school I am no longer teaching the elementary level, I have been moved to the airplane and mechanical terminology and theory. It is quite a jump from elementary. I want to buy a Honda and have been taking riding lessons. I feel I need once since it costs me so much to take a taxi from my house to the first family I tutor, another taxi to the second family house, another back to my house, and finally one to school. It is too far to walk to these places except for school, but I will be late if I don't take one there. This costs me about 9000 piasters a month, or about 80 dollars. Shirlee has given me $100 toward the Honda, but I need $175 more. In Vietnam the government has levied a 300% tax on motorcycles for the Nationals, the resale value of a 1 year old Honda is approximately $400, so I will get my money back easily. A Honda like this is not dangerous to ride, it is very small and has only about 2 horsepower. I can order it direct from Japan at a good savings. Americans do not have to pay the austerity tax. Insurance is mandatory as is the wearing of a safety helmet. It takes about five weeks for delivery. Love Pete

Dear Everyone: Every thing is as always here, hot and wet. I get my extension papers back this week, disapproved. It is entirely possible that I will get a curtailment instead - to some time in July. This is entirely tentative, I will write later to let you know for sure. I am going to miss this country and its people. I will get my third stripe the first of September, this is certainly no record, but it is much faster than usual. I have a chance to fly on a bombing mission into Cambodia sometime this month with one of my former students. I think I will probably go. The University students here are much like the students in the late sixties in the US. Their demonstrations are becoming increasingly violent, and have lately become directed at times against the US. They don't seem to realize that if the Americans had not come to Vietnam, that they would be under VC control and not able to demonstrate at all. I think that that is an astonishing lack of gratitude. They all wear American clothes, smoke American cigarettes, and have absorbed American customs into their everyday lives while they mouth anti-American slogans. They want freedom, but they want it free. They do not realize that there is always a price to pay for all the things that are worth having. It almost makes one wonder, "why are we here"; that is, until I rember that they are a very minute minority and I look around me and see, and think of all the people who I have come to know who tell me that they are really thankful to the American people for giving them a chance to live in freedom.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to you. The message is, I realize, very belated but nevertheless sincere. A very belated happy birthday to you, Gram. I trust you will have a good thirty more. Thank you very much for the gifts for Christmas, especially for the Time and KJ subscriptions. I have not yet got a copy of Time over here even tho I filled out their little form, carefully pasting my address label in the box as indicated, and following it up with two nasty letters when I still didn't receive the magazine. I am referring to the previous subscription. There is little news from the battle front here. I have again been to Vung Tau, this time for six weeks to run the language lab down there. I have spent more time there than I have here in the main school of Saigon. Christmas eve was exceedingly dull for me, through my own slothfulness. I Had been invited to a party that I very much wanted to attend, but a two hour catnap turned into an all-night affair and I missed the party. New Year's Eve was exciting for me as only a holiday in Saigon can be. It was estimated by the newspapers that more than two million people were jammed in the streets in a Times Square sot of thing. I believe it! I didn't think there were so many people in VietNam as I bumped into that night. And this for a holiday that has no significance to the Vietnamese. Their New Year, Tet, comes this year on February 14. The celebration can last anywhere from 3 to 10 days. According to Vietnamese custom, Tet is the birthday for all the Vietnamese people, so they have a party of spectacular proportions. After Tet, the school will go on an all-day schedule, with time off for the Vietnamese version of the Siesta. I am not looking forward to that. I'm taking a vacation to (of all places) Vung Tau. I plan to go to either Bangkok or Hong Kong probably in May or June for my out of ordinary vacation. That's about all I can think of to say. I will be truthful rather than optimistic and say I don't know when I'll write again. The best laid plans of mice and men gang aft aglay etc. Love Pete

Dear Gramp: Nothing is happening here. School hasn't started yet, but I am busy as a one armed paper hanger getting books and working on the recruitment of new students for the school. Many of our old students were displaced from their homes by the offensive, and many of them are now in areas that are VC controlled. We have been scouting through the refugee camps looking for some of them and are trying to get some new ones to replace the ones who have probably been drafted into work battallions by the VC. Thanks for helping me when I was home.

Dear Mr. Eames: On behalf of the Board of Director of the Vietnamese-American Association of Danang, I sincerely want to thank you for the service you have rendered to this organization and to the community of DaNang. You have been an instructor at the VAA English teaching school for the past four months, and during that time you have worked hard and conscientiously in the classroom. Your job has not been easy. I certainly realize that it is not easy to spend several hours teaching English in the evening after having spent a full day working. In addition to what you have accomplished in the classroom by teaching English to some of the residents of DaNang, you have helped foster better relations and greater understanding between Vietnamese and Americans.
Sincerely yours Nguyen Ngic Ky - Director of courses

"The above is a record of stones at St. Patricks cemetery, Stoneham, Mass. Our grandfather William O. Duplin was a teamster and drove from Boston to Stoneham, Mass. Believe he was born in HamSud, Quebec which is about 50 miles from Sherbrokke, Quebec.
I took a trip with Grand Uncle Victor Duplin of South Weymouth, Mass. to his relatives in Quebec in the fall of 1927. We first stopped at Antonio Duplin's just north of Sherbrooke Stoke, Quebec. He had a lumber mill here. Uncle Victor's sister was living with Antonio Duplin and wife. They had no children. We visited the Oscar Duplin family at Walten, Quebec. They were farmers. Believe his name was Oscar Duplin. They had two daughters. Finally visited cousins at HamSud (SouthHam). Relatives still owned the family home where Uncle Victor Duplin and Grampa Duplin were born. The church was diagonally across the street from their home. The Lamareau family were the town clerk's office. I did not get any further information. Took Uncle Victor's picture with his sister and Antonio Duplin and with his family, also photo with church in background at HamSud before we left to return to North Conway, NH. Tears were flowing down Uncle Victor's cheeks. He was a shoemaker. His hobby was racing, he belonged to the "Gentlemen Riding Club" in South Weymouth. They had races every Saturday PM at the track in South Weymouth.

Harold's wife, Katherine Duplin, still lives in Manchester, NH, some of her folks recently visited HamSud and may have more information on the family. I do not have the date when they imigrated to the United States. In those days there was no formal customs at Canada-US border and our folks may have come over without any specific migration papers. Uncle Victor Duplin carried a card from S. Weymouth club office that he was a resident and registered Victor in S. Weymouth and no questions were asked at border. The town where Antonio Duplin lived now is "Duplin" Quebec according to the recent Mayor.

Grampa Duplin (William) and his wife Matilda Morin Duplin had 3 sons and a daughter: Uncle William Duplin of Stoneham
Victor Duplin of Stoneham
Henry Duplin
Aunt Cora Duplin Skulley of Wakefield

Uncle Bill married Maude Bryant of Stoneham and they had two daughters:
Doris Duplin and Geraldine Duplin

The general area of Quebec, north of Sherbrokke is mostly farming. The Asberton mines were developed northeast of HamSud and there is a town known as Asberton. The John Manville Co. has holdings and mines there. Many of the folks working in the Asberton mines developed lung trouble called Asbertonir which is similarly like silicosis - caused by particles lodging in the lungs. Fortunately our folks did not work there. But some of our relatives could have been employed there.

Victor Duplin of Stoneham, Mass., announces the engagement of his daughter, Irma Alice Duplin to Russell Webber Patten. Sgt. Patten is stationed on the Alaskan highway. Miss Duplin is on the faculty of Dorchester High School. No date has been set for the wedding.
Lived: Hermon, Maine - he bought the Frank Prescott farm on the Billings Road which adjoined the farm of his father Russell Patten, and opposite the village school. In 1974 he sold this farm and moved to the old homestead with his brother Lincoln on the Richard Patten place, both being the fourth generation to live there. Lincoln had always lived there.
Children: Russell

Webber attended the village school at Hermon Corner, Billings Road, graduated from Bangor High School 1923. He worked for a time at Stone's Express in Boston then went to Clarksburg, California to work on the ranch of Gus Olson. Here he met all the relatives of his grandfather Chesley Webber whose sister and brother had settled there. These sisters were Angelette and Hannah Webber and brother Daniel. He then came home to the old homestead to live for a time to farm with his brother Lincoln. At this time he bought the farm adjoining. He farmed and had cattle but because of asthma he had to give this up. So built an insurance business in which he became very successful for a number of years. Finally he sold this business to his son Russell in 1969.
Service record: US Army - Stationed in Alaska where he drove a huge supply truck at night over corduroy roads without lights. Here he had an accident and after recuperating he was stationed on ambulance trains in the United States. While in Alaska he shot a bear which required four men to carry a hind quarter back to camp. He also experienced a land slide.

Farewell Party - Webber Patten of Hermon was guest of honor at a farewell party recently given by Mr. and Mrs. Judson Lord. A social hour was enjoyed by playing cards and games, followed by refreshments. As a token of friendship and esteem in which he is held in this community, Mr. Patten was presented with a wrist watch. The following were present at the party: Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. Merton Hillman, Mr. and Mrs. George Violette, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Atkins, Mr. and Mrs. Judson Lord, Mrs. Montford Patten, Mrs. Rita Lord, Mrs. Tena Felker, Mrs. Evangeline Lord, Mrs. Marion Webber, Mrs. Bertha Myers, Mrs. Ruth Patten, Miss Barbara Hood, Monita and Joyce Lord, Lincoln Patten, Claude Kimball, Merrill Carter, Durwood Hillman, William Murphy. Mr. Patten entered the service Friday morning and is at Camp Devons, Mass.

Health record: Asthma, Hernia operation, gall stone operation and other illnesses.

Irma taught school at Dorchester, Mass. School for Girls. After marriage she taught at Hermon High School and Old Town School. She was president of the American Legion Auxillary of Hermon and was a member of the garden club.

Bangor Daily News, Bangor, Maine - The new member of the Old Town Jr. High School will be Mrs. Irma Patten who will teach science and music in place of Mrs. Frances Hartgen who resigned in June of this year. Mrs. Patten is a graduate of Boston University and has a master's degree from Boston Teachers College. She has twenty-five years of teaching experience, ten of which were spent in Dorchester, Mass. High School. Mrs. Patten is a resident of Hermon.

From the Mutual Observor-NH-Concord Feb. 1958 - Highly honored at the last summer sales conference at the Waumbak Hotel in Jefferson was our Maine agent, Russell W. Patten, who with Irma Patten runs the Bangor, Patten Agency. Here he received a gold watch from George Walker, Concord, NH, President and manager of the company, honoring him for an outstanding job well done in 1961, checking on youthful drivers and making sure that only the deserving get protection from our Mutual. We think Russell was about the most surprised man in the hall. But as President Walker explained, it will be the custom, henceforth, to make especial awards to employees registering outstanding merin in most any department. The agents gave Russell a real ovation.

From the Mutual Observor, Concord, NH February 1958 - Maine has really some live wire agents at work, and continuing to set the pace in total coverage on the book is that hard working, hustling, beaver trapper, Harry A. Munsey of Auburn --- Holding second place honors for total fire coverage is Russell W. Patten Agency of Bangor, at right. (Picture) He is well over his millionth and is heading for the second.

From the Mutual Observor, Concord, NH November 1961
Russell Patten, Bangor, highly honored, has exceptional record in handling young driver problems. Part of article--
Because the young driver problem has become the No. 1 problem of our time, and because a promenent and veteran Maine agent has made such excellent record in meeting this problem head on in his territory, our company singled out Russell Patten of Bangor, and at the Jefferson conference presented him with a gold wrist watch for a job well done. The presentation was made by President Walker, with the banquet audience giving Mr. Patten a well deserved hand. In honoring Mr. Patten, manager Walker delved into youth action on the highways. He said, "The saddest of all statistics assembled by the National Safety Council is the motor car death toll among the youth. More than 9000 young people between the ages of 15 and 25 met death this year 1960. The death toll tells only part of the shocking story. Drivers under 25 years of age were involved in more than 5,000,000 accidents in that year. It is with considerable pleasure that we have singled out an agent in our group who has excellent work in talking safety in talking to the young people in this area. This agent has held many a Kitchen conference with their parents and local law officers.

Roger McGown was in business with his father and brother, a grocery store, in Carmel village, and Roger worked with his father in a barrel business in Carmel also. The tools of the barrel shop went to a museum in New Hampshire given by his daughter Mrs. Eula Littlefield. Roger was a great basketball player and baseball player at Maine Central Institute, Pittsfield, and in town games afterward. He loved fishing, hunting and took his boy Roger with him. The equipment was given to his grandson Jay after he died. Roger and Annie Mabel had a trailer and traveled extensively over the country, to the west and the south. They loved to dance and won many prizes for the waltz. They had a fine family life with their children. A son in law said of them: "I would like to have my children brought up the way Barbara was." Barbara was Mrs. Clayton Oldenburg. Annie Mable (Patten) McGown graduated from Hermon Village school, and Bangor High School Bangor, Maine 1923. When living in Holden, Maine, the house was on the top of a high hill with a magnificent view. The mat was out for all visitors with a welcome. At this time Tommy was working in Bangor for his father who owned a painting and papering business. Tommy entered the service of W W II, went for Basic then was transferred to Cherburg, France, Advanced Base BMIC; est. Liberty Ship Base. Two days after D day he was on a Liberty ship taking bodies from the sea and rescuing men from the sinking ship LEOPOLDVILLE. This was on his birthday, Dec. 24, 1944. He was also on Utah Beach. During this time Iola (Babe) stayed with her sister Clara in Saco, and worked later at Cambridge, Mass. doing secret work for the war effort at MIT. After coming home from the War Tommy attended one year at the U of M Orono to learn chicken care and farming. They bought a home in Winterport, Maine, the barn was made into a poultry house to raise chickens for the Penobscot Poultry Co., Tommy was so successful he won prizes from the company. After five years they moved back to Bangor on 14 East Summer Street and bought the West Side Variety Store on Fourth Street. Still keeping the little Civil War house on Summer Street they bought a farm in Etna, Maine, half way down the long hill on the main road. Babe and Tommy were favorites with the family and popular with everyone, especially the young people of the family. Iola graduated from Bangor High School 1925 and attended one year at Farmington State College. In 1967-68 she began evening courses on woodworking at Bangor High School and became proficient in making articles of wood, a mantle, pilgrims bench and many other things. Later she began art lessons with Mr. Healy of Bangor and showed much talent in this. Tommy graduated from Bangor High School and attended three years at Annapolis Naval Academy.

Bangor, Maine - Bangor Daily News -- Roger Nickerson and Francis Atkins two popular young men who were formerly and are now students at Bangor High School, and who recently completed a course at Marion Institute, Alabama, have received word to the effect that they have passed their entrance examinations to the Naval Academy at Annapolis. Word of their successful completion of their entrance examinations of the United States Naval Academy was received in Bangor on Wednesday afternoon and was accompanied by congratulatory telegrams from Col. W. L. Murphy, President of Marion Institute. Many other fellow students of the school in Alabama were successful in passing entrance exams and helped to maintain its reputation as one of the ten prep schools in the country. Both Nickerson and Atkins were students in Bangor High School and are now completing their senior years at the high school. The two young men are very popular with their classmates at BHS and were held in high esteem at the military academy they attended. Only praise of the highest quality can be extended to Atkins and Nickerson for keeping their city represented at Annapolis. Both boys expect to enter Annapolis sometime the last of June. While at Marion Institute Atkins and Nickerson were promenent in athletics and were awarded the numerals and insignia of their class. The successful candidates for Annapolis are profuse in their praise for the training they received in BHS and for the topping of training necessary subjects they received at Marion Institute. Roger Nickerson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nickerson of 89 Fifth Street. The parents of Francis Atkins are Mr. and Mrs. Allen Atkins of 89 Fifth Street. The parents of the lucky men have every reason to be proud of the successful efforts and achievements of their sons. Nickerson had a principals appointment on Congressman Hersey and Atkins was principal on Senator Fernalds slate.

Philip and Marion Webber were active in the affairs of the town; fraternal organizations Grange, Eastern Star and Masons, Rebeccas; Patten-Webber reunions held from 19 to 1933; and all affairs which made people's lives more pleasant. Marion was beloved by the family and all who knew her and was adored by the children of Russell and Iola Patten. Iola was the sister of Philip Webber. Marion had charge of the Children's Home in Bangor for many years. The marriage of Philip and Marion was a big event of the town. After the death of Philip Marion went to live with her brother and wife Emery Folsom of Brewer, Maine. She traveled a great deal. She sold the old homestead when she moved to Brewer. Philip Webber was named for Philip Riehl of California. Philip's father Chesley Patten Webber had a sister Hannah who married Philip Riehl for her second husband. Chesley and Philip Riehl had ranches there in the 1860s.

Wedding of Philip Webber and Marion Folsom - Bangor Daily News, Bangor, Maine June 12, 1923 -- 600 hundred guests at wedding - Tuesday evening - One of the biggest wedding events and certainly the most notable wedding ever held in this town took place in the IOOF Hall Tuesday evening when 600 guests, friends and relatives, coming from miles around, were present at the nuptials of Philip R. Webber, one of the most popular citizens of Hermon, and Miss Marion Folsom of Brewer, the ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. Ashley A. Smith of the Bangor Universalist Church at eight o'clock as the bridal party took its place at the head of the spacious lodge room on the second floor there was not room enuf for all who wished to witness the ceremony. Out in front of the hall over 100 automobiles which had conveyed the guests to the hall occupied every available space and the scene outside as well as within gave evidence of an unusual event about to take place. The bride was attractively dressed in a gown of canton crepe with veil caught up with pearls. She carried bride's roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Annie Mabel Patten of Hermon, neice of the groom, who wore white and carried pinks. The ring was carried by Lincoln Folsom, nephew of the bride, and flower girls were Adelaide and Phyllis Folsom, neices of the bride. Mr. Webber was attended by Webber Patten of Hermon, a nephew of the groom. The ushers were Lincoln Patten, Howard Bowen, Charles and Emery Folsom. The wedding music was played by the Murphy Trio of Brewer, the march from Lohengrin being selected for the processional. Following the ceremony a reception was held, Mr. and Mrs. Webber being assisted in receiving by Mrs. Russell Patten, sister of the groom; Mrs. Henry Folsom and Mrs. Charles Folsom, wives of the brothers of the bride. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served in the dining room in the basement; and in the hall on the first floor the young people danced to the music of the Murphy Trio, assisted by Miss Amy Grant and Miss Mildred Holbrook who finished the evening after the Trio left. Delicious wedding cake was served and the wedding guests presented with a neatly wrapped piece to take home. The bride and groom made a successful getaway from the throng which was prepared to give a noisy sendoff. Taking their place at the head of the line of march as the entrance was reached they ran for their automobile which whisked them away before the guests knew what had become of them. A trip to the White Mountains with a stop at Auburn where the groom had relatives was planned after which they will be at home June 20 at Mr. Webber's farm on Hammond Street near Hermon Center. Mr. Webber is one of Hermon's most progressive and prosperous farmers and is highly regarded through the community. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge and the IOOF Lodge, and is promenent in the Grange. And is a member of the Masonic Club of Bangor. Mrs. Webber, who is the daughter of Mrs. Albra Folsom of Brewer, Eastern Avenue, is a graduate of Brewer High School and is a most charming woman. For the past nine years she has been first assistant of the children's home in Bangor. In one of the upsta irs of the hall were the wedding gifts displayed for the inspection of the guests. Silverware, cut glass and china in profusion and countless articles of household use were noted and the gifts also included money and checks. The profusion of gifts and the large attendance testified to the popularity of the couple who start their married life with the best wishes of their many friends.

The Folsom Family

The Folsom Family came from England to Hingham, Mass. John was a Congregationalist, His wife sang in the choir. John Folsom came to the Penobscot region and Eastern Avenue, Brewer, where he built a house and barn after clearing the land. This set of buildings stands in fine condition 1975. Marion Folsom Webber lives there with her brother's daughter and husband, Adelaide. Emery Folsom lived on the place all his life and died there. John Folsom also was a lumber man on the Penobscot.

The Copeland Family

Thomas Copeland who died 1891 married Phoebe Fitts who died 1911. They are buried in the Wiswell Cemetery, Holden, Maine. They had eight children: One child Albra Copeland married Charles Folsom of Brewer. Albra and Charles Folsom had three children: Marion, Emery and Charles -

Angelette Webber went to California in 1858, supposedly to accompany Rosilla Bodge to her mother Hannah (Webber) Bodge at Placerville, Cal. Hannah Bodge had left her children with relatives in Hermon when she went to Panama to locate the grave of her husband Samuel Bodge who had died there of yellow fever 1854. Hannah was a sister of Angelette. It is thought that Daniel Webber, brother of Hannah and Angelette, and George Bodge, brother of Samuel Bodge, went with Hannah. From Panama Daniel Webber, Hannah Webber and George Bodge went to Placerville, Cal. to a mining camp and were there in 1855 when Hannah sent a letter home. Angelette lived there with Daniel Webber for two years. Chesley Patten Webber, a brother, also went to California in 1858 by boat from New York, going around the Cape Horn, so probably Angelette and Rosilla were with him. Chesley was in Placerville in 1860 census of Sacramento and had a ranch at Freeport, California.

Clara Patten Bowen, who did this genealogy, has a long black silk coat and bonnet which Angelette wore in a picture taken of her. It was in a trunk called Polly's trunk, which was at the home of Mabel (Miller) Mowatt, daughter of Laurette (Webber) Miller, sister of the people above.

Biographical sketch of Dim Carver Sr. - From History of Napa and Lake County, Cal. Pub. 1881 San Francisco -- Carver D B, son of Henry and Anna (Strahl) Carver, was born in Harrison County, Ohio, February 9, 1831. He resided at his birthplace until his seventeenth year during which time he was educated at the public schools. He then moved to Tuscavaras County, Ohio where he was engaged as clerk until his departure for California, which was Feb. 1, 1852. He immediately proceeded to the place in Yuba County to the mines and began mining at Missouri Bar. He continued at the place until the following November. He was in Placer County where he engaged in mining until 1853. He then went to Prairie City, Sacramento County, where he engaged in mining until the fall of 1857. Then he moved to Toulouse County where he found employment in a flouring mill and remained to 1858. In that year he returned to the eastern states, being about four months absent when he came to St. Helena and immediately began business in general merchandise which he continued until July 1881. Before coming to St. Helena he was in Napa, Cal. a few weeks before going to St. Helena. He was appointed post master within a few weeks after he came to St. Helena and has since been postmaster with the exception of one year. Married August 1, 1860 to Miss Annie Webber who was born in Penobscot County, Maine, March 6, 1837. By this union they have one child living, D B Carver Jr. born Sept 28, 1861 and died May 7, 1881; Laura born April 14, 1862; and died May 4, 1887

p 441

D. B. Carver had a brother who married Sarah, and had a neice Mrs. Brigham who were living with Angelette and Dim Carver at St. Helena at Angelette's death.

George Harvey of Sacramento, Cal. and his wife Vera went to St. Helena April 13, 1971 to get material for the genealogy of Angelette Webber. They sent the following letter to Clara Patten Bowen of Hallowell, Maine, who did this genealogy. George is a descendant of Hannah Webber, Clara is a descendant of Chesley Patten Webber.

"Vera and I drove over arriving about 9:15, went west from the main part of town on Spring Street to the city cemetery, taken care of by cemetery groups and well maintained, just past the Catholic cemetery. The sexton directed us to the Carver lot which was No. 7, block 6, I think. There are eight plots in the lot and it looks very much today as it did in the pictures. On a corner is a monument with an angel on top, "To Mother"; just west of this another monument with the verse from Matthew XXIV. On the northwest corner is buried D B Carver Sr.; on west is buried son Henry; in the center is a tall spire 10 by 12 feet high. On the north is an inscription D B Carver Sr., on west side for Henry, on south side for Laura, and on east side for Anna.

The date inscriptions:

D B Carver	born 9 Feb. 1831	died 29 April 1891	ae 60-4-3
	"saved by the precious blood of Christ"		b Ohio
D B Carver Jr.	born	died 29 April 1896	ae 22-7
Henry Carver Jr.	born 19 April 1861	died 7 May 1881	ae 20-9

Laura M. Carver	born 15 April 1862	died 4 May 1887	ae 15-4-9
	"Daughter of D B Carver and Anna Carver - Death leaves a shining mark"

Minnie Carver was the daughter of Mr. Logan, a neighbor of the Carvers. She was the second wife of Dim Carver Jr., she a young girl and he about 55. They had two sons Joe and Edwin. Joe had a daughter Jane Carver Bradley. Minnie married (2) a traveling evangelist named Robinson and had a little girl Ruth Ann.

D B Carver Jr. married (1) Lovella Hite, daughter of Lillian Hite and John Hite. Lillian the daughter was granddaughter of Hannah (Webber) Miehl. They were divorced but had a child who died young, Leo.

"After visiting the cemetery we went to the St. Helena Library and found an historical sketch of Carver. Seated next to us and introduced by the librarian was a lady 87 years of age, Katherine Dowdell, an ex school teacher of music who recognized a picture of Lovella's house there. She knew of Love (Lovella), Dimmie Carver and the whole family. She stated among other things that the Carvers and Logans were wealthy, very wealthy, and no one knows what became of the money. Love says the banker got some, the evangelist Minnie got some, and Dimmie spent some. Katherine Dowdell said the old Carver mansion had been demolished for the new post office there; that the Carver National Bank started by Carver, she felt, had been sold by Carver before he died; Minnie's boys were well known and very good looking children; and that about 1950 a young woman came by her house selling Avon Samples and said her name was Mrs. Carver, that she had married one of the Carver boys and lived south. Love said Minnie wanted her permission to have Dimmie's body moved so she could be buried beside D B Carver Sr. but Love refused. It is hard to figure out as there were spaces for eight in the lot. Love's house visited but did not contact anyone. There was no name on the Box 400, is a few miles east of town at the foot of the mountain Howell on Meadowwood Lane."

Obituary of Angelette Carver: Death and Buriel of Mrs. D B Carver - The Star - California - At the moment of going to press with the last issue of the Star we were briefly called upon to note the death of Mrs. Carver, wife of D B Carver, the well known banker and pioneer merchant of this place. The lateness of the hour prevented any notice at that time, but we will now give the particulars of the sad event which for some days cast a gloom over our whole community. Mrs. Carver had enjoyed usual good health until two years ago. On the first of May 1882 she took a trip east and while visiting with friends and relatives there received a severe paralytic stroke. She recovered from this sufficiently to return home with her husband, who went back to meet her. In August of the same year. Since that time Mrs. Carver has been in fairly good health, though suffering some from the effects of the stroke. Last Thursday morning she arose feeling in unusually good health and spirits, but early in the day, while in the back yard feeding the chickens she was stricken with heart disease from which she never recovered. From the first she seemed to realize that she was going to die. For several days her devoted husband and faithful friends watched by her bedside doing all in their power to alleviate her sufferings. About four o'clock Monday afternoon death came to her relief and the silent watchers bowed their heads in deep sorrow of a last parting on earth from one who was so dearly beloved. Mrs. Carver was born in Hermon, Maine, in 1837 and was in the forty seventh year of her life. She came to California in 1858 and lived for a time with her brother Daniel Webber near Sacramento. In 1860 she was married to Mr. Carver and in the fall of 1863 they moved to St. Helena, California where she has since resided. Two children preceeded her to that better world, Laura dying in 1877 at the age of 15 years, and Henry in 1881 at the age of twenty years. The third child was Dimmie. Mrs. Carver leaves to mourn her loss a husband and son Dimmie aged ten; a sister in law Sarah Carver, and neice Mrs.

Bingham, all of this place; a brother and sister Daniel Webber and Mrs. Riehl of Sacramento, all of whom were with her at the last. She also leaves a mother, three brothers and two sisters at the old home in Maine. Mrs. Carver was a true Christian, beloved by a large circle of friends. She met death with fortitude and passed away happy in the Christian faith and in the expectation of soon meeting those who had gone before. The funeral which took place at two o'clock yesterday afternoon at the family residence was attended by friends from all parts of the county. A choir consisting of Mrs. Rogers, Misses Jesse Elgin and Annie Alstrom, and Professor Rogers and S G Clark sang that beautiful hymn, Asleep in Jesus, a favorite of the deceased daughter Laura. After this the Rev. James Mitchell read in an impressive way passages from the scripture closing with prayer and a few well chosen remarks. The services at the house closed by the singing of a hymn, They are Not But Gone Before. This was a favorite hymn of Mrs. Carver and is one of the choicest selections of our hymnal. The floral offerings at the house were profuse and said to have been the prettiest connected in St. Helena; they were spoken with sympathies of many friends. J R Kettlewell, C S Davis, Jas. McGee, J H Allison, Chas. A. Gardner, W T Simmons, H A Pellet, and D O Hunt acted as pall bearers. The funeral cortege was the largest ever seen in St. Helena numbering 120 carriages.

Obituary of Henry Carver - It is our sad duty this week to record a great grief to a family who are esteemed and beloved by all, and for whose welfare and happiness we are all solicitious. Henry E. Carver, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. D B Carver, an amiable young man of a little over twenty years, departed this life at about half past six o'clock Saturday morning last. Henry was a native of Tahama County in this state where he was born April 28, 1861. In 1863 he removed with the family to St. Helena where he has been,ever since resided. He has attended the public schools and various private schools here and also McClure's Military Academy at Oakland. He was a member of St. Helena Lodge No. 271 IOGT and held at one time the office of Marshall. He was a strong appearing youth and was thought to be of robust health until three weeks ago before he died. One evening about that time he went into the post office and as usual assisted in distributing the mail. When he went home he complained of feeling unwell; from this he grew worse and into a condition to alarm his friends. He rallied however and was able to be out on the street. He had a relapse and this attack proved fatal. For after three days of confinement to his bed he yielded to the disease and was released from his sufferings. His funeral was held Sunday afternoon at three o'clock from the family residence ceremonies being conducted by the Rev. James Mitchell. The rooms were beautifully ornamented with ivy and flowers, the latter including rare and beautiful artistic work. The offerings of friends and the family. At the head of the casket under an ivy festoon, was a suspended cross, below which extended the word Henry in letters of living green and spotless white; while beneath suspended a beautiful star in the East that called wise men to the Savior of mankind. Services were begun by the Lord's Prayer by Rev. James Mitchell, after which the choir, consisting of Mrs. Spier, Misses Beach and Fountain, and Messrs. W A and Jr. sang the hymn.

The choir sang the hymn No. 1190 from the same book, So Fades the Lovely Blooming Flower. This and the preceding one being those sung at the funeral of the sister Laura, which occured about four years and two days ago from the same room. Mr. Mitchell then delivered a brief address after which the cortege formed, the paul bearers being Charles Logan, E C Bedell, Louis Pellet, John Gouer Jr., George Risley, D McPike, W A Bingham, Jas. Kettlewell, Arthur Beach and Robert Bussenius. The procession was one of the longest ever seen here, being composed of one hundred and twenty vehicles. A prayer at the grave, the casket lowered, and thus is returned to the earth the body, as the spirit had before winged its way upward to the God who gave. It is pleasing to remember that Henry did not fear death, but spoke of his approaching departure - even before he was confined to his bed, and when his friends refused to believe it, with composure and even satisfaction at the prospect of joining friends gone before.

Obituary of Laura M. Carver - St. Helena, Cal.

It is sad to chronicle the griefs of those we love. When death strikes afar off, or fells those who have no association with us but in name or reputation we may sound their exit with the trump of easy diction, or finely rounded periods of unfeeling eloquence. But when the destroyer alights upon our household, or upon that of those who are dear to us, then their griefs are our griefs, we can only mourn in dumb silence over the bereavement; or weeping with those who weep, pour into their wounds the poor balm of human sympathy. Since we made our last appearance to the world, a great grief has fallen upon a family who are very dear and near to the hearts of us all and to our little community, Laura M. beloved and only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D B Carver departed this life Friday afternoon last, May 4th, in the sixteenth year of her age. She had been seriously ill for a fortnight previous, but appearances had been hopeful of an amendment, and the belief was cherished that she might rally and be spared yet many years to those with whom her life was bound up in the strongest ties of human affection. But alas, the hope proved toosanquine; the malady assumed unmistakable forms of fatality, and at four o'clock in the afternoon of the day mentioned, she calmly and peacefully passed away, amid the tears of an agonized household, to the enjoyment of that peace to which this world is a stranger - to the arms of him who is the resurrection and the life. Her funeral was held Sunday at 2 PM from the family residence on Main Street and was a universal outpouring of people from all the country around - a touching tribute of respect and sympathy for an afflicted neighbor. The street up and down was filled with vehicles, and the spacious residence - alas! So saddened to its bereaved occupants - for hours bore the muffled tread of those who paid tribute at the court of death. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. James Mitchell, after which the cortege wended its way to our beautiful cemetery ..... and returned to the hands of him who gave it. The procession was far the largest ever seen in St. Helena. Ninety four vehicles and a number of horsemen formed the cortege. The school mates of the deceased attended in a body, with badges of mourning for their departed comrade. Laura had lived nearly all her life here being but a year and a half old when her parents came from Battle Creek, Shasta County, where she was born April 15, 1862 and was affectionately known to almost every person in the vicinity. That she leaves a void in many a heart and a sadness in all that time only can suffice. Their hearts are bound up in the treasure that is gone, for them the world will long be but a place of desolation. They shall go up and down and sigh over the dreariness of Nature, and the daily round of life will open fresh new wounds, as touching reminders of the dear departed come one by one to view. They shall say with those of England's household:

Grief fills the room up of our absent child
Lies on her bed; walks up and down with us,
Puts on her pretty looks, repeats her words,
Remembers us of all her gracious parts.

The first wife of John Miller was Caroline Patten, daughter of Alva Patten of Hermon, Maine. Alva Patten's first wife was Liana Colson and Caroline's mother. Caroline born 1832 died 1859. John Miller and Caroline (Patten) Miller had a son Madison Miller. For information on Madison Miller see Child 6 Alva Patten, son of William Patten Esq. 1773-1852 and Hannah (Goodell). John Miller and Caroline lived at the village of Hermon Corner which was an Inn at one time. This later became known as the Royal house and then the Hanson house, and still later the Campbell house, the Campbells living there in 1975 with a store next door which the Campbells owned. John Miller was in California in 1855 according to a letter from Hannah Webber Bodge who was at Placerville, California, having gone there in 1854. "1855 March 9 Hoodville John Miller is starting home next week, this spring, and expect he will start soon. He will tell you all about us" Hannah Webber Bodge was the daughter of Eliezer Webber and Polly Patten Webber above (see child 1).

John Miller and Laurette (Webber) Miller lived at Hermon Corner on the Billings Road beside the fraternal organizational buildings just out of the village. About the year 1960 the barn had been torn down but the house still stands in fine condition in 1975. The daughter Mabel Miller and her second husband William Mowatt lived with John and Laura Miller and cared for them until they passed away, just as Laura and husband John Miller had cared for Laura's mother Polly Patten Webber until she passed away. Mabel and William Mowatt lived there many years after the death of John and Laura Miller. John Miller always sat by the kitchen window in his special chair. Morning and night he had eye drops put in his eyes with an eye cup. This always fascinated children. His favorite expression was "Christ, you know." Laura Miller was a tall, quiet, observing woman. She played the music box for children who came to call. The day Uncle John's funeral was held he was taken to the cemetery in the horse drawn hearse which was kept in the 'hearse house' in back of the town house and which was later sold by the town of Hermon in the 1960s. As the procession went past the home of Iola and Russell Patten on the Billings Road on the way to the cemetery the children of Iola and Russell stood by the windows and said "We won't see him again" and felt very sad. The attic of the John Miller house was filled with trunks and many things of family history. Laura (Webber) Miller was the administrator of the will of Polly Patten Webber, her mother. See next page for further information on this. After many years the house of John and Laura Miller was sold by Mabel and William Mowatt. For information on this see the daughter's pages.

James Mowatt, lawful son of James Mowatt, farmer of Outertown, county of Orkney, and Isabella Fleet, was born June 18, 1804 AD and baptized by Rev. William Cloustan.
Extracted from the parish register of Stromness, county of Orkney, North Brittain on the fifth day of April, 1826 by J W Woods, clerk.
The minister and elders of the parish of Stromness hereby certify that the above is a true and faithful extract from the Baptismal register of this parish and that the above named James Mowatt is of honest and respectable parentage, that he is entirely free from the church censors. We believe that he is a sober, honest and industrious young man and we know of nothing to prevent his being admitted into any Christian society where Providence may order his lot. Given at Stromness, County of Orkney,

James Mowatt was a quiet, unassuming man and gentle. He did not seem to be the age of 90 when he passed away.

Letters of Nathaniel Moore (They did not have punctuation):
Camp Jochlyn Mound City July Dear Brother and Sister
I will improve a few moments in writing to you I have been out into the woods a hunting and came back to quarters and laid down and went to sleep and just waked up I have been in the army ten weeks today and have not had one chance to shoot a rebel yet We have had the promis of it from Gen Prender We told him the other night that we would reenlist for three years if he would send us in Mound let us walk thru that and take a wile out every d--d rebel in it this summer and then go down in the fall but he has not sent us yet and I don't think he will I think if I enlist again I shall go into another state to do so for the troops in this state have been very poorly cared for We are stationed ferther south than any of the Union troops and wee are in a very sickly country They told us that wee couldn't get our bounty money six weeks ago and one monthly pay five weeks ago but have not rec one cent The boys have spent all they took with them George and myself sould had a plenty but he has been sick all the while and had to pay three dollars per week for his board for some time and was just now in a few days from Aurora to last us to Springfield but wee shall get our pay now in a few days Wee don't have any use for money now onley for postage stamps. I was glad that the boys didn't have any money yesterday for you could have seen a drunken lot Som of them did get drunk anyhow but not much fiting among them in camp I spent the forth first rate We fired thirty four guns in the morning and thirteen at ten o'clock and then

This certifies that William A. Mowatt and Mabel Moore of Hermon were united in marriage according to the laws of God and the State of Maine on this 29th day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and five
Witnesses: Iola Webber Patten and S. Everett Hunt
By me Rev. Otis Frost, minister of the Gospel
These souvenirs had white covers tied with cord. They were published by Rev. Salem Towne of Bangor, Maine - copywright 1895. In it are the marriage service, certificate and other pages. The souvenir is in possession of Clara Patten Bowen of Hallowell, Maine, who did this genealogy. She also has the souvenir of her parents Russell and Iola Patten of Hermon. Mabel Mowatt and Iola Patten were like sisters altho they were cousins. Everett Hunt married Annie Webber, sister of Iola Webber Patten, both being the daughters of Chesley Patten Webber 1828-1914, Chesley the brother of Laurette Webber Miller.

William and Mabel Mowatt lived in Hermon and Carmel, Maine. They lived with Mabel's parents for many years caring for them until they passed away. Polly Patten Webber also lived there until she passed away in 1898. Mabel and Will Mowatt lived there many years after these people passed away. The house was beside the fraternal organization buildings on the Billings Road just outside of the village of Hermon Corner. The barn was torn down many years later about the 1960s. Clara Patten Bowen often went to call on Cousin Mabel and Cousin Will and Aunt Laura and Uncle John. Aunt Laura would play the music box. They had a hired man who scared the wits out of Clara, Patten, then, and she would run thru the kitchen when she saw him. The people of Hermon had and have many memories of these dear people which will never be told or recorded. They were civic minded, fraternally minded, and people minded. A very beloved couple. In later life they sold the place to Ernest Grant who lived there many years. They rented a house and then built the ell of a house in Carmel, the main part never finished, but the ell was as large as a small house, was comfortable and pleasant with window for sun. They had much company who were always welcome and who remembered the good food including the cream puffs and custard pie. At breakfast time they would read the paper and magazines while sitting in the sun.

William's father, James Mowatt, lived with them in Carmel, a quiet, unassuming man whom they dearly loved. He died May 15, 1928 at 90 years. Many years later they sold this place and bought a small house in Carmel just out of the village. This place was sold by Roger and Annie Mabel McGown after Cousin Mabel died. There was an upstairs shed filled with trunks and other things. One of the trunks held some old costumes and a quilt top of Log Cabin design. Clara Patten Bowen made up the quilt and had a Mrs. Munson of Hermon quilt it for an heirloom. Annie Mabel had two punch bowls, one of cut glass and one with painted flowers. These are in possession of her daughters 1975. Cousin Mabel lived with Annie Mabel and Roger McGown for her last months. The day Cousin Mabel's funeral was held there was such a blizzard she could not be buried for two days. The funeral was held at the Harvey Funeral Home in Carmel, Maine.

Service record of William Mowatt - To all it may concern -- Know ye that William A. Mowatt, Private of Co. From Penobscot County History 1882 "R B Miller is a son of Silas Miller of Hampden, Maine whose father John Miller came from Hampden. John had nine children of whom Silas was the second son. Silas married Clara Merrick, dau of Nathaniel Merrick of Hampden. By this marriage there have been three children: Russell B., Justina, and Cora. Mr. Miller has always been engaged in farming and lumbering. He declined to hold office except selectman. In 1882 he was living on this farm. Born 1849 he went to Charleston Academy, married Almira Hinckley, daughter of John Hinckley of Hermon. He settled on the place where he now lives in the village of Hermon. A son Gardiner was three years old in 1882. He had been a tax collector, deputy sheriff, member of the school board and deputy Census marshall. A young man of good education he taught school several years."

"John Miller came from Hampden. John had nine children and Silas was the second son. Silas married Clara Merrick, daughter of Nathaniel Merrick of Hampden. By this marriage there have been three children: Russell B., Justina, Cora. John came from Hampden to Hermon and located on top of the hill which took his name. He first built a camp. Later he built a frame house on the top of Miller Hill. The large house now standing was the second frame house built by him, with the ell being the first house moved over to it both of which are still standing. He was a lumber man, a river driver on the Penobscot for twenty six years and an officer in the Battle of Hampden 1812. Mr. Miller used to carry his corn to Hampden on his back traveling by a spotted trail thru the thick cedar swamp which stood near the Corner Village."

Justina	18	wife of Eleazer Jr.
Eliezer	74

Hannah Patten	92	mother of Polly and wife of William Patten Esq.

Eliezer Webber, Jr. lived on the road to Carmel beyond Miller Hill. The house burned in the 1960s while Mattie (Snow) Webber Hammond was living there. Mattie married Miller Webber, son of Eliezer and Justina Webber as her first husband. The house had a porch along the front where relatives and friends sat of a summer evening. They had much company of relatives. The Webber clan were very clannish, fun loving, and happy people. "Uncle Lezer", also called "Bub", and Aunt Justina were loved by everyone. They had a camp at Camp Etna campgrounds also. When Daniel Webber, brother of Eliezer Sr. came home for a visit from Sacramento they all gathered on the porch for a picture which was interesting because of their ages. Daniel went to California about 1854 and this was his first trip home so some of the family had died but in the picture were Eliezer and Justina, their son Miller and daughter Cora; Welthy (Webber) Rogers and her husband Harrison Rogers; Chesley Patten Webber and Clara (Stone) Webber, their sons Philip and William, William's son Chesley; Laurette (Webber) Miller and husband John Miller. Eliezer Webber, Jr. loved to fish when at the Etna camp. One day when Clara Patten Bowen, who did this genealogy, was visiting them he took the women fishing in a small row boat. Justina and Aunt Wealthy were plump women and Eliezer was not a small man. Clara was small. We all sat in the hot sun for hours and just before coming in Clara caught an eel and started screaming as she had never seen one before. Uncle Lezer cut the line and saved everyone from an overturned boat.

married March
Sunday the twenty fourth
Nineteen hundred and twelve
Bangor, Maine
At home after April first
69 First Street, Bangor

The wedding announcement was sent to Clara Patten Bowen, who did this genealogy, by Mrs. Marion Webber (Mrs. Philip Webber). Philip Webber was a son of Chesley Patten Webber. Chesley Patten a brother of Eliezer Webber above (1846-1920).

The Thomas Kimball Family:

Thomas Kimball married Abigail (Woodman) and had children E W Kimball and S W Kimball. S W Kimball was a painter; he married Ida (Simmons) and lived Hermon Corner, Hermon, Maine. They had two children: Cecil M. Kimball who married Leon Leathers. Leon Leathers and Cecil lived in the Smith house at Hermon Corner which burned 1973, a loss to the town. They had a son Ralph Leathers. Leon had a brother Lester Leathers of Hermon. The other child was Claude Kimball who married Cora Webber (above), daughter of Eliezer Webber and Justina (Miller) Webber of Hermon.

Note from Cora Kimball Violette, daughter of Claude and Cora Kimball: "I still have my father's ring. My father was married April 1, 1912."
Note: This was the day they moved into the apartment in Bangor.

Claude Kimball owned a store in Hermon Corner. His mother lived upstairs the last years of her life after her husband died. The day he was fatally wounded Deputy Chandler came to tell the family. Marion Webber was keeping store. She told Ida Kimball, the mother, and the daughter, Cora. Cora said "I want to go to the hospital." She also said "the store was closed for good." There was great excitement and sadness in the town. Clara Patten Bowen remembers the day as she was visiting her parents in Hermon. Claude was beloved by all the towns people.

Newspaper clipping in part - the rest may we read in the Bangor Daily News - A front page for three days with pictures - Sept. 18, 19, 1948 - 25 -

Killer of Claude Kimball Believed Hit as Shots Exchanged at Holden - The greatest man hunt in many years in Maine was under way last night in the densely wooded Holden section as a posse of over 100 grim faced, heavily armed law officers combed the country side for the killer of Claude W. Kimball, 58 of Hermon, a veteran Penobscot County Sheriff. Object of the vast dragnet was Peter Braidis, 59 a Russian lumberjack, who is alleged to have shot Kimball down as the deputy sheriff sought to question him in connection with a series of breaks. The shooting occured at Braidis's one room shack in the isolated Mann Hill section of Holden at about 12:10 AM yesterday as Kimball and Deputy Frank Gerry called for a routine examination of the Russian's premises. Deputy Kimball and Gerry went to the shack in what appeared to be nothing but a routine check of the Russian's activities and found their man absent, but they waited around for a short time and he appeared out of the woods. Kimball entered the shack where Braidis had begun to prepare lunch and cordially passed the time of day. Braidis grunted an acknowledgement, officers said, but at that time did not appear to be particularly belligerent. Kimball, Gerry said, asked Braidis to get his coat and come to Bangor to talk over "some things". He told the Russian th t he wasn't under arrest and that after questioning he would be brought back to camp. Braidis asked to get his cap and walked toward the bed and suddenly whipped a pistol, thot to be a Luger, German, from under a pillow. Kimball, Gerry said, lunged at the Russian and they were almost "stomach to stomach" when the gun in the hunted man's hand discharged in rapid succession. The bullets ripped into Kimball's abdomen. The deputy had drawn his own service pistol and fired at Braidis from close quarters and the man is believed to have been wounded at least once. Three discharged cartridges were found in Kimball's pistol. Just before the shooting started Kimball had told Gerry to get the car started in preparation for their return to Bangor and Gerry was on the threshold of the shack when the first shot was fired. He whirled and the Russian fired at him, the bullet coming so close that, "I could feel the wind on my face," Gerry said. Gerry, who was unarmed looked frantically about for a weapon and was reaching for a rock when a second shot rang out. This barely missed and grazed him also, Gerry said. Knowing that Kimball was badly wounded, Gerry raced for a nearby woods shack to summon help, and with a parting shot in his direction the man identified as Braidis turned a d fled into the woods that flank his shack. Kimball, shocked by the impact of the four slugs, walked slowly to the door of the shack and said "Get me to a hospital quick, Frank." Kimball walked to the automobile and as Gerry started the car repeated, "Hurry, Frank, get me to a hospital." Gerry said he pounded the vehicle over the rough roads at high speed to get onto the Bangor Road-Bar Harbor Road and Kimball sat beside him moaning at intervals. In route to the Eastern Maine General Hospital Gerry said the wounded man said over and over, "You're a lucky man, Frank, a lucky man." At the hospital Kimball was still conscious and was able to help himself onto a wheeled stretcher. The jovial deputy admired and respected throughout this section, was mortally wounded, however, and he died half an hour later, victim of one of the most brutal slayings in recent police annals in this section. Meanwhile, the alarm had been sent to Sheriff John K. Ferrar who swiftly organized a small posse and sped to the scene, leaving instructions for every available officer in the area to join the hunt. Sheriff Farrar, State Trooper Dominique LaChance and others in the first party on the scene blasted round after round into Braidis's camp when they found he had not barricaded himself into it. Fanning out the first possemen on the scene combed the nearby woods in the belief that Braidis may have been mortally wounded and was lying not far away. The search proved fruitless, however, and meanwhile state troopers, wardens and deputies from the entire section eastern and northern sections of Maine began to converge upon the scene. Within two hours 100 men, armed to the teeth, were grimly patrolling all roads in the section and railroad tracks that bisect it. Read newspaper article for more of the facts.

Claude Kimball had served as a deputy sheriff in Penobscot County for more than a quarter of a century and for more than fifteen years had been on active duty at the county jail in Bangor. With the retirement a few years ago of Deputy Sheriff Clarence Friend, Kimball was appointed to the position of turnkey. In addition to his many duties at the jail, Kimball was most active in criminal investigation work in Hermon and vicinity, he was a regular one-man police department. Hardly a night passed by but what the deputy was called out on some kind of case - sometimes to settle a family row, other times on more serious matters such as hen thievery, burglery or even after some dangerous criminal as was the case yesterday.

Fearless but kindly, he enjoyed the highest respect of everyone who knew him. In addition to his duties at the jail throughout the day and his police work at night, he still found time to work at least part of each night at his store in Hermon. This store was a real institution where people not only called to make purchases or have their hair cut by Mr. Kimball, but also to tell him of their troubles and ask for advice. He was deeply interested in all town affairs and was always working hard for the betterment of Hermon. He will be deeply missed in that community as well in Bangor where he was a great favorite, not only with the general public but also with the prisoners at the county jail where there was a genuine air of sadness last night. It can be said of Claude Kimball that he never spoke a word of ill of anyone and that he hadn't an enemy in the world. Deputy Sheriff is survived by a daughter, Mrs. George Violette of Hermon.

Saturday Bangor News - Sept. 25 - In 1932 court records showed Braidis entered Montana's Deer Lodge prison to serve five years for grand larceny. He escaped July 5, 1932. In 1933 he was sentenced to four months in Penobscot County Jail for possession of stolen property. He was arrested in Wyoming in 1934 and returned to Deer Lodge with an additional two year sentence for jail break. On Aug. 29, 1940 Braidis was arrested at another Holden camp and sentenced at Ellsworth (Maine) to six years in state prison at Thomaston after pleading guilty to breaking and entering and larceny. Authorities expressed belief at that time that Braidis arrest had cleared a series of breaks in the Ellsworth-Holden area of Hancock County.

George Violette was an undertaker in Carmel, Maine with the Harvey (undertaker) funeral home. He then bought the store at Hermon Corner which had at one time belonged to Claude Kimball, father of Cora. They built a house in the village of Hermon. Cora Violette when young had a seven passenger car which her father gave her and the young people had jolly times with it. After a few years in the store they moved to Windsor Locks, Conn.
 Letter from Cora Violette, Windsor Locks, Conn., 310 Elm St. --
So much has changed up in Hermon. My one dream was to come back after George retired in three years. But now I am not sure. George did have a heart attack three years ago but he is back at work and says he feels good, only slower. But he likes his job very much and claims it is very easy, mostly taking telephone calls for Pratt and Whitney. I am well, busy with the grandchildren and had them at the lake nearly all summer.

From Penobscot County History 1882 -- Alva Patten was born July 4, 1807 in Hermon, Maine; kept the hotel in Hermon about twenty years but after the railroad went through business became dull and he sold his interest and bought the farm on which he now resides. Alva Patten's first wife was Liana Colson of Frankfort, Maine by whom he had six children: Simeon, Caroline, Melissa, Amanda, Gibson and Josephine. None of these are living except Melissa who was matron of a girl's school in Portland and now resides in Boston. For his second wife Alva married Sarah Perry of Carmel, daughter of Edmund Perry and Lydia of Carmel, Maine February 20, 1858 and they have one daughter Helen J. who was born 1861 Hermon and now lives at home.

Alva Patten kept the hotel at Hermon Pond on the Hopkins Road, opposite the cemetery and the railroad station which is now torn down. At Hermon Corner he lived in the Campbell house next door to the store in the village. The Royal and the Hanson families lived there earlier.

Raymond Pendleton had the Cochran Bible which contains the family of James Cochran of Monmouth, Maine. Rev. Edwin Day married Elizabeth Cochran, the daughter of Dr. James Cochran. One evening Raymond Pendleton and Clara Patten Bowen went to the home of Sibyl Grant Dunbar to copy from the Bible. The Bible may be in possession of Roger Pendleton. The Cochran family goes back to Scotland.

Obituary of Raymond Pendleton - Bangor Daily News, Bangor, Maine - Carmel -- Raymond Pendleton died Saturday at a Bangor hospital after a short illness. 72 years. He was born in Camden July 30, 1895, a son of Ephriam W. and Georgia (Treat) Pendleton. He was a dairy farmer and pulpwood dealer here for 50 years. A graduate of the University of Maine in the class of 1917 he was a member of the Benevolent Lodge AF and AM and a member of the Carmel Grange for 30 years, and its past Master, and a member of the Carmel Union Congregational Church. A veteran of WW I he served in the Army Coast Artillary in France. He was a member of the Carmel American Legion Post of WW I Veteran's organization. Mr. Pendleton also served on the Carmel school board committee of Carmel and the cemetery association. Knowles. The family were in Hampden, Maine 1778 and went to Kirkwood, Illinois. There were seven children."

From 1914 Centenniel Booklet Hermon, Maine: "1804 October 30th a survey of lots of early settlers at what is now North Hermon, was made by E. Delano of lots granted by Gent. Salem Town, according to the Resolve of March 7th, 1804, to the following persons....These lots are shown on a plan of Hermon now in the Penobscot County Registry of Deeds on a copy of the original plan recorded in Hancock Co. (Belfast). This plan referred to, also shows lots in the south west corner of Hermon granted to William Patten 2nd and John Patten Jr. It seems certain from this showing that the persons above named came to Plantation No.2 between 1797 and 1804."

The original deed of John Patten 1776-1850 for land granted above is in possession of Otis Patten b1892-who is living in 1976, the great grandson of John Patten 1776-1850. The deed shows it is from the Commonwealth of Mass. 1803-1804. Otis Patten is the fourth generation to have lived in the old homestead. Otis Patten sold the place to Owen Goss of Levant, Maine in 1955 who lives there in 1976. The barn was burned in 1975. The ell of the house was built as the original and was put together with hand made nails. It is in fine condition 1976. The main part of the house was built by Charles N. Patten, grandson of John Patten 1776-1850, and carpenters worked all one summer on the building.

From History of Penobscot County 1882==John Patten 1811-1901, son of John Patten 1776-1850 = "The farm was cleared from the wilderness by his father assisted by his two sons. They suffered the privations of the early settlers and the father died on the place December 30, 1850. John Patten took care of his parents until death. John Patten was married to Cynthia Nealley, daughter of James Nealley of military fame."

Corrections on above==The two sons were born in 1803 and 1805 so could not have helped clear the land. It was probably the two brothers.
* Cynthia Nealley was the daughter of Joseph Nealley and not James Nealley.

From 1783 to 1814, a period of 31 years, Hermon was Plantation No.2, and grew in population from 23 families to 40 families. It was incorporated June 13, 1814. At the first town meeting, John Patten was chosen moderator, selectman, and school board member.

April 1841--Know all men that I Charles Buck of the City of Bangor and State of Maine am holden and firmly bound to Margaret Perkins of Hermon in the County of Penobscot in the full and just sum of three hundred dollars to the payment of which I bind myself and, my heirs, executors, and administrators. The conditions of this obligation is such that the said Margaret has agreed to purchase and the said Buck to sell, two certain notes and mortgages given by E. P. Jewett to Eleazer Webber, dated April eleventh, eighteen hundred and thirty five which note amounts to two hundred and twenty nine dolls and 61/100 and the said mortgage is upon fifty acres of land situated in said Hermon and adjoining land of Nathaniel Maddox on the south and land of Benjamin Grant on the north, and the same the said Margaret now occupies. And the said one note by Samuel Grant and Daniel Kimball for fifty dols dated April 9th, 1841, also three notes signed by her and dated this day viz one for fifty dols on eight months, one for fifty dols on twelve months, and one for twenty five dols and 52/100 on sixteen months, all with interest and payable to me the said Buck on order. Now if the said Buck shall on payment of the above sum according to the said foregoing notes transfer or cause assigned the said Margaret or her heirs or assignees the beforesaid notes and mortgage then this obligation will be null and void, otherwise remain in full force. It is however understood and agreed upon between the two parties that in case any persons, having a legal right to do so, shall tender payment of the before named two notes signed by Jewett then the said Buck is to refund to the said Margaret the money which she may have paid to him and interest on the same, which shall be a full discharge of this obligation, she allowing the net income of said property.

Lived Billings Road, Hermon, Maine = Richard and Lavinia Patten cleared the land and built a log cabin, later they built a house which still stands in 1976, and is in fine condition. The barn was built later, adding two more sections as needed. In the upstairs hall over the years were pictures of the family of Richard and Lavinia Patten in oval frames. Most of the frames were sold in 1962 to Dr. Sally Simpson of Carmel, Maine who stored them in a vacant house in which she planned to live. The house was burned with contents later. The pictures were taken from the frames and given to Clara Patten Bowen who did this genealogy, a great granddaughter. One of the pictures, still in oval frame, was given to the great grandson Russell Webber Patten and hangs in the parlor of the old homestead with the pictures of Richard and Lavinia Patten. Letter November 19, from Humboldt Bay, Eureka, California =

Dear Friends: I received a letter from you dated Aug 14 and was glad to hear from you and that you were well and I am glad I am well and so are all the rest of the Hermon boys that I know anything of. You wrote me some news that I knew nothing about. You wrote that Uncle Nehemiah was about to be married. I did not know that his wife was dead, also that Simeon also was married. You wanted me to write all about my affairs which I know I should but am ashamed so now I am on a place of my own and hope to get started to make something of myself and if I do and am lucky enuf to get home once more I will tell you all. I have no more news to write. I think Luther can't think much of me or he would write to me once in two or three years. You tell him I want him to be smart and to have some boys to divide with me for I have come to the conclusion that my Spanish wife won't have any. I intend to pay Demcy for what she said about my spanish wife. Write often and all the news. Give my love to all the children and tell them to remember what I have always told them and if they are as bad as we oldest ones were. Write and tell me so goodbye

From Bradley who remembers still and loves you all.

Letters from Luther Patten follow: No. 1 Webster City Oct. 8, 1871

Dear Brother Henry: I take pen in hand to scribble a few words to you to let you know I have not forgotten you or the rest of my folks. My health is not good here, I have the asthma most of the time. I think I shall go to the mountains or Cal as soon as I can get anything to go with. I have some money due me but I can't get it yet. I got a letter from Jase a while ago and I was very much surprised to hear that Father is dead. It is something that I was not expecting. He has been so well for him. Please write the particulars about his sickness and death and poor mother has died since I was at home. Little did I think that it was the last time that I should see my parents but so it is. We have all got to die soon. Now Brother H I want to ask you to do me a favor, that is I want you to draw my pension in Bangor and express it to me for two years $98 for I am dead broke and not able to work. I have done most all kinds of work out here and have got money due me but can't get it. Jase spoke some thing in his letter about Father's will. Please write back what it was. Write as soon as you get this letter. Give my love and best wishes to Em and the babies. My address direct to C H Moore, Webster City, Iowa Box 9. Please excuse bad writing for I have lost my glasses and too poor to buy another pair. Hoping to hear from you soon I will bid you goodby

Letter No. 2 Webster City Oct. 23, 1871 Brother C H P I received your letter in due time and was glad to hear from you but very sorry to hear that Em is troubled with cancers. My health is a little better than it was which I wrote before but I think that I shall leave here as soon as I can get the money enough to go with. Now, Hen, be shure and not let anyone know where I am. Now it is time for the mail and I must close hoping this will find you all well. I bid you goodby until you hear from me again.

From your ever loving brother L. K. Patten

Letter No. 3 Webster City Nov. 7 th 1871 Dear Henry I rec your kind letter last night and was glad to hear from you and am thankful for the five dollars that you sent me but I have been waiting for some time for that money out of the bank for I need it as soon as you can. I have not had time to attend to the pension papers but I will get them fixed and send them to you as soon as I can but I will get around to it. I have signed the order and receit and sent them in the letter back to you. Henry I hope you are not afraid to send the money before you get a receit. I am not afraid to send the receit. I will send you an order for my pension when I send the papers filled out. You wished to know how far Iowa is from here. It is about 200 miles and the Missippa is about 170. Now I must close hopeing to hear and this finds you well I bid you goodby

Truly yours L K Patten

Letter from C H Patten to Luther K. Patten Hermon Nov. 15, 1871
Brother Luther I received your most welcome letter and was glad to hear from you but you did not say anything about your health. You spoke of being afraid to send you the money how do you know what will happen to you before you could send me back the receipt and I could send you the money. Why was it not just as well for you to send me the receipt in the letter with the order. I got your letter and today I went to the city and drew $305.22 and I expressed it to C H Moore Webster City Iowa $310.20 just as you wrote me to do. I would like to know if you have changed your plans and name and if so why did you do so. I don't see the need of so doing. If anyone should see you to know you they would know what your name is. Charles Ames told me that he saw you the first fall you went out there. I think you have not done anything worthy of your changing your name and if I were you as soon as I left that place I would go by my right name. And then you can draw your pension where you can be, just by letting Dr. Morrison know your address. Now Luther hopeing this will find you better in health and prosperity for the future I bid you goodnight. Now if you need for anything to make you comfortable while you live you can come to my house and share with me what I have to eat, drink and ware.

I remain your ever true brother C H Patten Hermon, Maine to an absent brother L K Patten Write soon.

Letter from Luther K. Patten Beloit October 23, 1878 No. 4
Brother Hen it has been a long time since I have heard from you and thinking that perhaps you would like to know whether I was dead or alive I pen a few lines to let you know my health is very good at present but when I left Chicago the 17 th of last month I had the asthma very bad but I haven't had it any since. I crossed over the Mifsifspia River. I have been on the road for five weeks it was over eight hundred miles from Chicago to this place in Kansas but I had some bad luck I lost a horse on the road and it took all the money that I had to bye another and now Hen I want you to do me a favor I am in a strange country and not a person within eight hundred miles that I know and all the money that I have is two dollars and 15 cents and I have about 100 miles more to go before I can get government land that is good. Hen I want you to send me one hundred dollars and I will pay it back just as soon as I can make it but I think if I have my health and I think I shall in this country that I can pay it in one year now Henry I should like to see you and all the rest of the folks very much but I can't tell when I shall be able to come East now I want you to be sure and send me that and you shall never be sorry you shall have it as soon as I can make it send it by express to L K Patten Beloit Mitchell Co. Kansas and send me a letter at the same time Hen if I had my health for the past ten years I should not had to ask for such a thing that is why I came west in the circumstances that I was in I could do well in Chicago when I was able to work now I shall have to close for I have a chance to send this to the Post Office. give my love and best wishes to Em and Demp and the children and all enquiring friends

Letter No. 5 Beloit Nov. 17 th 1878 - Brother Hen I received your kind letter some four days ago but I have been so busy that I have not had time to answer it. I rec the money all right and am very thankful for it. fifty dollars and I will send you a note for it the next time that I write. I am well and hope this finds you all the same. I am hauling fine lumber twenty miles for $2.00 per thousand it is very much small pay but we can live very cheap here I shall stop here until Spring this is the end of the railroad at present but they are going to build it on west soon. Hen this is a very fine country we have not had any cold weather here yet. Water has not frozen more than a half inch thick yet there is some very fine land here and some very smart towns Beloit is a very lively town about three thousand inhabitants I live two miles west of town I should like to see you all very much Tell Em that I shall answer her letter soon I shall have to close for it is getting late and I am very tired I am getting old and can't stand work like I used to write when you can as often as you can so I will bid you goodby

Letter No. 6 Shiboleth May 9 th 1879 = Brother C H Patten =
I have just received two letters from you and was glad to hear from you. We are all well and hope these few lines will find you the same. I got home here the 25 th of April and have been very busy today. It is Sunday or I couldn't find the time to write Fred is here with me We are breaking and planting it to corn I have a very good claim there is 156 acres of nice plow land as ever was We break two acres a day and plant it to corn with a pair of horses I have got me a house 12 x 20 and a fair kind of house for this country but it costs to build here I paid at Crocker City 140 miles from here 23 dols per thousand but I could have got it for 28 at Buffalo 40 miles from here on the Kansas and Pacific R R. That is the nearest R R to me I have paid out all the money that I had but as soon as I can get my crop in I have got some breaking to do for other folks but it is time the crops were in here so I have to do that first. Now Hen you wrote about a claim I would take it for you if I had the money but I have not it is a timber claim you have got to get five acres broke the first year that I can do at $2.00 an acre but that is all the first and cultivate that five acres and break five acres more the second year the third year plant the first five acres to timber four feet each way and cultivate the second five the fourth and last year to plant the last five acres and take care of them until you have it eight years then you get your deed from government $1600 sixteen dollars and 100 for making out the papers 100 for dollars surveyor and fourteen dollars to government now Hen you will have to pay out on the claim $1600. I can tend to it and there is no taxes on it until you get your deed and the sooner for the land is going fast I am ninty miles from the land office and I have to go there within sixteen miles in about ten days after a load of corn that I have got there now I will wait until I hear from you before I go Please get word to me soon as possible for I am most out of feed. if you send the money send it by registered letter and direct to me Shibolith P O Decator County Kansas This is new country here the same as Beloit Mitchell County has six or seven years ago and I think we shall have a rail road through this county in the state in a year or two. Walter will be here next month to take the lumber claims and I think in six months that the timber claims will all be taken so the sooner you take one the better show you have we send out love and best wishes to you and yours. Tell Em to write goodby L K Patten

Letter No. 7 Beloit Jan. 26, 1879 (Should be letter no. 6)

Dear Brother Hen as I have not heard from you for a long time I thought I would write a few lines to let you know that I think of you and yours. I would like to see all ever so much my health is very good for me this winter although I have a bad cough yet but I have been working hard this winter about Christmas and New Year I am building a house to live in and dig out a stable and I was so busy that I hardly knew when they came but I wish you all a very happy New Year We have had a great deal of cold weather for this country I see Uncle Joseph's brother lived in Beloit. I was at his home he is a dentist and Dr I should not have known him but he met me on the street and asked if my name was Henry Patten. I told him no but I was his brother I hadn't seen him for 13 or 14 years.

He was a boy when I see him last he is married and got two children, a girl and a boy, girl ten years old he is going west out of here and Walter his brother to take up land next month and I want to go with them to take up land next month and I want to go with them to take up 160 acres and I wish you was here to go along to get your land that government owes you land that sold for three or four thousand dollars now. I think this is the garden of the world when a man can sow four bush of wheat on four acres of land and get 216 bush that is better than down in old Maine I suppose you are having lots of cold weather we have had our winter the snow is gone the ice is broke up in the river I live on the bank of the Solomon two miles west of Beloit they have commenced work on the railroad and the farmers will be sowing wheat next month I expect to get work next month on the railroad and the farmers will be sowing I have rented 40 acres of corn ground for wheat now Hen I shall have to get you to help me for I have to get two plows and harrow and buy the seed I have paid out about all of the fifty I got I bought a stove and a hundred bush of corn and I want to go out and take up my claim next month and that will cost me about $14 then I will have land of my own to work next year I have feed enuf for my team until it grows again and now Hen if you will let me have 50 dols more I think it will set me up all right and I will pay it back just as soon as I can this fall I will do so I will send the note for the next fifty that you sent me and send the next fifty. Send as before I wrote you after I rec the other fifty but I haven't heard from whether you got the letter or not now Hen I will close hoping this will find all well write as soon as you get this from your well wishing brother L K Patten Beloit-Mitchell Co. Lived Hermon, Maine, Billings Road as the second generation on the old homestead of Richard and Lavinia Patten. Charles Patten was a farmer as had been the generations before him and after. The men and the land seemed to respond to each other so successful farming resulted. Charles Patten also had a peddlers cart for patent medicines, pepperment, checkerberry, Coe's cough medicine, etc. These names were on the sample bottles.

> Coes cough medicine: cure directions: For adults half a tablespoon every three hours through the day (oftener if the cough is very severe) and a teaspoonful or tablespoonful at bedtime. For a child two years old 25 drops.
> C H Patten and Son Prop'ers Hermon, Maine

In 1964 100 of these peddlers cart medicine bottles were found in the attic of the old homestead by Clara Patten Bowen, Iola Patten Atkins and Lincoln Patten and Agnes Whitney. Lincoln was the fourth generation living on the homestead. Clara and Iola were sisters of Lincoln. Many of these bottles were saved as souvenirs and many were sold to Mrs. Lewellyn Bradstreet, antique dealer of Hallowell, Maine. Some were found also on the town dump.

Bradley and Tena Higgens lived at Stillwater, Minnesota to manage the farm of Demcy's brother Jason Patten. They then moved to Levant, Maine to the "Island Farm" which was surrounded on three sides by the Black Stream. At the entrance to a field road was a church, this Clara Patten Bowen remembers vividly because her family often visited the family, always going down the field road to the house where they received a warm welcome, which she always remembers with pleasure. Also near the house was a mill, one of the oldest in the United States, which survived until the 1960s when it was torn down. Another of these mills was at Goffstown, N. H. These were saw mills -

Poems which apply to a mill below:

The miller is gone, like the waters
That ran their course to the sea,
And the old mill wheel hangs silent
With its memories of "used to be"
But in fancy I hear the music
Of its clattering, rhythmic strain
When it turned in the days of glory
To the song of the wheat and the grain.

Weathered and worn and gray am I
Years and ages have passed me by
But at times when the midnight
breezes play
My old arms wave a rhythmic sway
Back and forth, with a joyous creak
For that is the way I have to speak
With the ghosts of millers who gather here
And practice their tales of a bygone year

Note: Tena Higgens had a sister Elvia Cushman who married Edward Snow. The Cushmans lived on the Levant Road which ran from Leathers Corner to Levant Village, Hermon to Levant.

Bangor Daily News, Bangor, Maine (with picture) Higgens-Higgens wedding performed at Charleston - The wedding of Miss Helen Lois Higgens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Higgens of Charleston, to Jeffrey Robert Higgens of Kenduskeag and son of the late Everett Higgens, was celebrated here at the Baptist Church, Feb. 1 by Rev. James C. Sleeper. Soloist was Mrs. Barbara Hanna and organist was Mrs. Robert Greatorex. The bride, escorted by her father, chose a taffeta gown featuring a scooped neckline and traditional long, pointed sleeves. The fitted bodice was highlighted with Chantilly lace, seed pearls and a self fabric bow at the waist. A detachable Watteau train completed the dress. The silk illusion veil was caught to a crown of seed pearls and aurora borealis crystals. Bridal flowers were a cascade of white poms, carnations, roses and ivy. Matron of honor was Mrs. Gary Niles of Bradford. Her gown was turquoise peau de soie with empire waist and long sleeves. She carried a golden hued rose. Bridesmaids were Miss Rebecca Higgens of Kenduskeag, Mrs. Ronald Quinn of Bangor and Miss Norma Cairns of Glenburn. They wore yellow formal gowns of peau de soie, featuring long sleeves and lace accent down the front seams of the dresses. Flower girls were Beth Ann Niles of Bradford and Julie Pullen of Kenduskeag. They were dressed like the honor attendant and carried baskets of yellow and white poms. Best man was Donald O'Halloran of Bangor. Ushers were Julian Page of Scarboro, Dennis Higgens of Levant, and Gary Niles of Bradford. The bride graduated in 1969 from Higgens Classical Institute and is employed at System Development Corporation, Charleston A F B. The bridegroom graduated from Higgens Classical Institute.

Note Levant News: The Henderson place, the old homestead of Ernest York, on the Kenduskeag Road, was completely destroyed by fire Sunday night. Too bad to see these old landmarks disappear because they are seldom replaced.

From History of Kenduskeag, Maine by Erma Winters - Library-Hallowell, Maine - Ezekiel Crane settled on the Wings Mills Road. In 1914 he sold this farm to the York family - p 64 - In 1934 Ernest York who had been living in Massachusetts since the war, came back to Kenduskeag and bought the old Crane place from his father Charles York. He started to raise vegetables and small fruits for the city market. He also did considerable experimental work for the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station. Later he was active in soil conservation work. When the farm was at its peak, Mr. York employed between ten and thirty young people, mostly girls. They were picked up each morning in a truck and returned to their homes at night. Though if the day had been hot, there was a stop over at the swimming hole in the village.

Letter from Annette(Higgens)York March 20, 1964 - P O Box 36 Ruskin, Florida
I was so pleased to get your letter and surprised this morning. It is too bad that we did lose touch with each other but those were very busy years for us and for you people too. Then when we sold the farm I went back to nursing - in fact I still work enuf to earn the $1200. I could earn more than that now that I am over 72, but don't care about keeping at it too long now. If I work this summer it will probably be my last year at it. This is our third year winter in Florida and we love it.

Last spring we bought a small house here in Ruskin which is on the bay, twenty miles south of Tampa on #41. The house was not completed, just one coat of paint inside and quite a few carpenter jobs to be finished so that is what we have been doing this winter. Ernest is the carpenter and I have done most of the painting. We have a pretty well finished and furnished home now. Our address is in Kenduskeag R#1. Last fall we sold the home where we had been living because the grounds were getting to be a burden to care for. We had a small house built in the village and we want to get back this spring early enuf to get the lawn graded and seeded and a few shrubs and flowers started. It is hard for me to imagine you as a great grandmother as I still visualize you as a young girl. What a shock we both are going to get. I hope you look like your sweet mother who was so beloved by everyone who knew her as my mother was too.

Sincerely yours, Annette

From Bangor Daily News-Levant, Maine - Helen and Bradley Higgens and Beryle and Sidney Higgens went to Togus Sunday to visit Helen's brother Ernest York who recently underwent major surgery. His friends are pleased he has been removed from the intensive care area.

Obituary: Funeral services for Ernest A. York 74 who died Wednesday at Togus, will be conducted Saturday at 2 P.M. at the Thompson Funeral Home in East Corinth. The Rev. Herbert J. John Patten took care of his parents until death. He was married to Cynthia Nealley, daughter of James Nealley of military fame, by this union three children were born: Charles, Calista, and Dora.

Correction above: It could not have been the sons of John Patten 1776-1850 who helped clear the land as they were born 1803 and 1805. It could have been the brothers. *The father of Cynthia was Joseph Nealley and not James.

Letter from Mrs. Elizabeth Cottle, 404 Bellevue Street, Marietta, Ohio, Oct. 30, 1967 - I am a little puzzled by the name Cynthia Amoria Nealley as you gave it to me. My Bible gives her name as Cynthia A R which fits in, but that does not fit in the R and what does it stand for? Did you ever hear that she was called Rena or Renie? I have a letter from, rather two old postcards, written about 1893 by her brother Greenlief Nealley in which he mentions a number of his brothers and sisters but not Cynthia. On the other hand on each he mentions Rena or Renee. The card in 1893 was written to his sister Mrs. E. A. Patten who was evidently visiting son Alphonso in Washington D C. Here he said "Wrote Susan again and Jane and James and Rena. They will not be long with us on this side." If you will check the list of the Joseph Nealley's family you will see that this is a list of brothers and sisters then living as far as I can see, although I don't know when Joseph 111 died. In 1893 Greenlief Nealley would have been almost 80, Elizabeth Ann 73, during the year and Cynthia (or Rena?) 70. I don't know when Greenlief Nealley died but he seemed to live in Bangor, Maine. Elizabeth Ann lived until 1910 and Cynthia would have lived until 1897 but I do not have any more information about the others.

I have quite a large chart of the Nealley-True genealogical tree prepared by Edward B. Nealley of Bangor, Maine 1878.
See History of Nottingham, Deerfield, and Northwood by Cogswell 1878 for information on Nealley.

research on our mutual ancestors, but am not able to at this time throw much light on the subject. My Aunt Lillian Rideout of Bangor, who was my father's double cousin, had a family tree, fairly good, worked up at one time, of which I had a copy but, due to moving about, has been mislaid and I am unable to find it. The Pattens came from England originally to some place in New Hampshire and from there to Hampden, Maine. As I recall there were four brothers, James, John, William and one other who settled along the Hampden road, one in West Hampden and James, William and John in what is now Hermon. There was one other, Amos Patten who appears in the old Historical records in Bangor. I suppose in some way he was connected or is another branch which is located near Ellsworth. Back when I was surveying I used to run across numerous Pattens in the registry of deeds in both Bangor and Ellsworth. My father had a very good idea of the family tree in all its aspects and branches and I used to enjoy talking about it with him but my memory seems to be getting poorer as I grow older. However, if I should turn up any new light on the subject will let you know. Was very glad to hear from you as I saw Webber and Lincoln last summer and had a nice visit. My regards to you and Howard and what are you doing in Hallowell, Maine? I had lost track of you.

Very sincerely Montford

Josephine Patten was a sister of Inez(Jackson)Patten who married Otis Patten, brother of Montford. Montford gave the information on his family.

Obituary of Elizabeth Ann Patten sent by Mrs. Elizabeth Cottle, Bangor Daily News Jan. 22, 1910 - On Saturday last there passed out of this community a long time and much valued resident, Mrs. Elizabeth Patten. Her quiet life and unassuming spirit did not hide from her cheerfulness that characterized her early life and continued to the end. Amid the going and coming of young people in her household, their laughter and vivacity, she seemed as young as any. Behind it all and through the years there was a steady calm and Christian faith. She was an earnest and consistent member of the Hammond Street Church. Mrs. Patten was born in Monroe, Maine August 8, 1820, one of a family of ten, some of whom lived to a greater age than her own. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Ann Nealley. In 1838 she married Joseph Patten, a resident of her native place. They moved to this city 1855, the husband passing away some eighteen years ago. There were four children; Alphonso S. Patten, in the auditors office of the post office in Washington D. C.; Walter S. Patten of this city; Mrs. Lillian Rideout of this city also; and a daughter who passed away in 1872. Besides these she leaves six grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Since the death of her husband Mrs. Patten's home has continued to be at 329 Union Street with her daughter Mrs. Rideout. During this time she found pleasure in embroidery work in which she showed great taste and aptitude. Throughout her long illness she was cared for by her nurses most lovingly and by her daughter and Mrs. Walter Patten. The funeral services will be held at the home at two o'clock. Interment will be at Mount Hope Cemetery.

As a child Timothy Stanton lived in Missouri. In 1874 his parents moved to Boulder, Colorado. For some years he was the oldest alumnus of the University at Boulder. He was in the preparatory department when the University of Colorado opened and in the graduating class 1883. In 1924 they gave him an honorary degree, Doctor of Science. That was the year, says his daughter Elizabeth, "I graduated from high school and in order to not miss my graduation he asked that his honor be deferred until the August ceremonies after summer school. I won't ever forget that." Timothy Stanton attended John Hopkins and Columbia Universities, Columbia now Georgetown, from Georgetown he received his Ph.D 1897. He joined the U. S. geological survey 1889 and was chief geologist when he retired 1935. He had many professional papers and honors. See Who's Who in America.

Note from Elizabeth Cottle: "I know you enjoy your view of the river and in Marietta we will also have a view from our home on a cliff 200 feet above the Muskegum River and where we can see it confluence with the Ohio. Yet it is only five blocks from downtown." Roy's people were from Meigs County, the first Cottles were from Belmont County, Ohio, just west of Wheeling, West Virginia. Roy's parents moved to Marietta when he was five years old. His mother was from Lowell, Ohio, ten miles from Marietta. Her parents moved there when she was two years old. Delmer Leroy Cottle graduated from Marietta College with an A B Degree 1926; from Ohio State with a Ph.D 1930; Asst. and Asso. professor in chemistry at Rutger's University 1930-44; research chemist and research associate chemist at Asso. Research and Engineer Co., Lincoln, N. S. 1945-65; interim appointment Penn. State chemistry Dept., Hazelton Campus January to June 1966. He did 19 Ph.D students technical papers, 90 patents, and lesser contributions on chemical society history. Elizabeth Cottle graduated from Goucher College with an A B degree 1928; an M S degree from Washington University, St. Louis 1930. She has researched a great deal of genealogy and worked on publications for the D A R for Marietta State Library, Ohio and the Historical Society, and for 150 others for the Ohio Historical Society.

The genealogy of Joseph Patten 1815-1920 material was sent by Elizabeth (Stanton)Cottle to Clara Patten Bowen who did this genealogy. She also came to Maine to go to cemeteries and do research with her husband.

The Nealley Family

From the Early History of Monroe (Waldo) County by D. S. Dinsmore printed in Republican Journal, Belfast 1882: In the fall of 1801 a Mr. Putnam moved from Waterville to the Rich neighborhood next to Monroe and in the spring moved into Monroe. His family at that time consisted of himself, his wife, and three unmarried daughters just coming into womanhood, together with one married daughter, her husband a Mr. Pattee, and two or three small children. Mr. Putnam lived in Charlestown, Mass. at the breaking out of the Revolutionary War. When the English army marched over to Charlestown, Mr. Putnam lost his house, all his property, and so he strayed to Maine and came to Monroe. His was the first family in the westerly part of the town. At that time, there was not even a path or spotted trail from where he settled to Mason's Mills. The same year 1802 John B. and Joseph Nealley brothers, single men, came from Nottingham, N. H. and finally settled just west of the village. Joseph found his way from Mason's Mills or Cynthia Nealley found a way through the woods to Mason's Mills. The next spring 1803 they were married and settled on the place he had selected for a home. This was the first marriage where both parties lived here. They prospered, became well to do, and Mr. Nealley was the principal business man here during his life. Before the organization of the plantation during his existence, and after the town was incorporated, he was the manager of affairs. As someone has said: he was the Town. Mr. Nealley was a magistrate, was elevated to the legislature, and was our first postmaster. But, alas! Trouble came. At the September meeting of the Militia 1830, a gun burst inflicting a mortal wound, a piece struck Mr. Nealley in the temple. He lived about three weeks and died in October. His wife lived to 1869.

Joseph Nealley Sr. was born 1746 in Nottingham, New Hampshire - died May 20, 1817. He was the son of Matthew Nealley and Margaret Beverland. His first wife, 1852, was Susannah Bowdoin and the mother of his children as follows: Jane, Matthew, John B., Josephine, Benjamin, Edward B. His second wife was Molley Nealley. He lived in Nottingham all his lifetime. Joseph Nealley enlisted Jan. 21, 1777, 3rd Batt. in Capt. Wier's Co., Col. Scammons regt., served to 1781, Sergt. 1783.

Joseph Nealley Jr. born June 16, 1780 Nottingham, N. H. - died Oct. 16, 1839 Monroe, Maine. Married Cynthia Putnam, born 1785 - died Nov. 23, 1869, 84 y 8 m 7 d. Lived Monroe, Maine. Children: Susan, Joseph, John, Mary, Greenlief, Sarah, Elizabeth, Cynthia.

Letter from Robert Perkins, 147 Boulevard, Mountain Lake, N. J. Dear Mrs. Bowen: I have just been given your name by your relative Mrs. Elizabeth Cottle of Highland Park, N. J. She said you might be able to help me in my genealogical research on the Putnam and Nealley families. What I am trying to determine is whether or not John Putnam of Monroe, Maine who once lived in Charlestown, Mass. was the John Putnam who had a daughter Elizabeth who married Joseph Patten of Hermon, Maine.

Letter from Mrs. Elizabeth Cottle of Marietta, Ohio Oct. 21, 1967 - We visited the village cemetery in Monroe. We found the grave of my great greatgrandfather Joseph Patten and his wife Cynthia Putnam. We almost missed Joseph's grave which is a slate and broken in half, the two pieces stuck down into the ground. They had two of their children and a daughter-in-law in the same row. In another part of the cemetery we found Joseph's brother John B. Nealley and some of his family.

Obituary of Levi Patten: Bangor paper 1902 - Death of Levi Patten - He was a native of Hermon, Maine. Hon. Levi Patten, one of Bangor's oldest residents died at his home on Third Street and Union Street Thursday morning after having been in ill health for several years. His age was eighty five years, one month. The time of his funeral will be announced. Levi Patten was born in Hermon April 5, 1817 and was educated in the schools there. In 1850 he moved to Bangor, purchasing a farm on Hammond Street which he sold in 1874 going into the grocery business with Benjamin Gubtil in Pickering Square. He afterwards engaged in the shoe business until he retired from active life. He was elected to the senate on the green back and democratic ticket in 1878 or 9. In 1885 in Cleveland's administration he was appointed to the position of Deputy collector of Internal revenue in this city which he held for two years. Among other public offices which Mr. Patten occupied was a member of the school board of Hermon. He was married to Rachel Leonard 1844, daughter of Solon Leonard of Hampden. He had four children, two of whom Solon L. of Hartford and a daughter Miss Luella of this city, together with his wife survive him. Mr. Patten was a Democrat except for the time when he acted with the greenback convention in Chicago 1880, as a delegate. Mr. Patten was a man of strict integrity and of high business principals and his demise will be regretted by his friends.

Buried in a private cemetery on the old homestead farm, half way down Shaw Hill, Hampden, in a field. A daughter Miss Elizabeth is also buried there. On her stone it says "Daughter of James and Elizabeth." In 1966 Clara (Patten) Bowen and Iola (Patten) Atkins, sisters, went to this cemetery lot, discovered it needed restoration, contacted the V F W Post of Hampden and the following shows what was done: From the Observer of Hampden, Maine with pictures of the lot before and after restoration - "V F W work on cemetery project - Whitcomb-Baker Post V F W is rendering a unique service to the community as a part of their Community Service Program. Following up a report from a genealogist who had discovered an abandoned cemetery off the paper mill road in West Hampden, the V F W Post appointed Edward Tribou and Warren Young, co-chairmen of a committee to work on the project. The plot was abandoned and overgrown and barely visable from a short distance. The V F W members are working hard clearing and restoring the area and attempting to ascertain who is buried there." Clara Bowen and Iola Atkins went there after it was cleared and placed the stones, which were broken, on the lot of each family member, placing the pieces as near the original as possible, and placing the stone of James which was only broken off at the base on his grave. The cable and four posts were in fine condition, also the monument in the center. The V F W placed a marker and flag for Memorial Day. In 1976 Mr. Roderick Farnham of Hampden, legislator, discovered the cemetery lot and is interested in restoring it again as it had grown up again to bushes. Since then he has accomplished this project.

In a Disused Grave Yard - by Robert Frost verses 1 and 4

The living come with grassy tread
To read the gravestones on the hill;
The graveyard draws the living still,
But never any more the dead.

It would be easy to be clever
And tell the stones: men hate to die
And have stopped dying now forever.
I think they would believe the lie.

Service record James Patten: 1812 War - Capt. James Patten - Capt. of Militia in Andrew Grant's Regt., Hampden. Also in service Hampden and vicinity Sept. 1-3, 1814 Ensign John Miller.

Lived: At the foot of Shaw Hill, Hampden, Maine. The house was put together with handmade nails. In 1965 it was tumble down, the boards worn to a lovely shade of grey. In back of the house was a path that led to Patten Pond. James had as close neighbors his three brothers, Moses at the top of Shaw Hill until his house burned and he moved to Bald Hill Cove; John and William lived on the Hermon side of the boundary line of Hampden-Hermon. John's house, the ell of the main house,is the only one standing and in fine condition 1976. Owned by Owen Goss - at one time Wallace Brewer owned James Patten's house.

Children: Mary, Oliver, James, Elizabeth, Jeremiah

From Penobscot County 1882 History: James Patten came to Hampden in an early day from Merrimack, New Hampshire when he was six years of age and settled on the place where Jerry Patten now lives. He had five children, viz: Polly, deceased wife of Robert Blaisdell of Hampden; Oliver; James, now of Hermon; Elizabeth E.; and Jerry G. Mr. Patten was a man who took prominent part in town affairs and held township offices for many years. In 1831-32 he represented the town in the Legislature. He was for many years Capt. of the Militia and commanded the company in the Battle of Hampden in the year 1812. He died December 11, 1859. Mrs. Patten died May 2, 1851. James Patten was selectman during the years 1813-14-15-27-28.

Notes on Enoch Mudge, Elder who married James and Elizabeth Patten:
From Maine Place Names by Ava Chadbourne. The people of Orrington formed a Congregational Society as early as 1800 with members residing in Bangor, Hampden, and Orrington. In 1834 the East Orrington Church was formed. Altho the Methodists had sent missionary preachers into the region about 1798 when Elder Enoch Mudge began preaching in Orrington and served the Christian people nearly thirty years. He was sent to the General Court as representative in 1811-14-16. Williams says I have listened to his sermons and services with pleasure and profit. There were two meeting houses in number and were erected seven miles apart, equidistant from each end of the town.

Enoch Mudge married Carolyn Patten who was the daughter of Capt. John Patten and Olive (Lassell). (See genealogy of Matthew I of Patten in Maine State Library.)

He married Betsy Cowan, daughter of George and Lucy Cowan of Hampden. The couple have six children viz Thomas, now of Hampden; Fannie, wife of Samuel Babb of Chippawa Falls, Wisconsin; Jere, deceased; Hamlin, deceased. Mr. Patten has been a member of the board of selectmen for several years, 1864-66-69-70. In 1871 he was appointed by Secretary McCulloch as weigher and gauger in the custom house in Bangor, which position he has held for ten years. He lives in the northeastern part of Hermon.
Note: Jeremiah Patten was the first president of the North Newburgh Cheese Manufacturing Company, organized 1875. See clipping in Observer of Hampden, Maine and also in Bangor Daily News Apr. 13, 1966. It was called Monroe Cheese Factory.

Obituary - Fannie Patten, Bangor Daily News 1972 Dixmont - Fannie Patten, 90, widow of Frank Patten, died May 31, at a Waterville Nursing Home. She was born in Dixmont Aug. 30, 1862, the daughter of Llewellyn and Ethel Nye. She was a member of the North Star Grange in Dixmont. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Sybelle Palmer of West Roxbury, Mass; one grandson, Lawrence of Dedham, Mass; one niece Josephine Dunphy of Burnham; one nephew Cecil Nye of Bangor; two great grandchildren. Funeral services will be held in Newport Sunday 2 p m at the Crosby-Neal Funeral Home. Burial will be in the Mount Rest Cemetery, Carmel. Friends may call at the funeral home 2-4 and 7-9 p m.

Bangor Daily News -- Fannie Patten, formerly of Dixmont, will celebrate her 88th birthday on August 30. She is in poor health at the Lakewood Manor Convalescent Home, 85 Western Ave., Waterville. Cards from old and new friends would be greatly appreciated. 1970--

Letter from Mrs. Sybelle(Patten)Palmer, daughter of Frank and Fannie (Nye) Chase Patten: Oct. 12, 1967
Dear Mrs. Bowen: Have been meaning to drop you a line since August. That was when you sent birthday greetings and a letter to my mother Fannie Patten in Dixmont, Maine. Thank you. She doesn't do much writing recently, does live alone but shouldn't be, but is real stubborn and loves Dixmont. That was where she was born. I am the daughter Sybelle that you speak of so I guess we must be related somewhere along the line. I was born in the house that you speak of that has tumbled down. Am afraid I don't know much about my ancestors, but I have a cousin Lucetta quite a few years older than I which I believe should have or know the dates of the family of Thomas Patten. She was or is the only daughter of Bertha as I am the only daughter of Frank. There were four other daughters of Thomas, all of course of which have passed away. The name of Patten went out on my side when Dad passed away in 1944. He would have been 100 years old next Jan. 14th. I was born Oct.2, 1916. Where is this place in Hermon that Lincoln Patten lives in? And is he your brother? Naturally I know the Charles N. Patten place, have played with Linwood, son of Otis, and Lloyd, son of Montford many times. My Dad is buried in Dixmont in my plot in Simpsons Corner Cemetery. His father Thomas I believe is buried in Seal Harbor as he was married twice and I think was buried with his second wife. My Dad's mother also married a second time and is buried in the West Hampden cemetery along with her second husband Charles Hopkins. I think the remainder

There is an Archie Patten who lives near the IOOF Hall between Hampden upper and lower corners. He has a niece (Mrs. Jeanne Whitten) who I believe is doing a genealogy on the Patten family also. Clara Patten Bowen who did this genealogy of Mary Patten and Elisha Grant, remembers the day the house burned. There was nothing left of it but the tall chimney which fell at the end of the fire. Clara Bowen watched it tumble to the ground. The house was replaced by another. In this house later lived William Hillman. It was just below the house of Russell Patten, Clara Bowen's father, so she could see the fire from home. The house was lived in later by Merton Hillman, a son of William, and then later Merton's son lived there. In 1973 it was sold to Russell Duplin Patten, a grandson of Russell Patten. Bessie Andrews was bedridden the last years of her life and Clara Bowen used to visit her. One maybasket time she hung them, filled with layer cakes in each one, to the children of Russell Patten. This is a nice memory of Bessie Andrews.

She also went to a cemetery in Edinburgh where only Grants were buried. It was about half the size of Hermon Pond Cemetery. She said it was in fine shape. She thought there must have been about four or five hundred buried there." In the 1960s Eva Grant fell in her home, was taken to the Osteopathic Hospital in Bangor. Clara Patten Bowen who did this genealogy visited her there, found her a very alert and interesting person.

Obituary of A. Linnis Snow, Bangor Daily News, Bangor, Maine: Hermon woman as Educator, active in politics, lodges - Mrs. A. Linnis Snow 64 died at her home in Hermon late Wednesday night after an illness of many months. She was the daughter of Danforth and Alwilda Snow, and was born in Hermon. For many years she was a most valuable and competent teacher in the Hermon schools, winning the love and esteem of her pupils by her affection and kindness. The year following her retirement as a teacher she was elected Superintendent of Schools, a position she held for six years. Her popularity increased as the years passed by. For the last twenty years she had been a member of the superintending school committee. She probably did more for the cause of education than any other person of the town. Whatever success the Hermon schools may have had is due much to her dynamic personality and untiring efforts in their behalf. In politics she was always a staunch Republican. Having served as chairman of the Republican committee of Hermon and at the time of her death was president of the Women's Republican Club of Hermon. Always active in fraternal organizations, she has held all the offices in the Eastern Star and Rebecca Lodge, a Past Noble Grand and Past District President. She was also Past Matron of the Jonathan Hunt Chapter O E S and was a Past Master of the Union Grange.

were just going out and horses coming in" her father-in-law predicted that it would be the ruination of the country. Mrs. Grant will have open house this afternoon and evening for members of the family and intimate friends and she is anticipating the occasion with no small degree of pleasure. She was born in Hermon and attended the schools there and in Carmel. At seventeen she married Albert L. Grant and went to live on the Old Grant Farm which had been in the family for five generations. She lived there for sixty three years, and even today there is a certain nostalgia as she says "it was a grand old farm." The young bride was not equipped with the modern housekeeping facilities which a girl of today has. She cooked on one of the old fashioned black stoves and remarked yesterday "I like the old wood stove-it smelled good." She was up bright and early to make hot biscuits for breakfast and during her early life carried water a quarter of a mile. Her husband died 28 years ago and her family was married and gone and it was lonesome so ten years ago she sold the farm and moved to her present home in Bangor. She thinks that the young generation is "nice" and probably no worse than young people years ago. The granddaughter of a Methodist minister, she was brought up strictly and doesn't approve of smoking for young people but admits that once when her father was in bed she lighted his pipe. That was her only experience with smoking. She believes cocktails are all wrong, and even when her physician suggested that a little liquor would be good for her and a pint was given her, she did not touch it. "It just kicked around" she said. At ninety Mrs. Grant can read the front page of the News without glasses and she is in good health. "I eat well and sleep well" she said, explaining that she had had a heart attack, but that the Doctor took care of that. A Republican she has voted only once and that was in Hermon. Although unable to attend church, she maintains a membership in the First Baptist Church of Bangor. Mrs. Grant has four daughters; Mrs. Sibyl Dunbar who lives with her mother; Mrs. Myrtie Call of Portland; Mrs. Louise Call of Fresno, California; and Mrs. Luvie Dickerson of East Millinocket; one son Judson Grant of Bangor. She has eleven grandchildren, seventeen great grandchildren, and one great great grandchild. Mrs. Grant thinks that modern housekeeping equipment is nice and points out that "my cooking days are over." She does enjoy life and has a particularly fine sense of humor.

Bangor Rite celebrates McIntosh-Grant wedding: Christmas greenery and candlelight was the setting for the wedding of Miss Mary Lee Grant and at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Grant, to Mr. Terry Leon McIntosh of Saco. The Dec. 27 wedding was performed by the Rev. Ernest Sperring of the Columbia Street Baptist Church, Bangor. Soloist was James Whidden; organist was Mrs. Priscilla Mague. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Judson Milton Grant Sr. and the late Mr. Grant. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Irving McIntosh of Lisbon Falls. Given in marriage by her brothers, Forrest Hillman Grant and Judson Milton Grant Jr., the bride wore a floor length A line gown of silk faced rayon with self styled sleeves and mandarin neckline. The train, trimmed with self braid, to match the gown was attached to the shoulders. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion cascaded from a camelot cap which matched the dress. She carried a cascade of white roses. Matron of honor was Mrs. John Thomas of Bangor. She wore a floor length green velvet gown with scoop neckline . The headpiece was a matching green velvet bow. She carried red roses. The best man was Alvah McIntosh of Bangor. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Grant, Bangor. Those assisting were Mrs. Alvah McIntosh, Mrs. Bruce McIntosh, Miss Terry Grant, and Miss Cheryl Grant. The bride is a graduate of Bangor High School and Colby College. She received her degree from the University of Maine, and is teaching at Sanford. The bridegroom received his B S from Farmington State College and his M A from the University of Chicago. He is teaching in Saco at Thornton Academy.

Letter from Mrs. Donald Marden, 85 Silver Street, Waterville, Me. 04901
Dear Mrs. Bowen: Once again you have been most helpful. The information you sent has been filed. Thank you very much. In your letter last year with the information on Z S Patten you have the children of Ezra and Frances Howard listed but Benjamin was not one of them. Am I correct in that B F S and Z S were brothers. Yes I would appreciate the address of Mrs. Cunningham. Sincerely, Ann Benjamin Patten, brother of Ezra was also a goldsmith. (See Benjamin Patten 1822-1907) Mrs. Marden has much information on Zebulon Patten.

Letter from Mrs. Helen Patten Cunningham of Milton, Mass., granddaughter: My connection with the Rowes, my grandmother was Cordelia Snow Rowe, of Hampden, Maine. Those Rowes go back to Gloucester 1656. Two years after Old John came to America Nicholas Rowe was made poet laurette of England, after Tate. I visited his tomb in Westminster Abbey. About Henry, son of Benjamin, his father was a jeweler and silversmith. I have some of his hallmarked silver. He was in a business with Mr. Dinsmore. Grampa was married twice. I would like to know to whom. I have found a mistake in the Atwood family. I found she had Joseph marrying Alpha Bangs Knowles, widow, but it was Stephen Atwood. I had gotten the photostat from Barnstable Court House this past fall. So the N E Gen. will make a correction. The Atwood Genealogy 1914.

Advertisement in Waterville paper by Mrs. Donald Marden (Ann Margaret) - I am doing research on 18th and 19th century Maine silversmiths, goldsmiths, jewelers, clock and watchmakers for publication, to include markings and biographical sketches. I would like to hear from individuals who have information or are ancestors, or have marked samples. All credits acknowledged. My address is 85 Silver Street, Waterville, Maine. Thank you very much.

Clara Patten Bowen sent material on both Benjamin Patten and his brother Zebulon Patten (See Zebulon Patten)
Dear Mrs. Bowen: Do you have a B F S Patten listed in your genealogy anywhere? I have found him as a jeweler and watchmaker in Bangor around 1861 and 1873. Hope you can have some other information you can share with me. Sincerely Ann

Lived Woolwich, Maine; Bangor, Maine
Children: Rebecca, Thomas, Mary, Louise, David, Susan, John, Fanny, Sarah

Notes from Bangor Public Library, Bangor, Maine: 1771 in April of this year came Thomas Howard and wife with two children, from Woolwich and first settled in a house on their homestead, but near the river. With them came six men; Thomas, John and Hugh Smart; Daniel Nowells; Jacob Dennett; Simon Crosby; all from Woolwich. Thomas Howard was taxed 1776 and became tax collector 1778.

Actual settlement began in Bangor 1769 with the arrival of Jacob Buswell of Salisbury, Mass., and the community was one whose chief revenue was derived from the exportation of fish, lumber and furs. The community commissioned for incorporation as Sunbury after first being known as Kenduskeag Plantation. Bangor's first preacher was Rev. Seth Noble. He was sent to Bangor to obtain incorporation from the general court and there, through a misunderstanding or so the story goes, gave the name Bangor, a hymn he was singing as he walked for the filling out of the papers.

of Ellingswoods Corner, Winterport, Maine
Buried Locust Grove Cemetery, Hampden, Maine
Lived Hampden, Maine - built a house on top of Shaw Hill, which was struck by lightning and burned. He moved to Bald Hill Cove from here. When on Shaw Hill he was a neighbor of three of his brothers, James, John and William, he and James in Hampden and John and William on the boundary line of Hermon.

Letter of Samuel Patten Jr., son of Samuel Patten Sr. who was brother of Moses. Samuel Patten Sr. lived on the Winterport Road in Hampden, Me. Samuel Patten Jr. was eighty years of age when the letter was written for him by a descendant Mrs. Annie Abrahams of Denver, Colorado, 1905. (See genealogy of Samuel Patten Sr.).

"Moses lived in a house on top of a hill, left hand side going south near Bald Hill Cove. He lived in Hampden all his life and I suppose got a living from the small farm. I presume all his children were born there. His son John E. Patten was a mastership builder and lived on the shore road, south side, in a house once owned by William Whitney. Bradley Patten a caulker by trade, lived on the Winterport road at the foot of the hill below the house of Arthur Patten. Bradley's house was set well back from the road. George Patten lived for many years at Hermon Pond. Permelia Patten married Benjamin Adams and lived on the shore road north side, in a house lately owned by Marcus Pierce. Richard Patten lived in New York and was a sea captain. He sailed many large vessels. Julia Patten married Asa Adams Capt. of Hampden, a sea Captain, and lived in Bangor for many years the last of his life after he retired from the sea. He ran a shoe business in Bangor. Frank Patten was a house carpenter and lived for many years the last of his life at East Boston where he carried on a contractor shop, contracting for fine work including elevators. He married Caroline Stone, daughter of Daniel Stone. William, John and Jane went to Hermon where they settled on farms. The other members of the family I have no further records."

"Franklin Patten lived the last of his life in East Boston, Mass. where he carried on a shop and was a contractor for fine work including elevators. He was a house carpenter." Note from Samuel Patten, Jr. of Denver, Colorado 1905 - Samuel Patten, Jr. was the son of Samuel Patten sr. Samuel Patten Sr. a brother of Moses Patten 1785-1874.

In the cemetery lot of Franklin Patten are buried Alonzo Patten and George.

NoteLetters from Mrs. Esther Patten Smith Beal of Burlington, Vermont, 77 Pomeroy Street 05401

Dear Mrs. Bowen: So nice to hear from you. Yes, I am very much interested in the Patten genealogy and will be glad to exchange any data I have with you - what would you like to know? I do own a copy of the Patten genealogy written by Howard P. Moore in 1939. It's nice to know that we have the same ancestry, William who married Elizabeth Gamble. Their son Moses was my great grandfather and as you are descended from Moses's brothers we do have sort of a relationship, however remote. Our library does not have the American Genealogist but I will make inquiries about locating it. Do let me hear from you again. Sincerely,
Esther Patten(Smith)Beal, August 18, 1965

Dear Clara: So nice to hear from you recently. Am glad I was able to help you some on Moses. I'm not sure but I think the Patten Bible my brother has probably started with Frank, his right name was Francis Madison Patten, (my grandfather). However, I think I'll write to my brother to verify this. I copied off the pieces of paper you had intentionally or unintentionally sent in your last letter - but am not able to give you much information- probably you have it by now. I also came across this information in one of our books on a William Patten - does this help you at all? The book the Bangor library sent me was the one you suggested I ask for. Bangor Historical Magazine Vol.4 1888-89 the one that had the account of James Stuart Holmes - also the magazine with your article in it. (American Genealogist). I think I will see if the library will send me the book on the Penobscot History 1882. I'd like to see it. My brother's address is: Edwin C. Smith, 169 Coombs Drive, Paramus, New Jersey 07542

Do let me hear from you again, Sincerely Esther Patten Smith Beal, Nov. 7/65.

Tuesday July 2, 1968 - Received your letter some time ago and intended to answer it before now. Am sorry for the delay. I retired from the library the end of September, 1967, having reached the mandatory retirement age. Of course I miss being there 28 years but it's rather nice to take things leisurely now - and to do what you want to do when you want to.

Mrs. Beal sent much material to Clara Patten Bowen on the family of Franklin Patten and deserves much credit for it.

The Bible record she sent is included, also the Daniel Stone family record.

The Daniel Stone Family record from the Family Bible owned by Edwin Smith of Paramus, New Jersey - sent by him to Mrs. Esther Beal and then sent on to Clara Patten Bowen of Hallowell.

Anna Hopkins was born in the house built by her father in Hampden, Maine. Nathan Hopkins and his brother Isaac Hopkins were first settlers of Hampden in 1783. They built their houses on lots no. 11 and 12. Nathan was a town clerk, constable and tax collector. Nathan's wife Desire (Linnell) was born in Eastham, Mass. Sept. 6, 1757, died Hampden, Maine 1830. Nathan and Desire Hopkins were married Nov. 5, 1783. The Nathan Hopkins house still stands in fine condition in 1976, lived in by Mrs. Newton (Helen) Robbins and her husband, Helen a descendant of Alfred Patten. Helen Robbins is a member of the Mayflower Society through Anna Hopkins who was a descendant of Stephen Hopkins of the Mayflower. Samuel Patten and his wife Anna lived in the Nathan Hopkins house. He raised the roof one story with the help of his brothers and lived there until he died at 38 years, his wife Anna lived there the remainder of her life.

Notes on Patten and Goodell families: (Parents of Dr. Clarence Patten)

Rachel Goodell was the daughter of John Goodell and Sarah (Patterson) of Hampden, Maine and granddaughter of John Goodell and Sarah (Haines). John Goodell and Sarah (Haines) Goodell are buried on the home place in Hampden near the roadside, now owned by Russell Douglas 1960s. At one time a man owned the place who wanted to plow up this plot but neighbors objected so it was not done. There is a monument in the center of the plot, a cable with posts around it, and two large stones. Genealogies on the Goodell family are being composed by Clara Patten Bowen of Hallowell, Maine; Mr. John Whittaker, 15 MacArthur Road, Natick, Mass. 01761; and Mr. George Williams of 16 Royal Drive, West Hartford, Conn. 16107.

Richard G. Patten was the son of William Patten 1784-1853 and Abigail (Whitney) of Hampden, Maine. Note from Mrs. Jeanne Whitten of Hampden and Bangor, Maine: William Patten or his parents came from Mass. to Maine, bought land around the Soudrabscook Stream and built a log cabin. The next house was built to the north near the Rips, very much in appearance like the house Raymond Goodell lives in. The barn was located across the road to the West. In this house Richard G. Patten was born and also his children, Ernest and Irvin. It was torn down 1862 and the present house built. Archie Patten lives in it now. The house was deeded to Richard G. Patten in 1858. Richard G. Patten married (1) Myra Sawyer, sister of Sarah Sawyer who married Daniel Patten, (2) Rachel (Goodell). Children: Maizie, Ernest, Archer.

For many years Dr. Charles Tarr was a dentist in Melrose, Mass. He retired to the old homestead of Samuel Patten Sr. where he lived until he died, Hampden, Maine. From Bangor Daily News 1964- December: Little boys love trains but the same is true of Dr. Charles Burritt Tarr of Winterport, who has passed the century mark and still loves to spend a great deal of time at Union Station watching the ebb and flow of people and seeing the trains being made up for various points. Union Station was torn down in 1965.

Mrs. Nellie Tarr took a great interest in the genealogy of the family. She gave much information to Howard Parker Moore who compiled the Patten Families in 1939.

She and Mr. Robbins take great pride in the old homestead. It is in fine condition and the American flag waves each day on the lawn. She has many historical items of the family and others connected with town history. One map shows the location of land of the first settlers of Hampden 1784, the map worn and still legible with a microscope; a steel engraving of the signing of the compact in the cabin of the Mayflower with Stephen Hopkins as one of the signers; an oil painting of one of the Hopkins ancestors who came over on the ship; furniture of both the Hopkins and Patten families; old papers, genealogy, and much more of interest. In the living room off the hall, opposite the living room on the opposite side, the walls are papered with original paper with a white background with small gold flowers printed on like stenciling; the hall paper also original. Priceless to own and show to others.

Samuel Patten Jr. went to sea at 16 years of age as a cook. "He became a deep sea captain, through the Civil War avoiding capture. In 1865, with New Orleans cotton on board, a hurricane sank his ship, the JOHN WESLEY, off the coast of Florida Keys. All hands were saved. In 1867 he joined the celebrated Greeley Colony and engaged in business there. He moved to Denver 15 years later, dying at age 87 years. After making, as a pastime, minature ship models and full rigged vessels. He had asthma when on land but not at sea. That was also the reason he went west." Samuel Patten gave genealogical material to his sister Elizabeth's daughter Annie Jewett Abrahams when he was 80 years of age, 1905. This is included in the genealogies of the various people in these volumes.

Samuel G. Patten, late Master of the barque JOHN WESLEY 2000 tons burden which he sailed for Richard P. Buck and Co., New York, was of Denver after he retired from the sea.

Letter from Mrs. Edward Ames, Brewer, Maine Box 264, Registrar for State Society D A R . Mrs. Edward Ames hopes that some Maine Streeter can help with a problem that has presented itself to the state society. Mrs. Ames writes: Bangor Daily News: Mrs. Betty McCloskey of Wharton, Texas has asked the Maine Society D A R for assistance in locating an original diary kept by Dr. Jonathan Haskins of Hampden who served in the Revolutionary War, or any other proof of service. "Dr. Haskins is buried in Mount Hope Cemetery beside his daughter Melinda who married David Patten and William Tasker, and died 1871." Mrs. Ames would more then appreciate any information Maine Streeters might have that would be helpful in answering her request.

Notes on Levi Bradley Sr. Levi Bradley of Penobscot River(Orono) sells Solomon Kimball of Haverhill, Mass. for 120 pounds 1/16 saw mill at Maraumpuck Falls, 1/4 house standing near the mill 14th July 1786. Witness Daniel Buck, Polly Buck -- Vo. 1 p 110 Hancock Deeds shows sale of this mill three times.

Rev. Seth Noble often visited Levi Bradley with whom he seemed particularly intimate. Seth Noble was Bangor's first pastor, sent to Bangor to obtain incorporation from the general court and there, through a mistake or misunderstanding, or so the story goes, gave the name Bangor, a hymn he was humming as he waited for the filling out of the papers. Before this Bangor was called Sunbury and then Kenduskeag plantation. Rev. Noble's first wife was Haman, daughter of Joseph Barker, Mangerville, N. B. who died Nov. 30, 1790, three days before Seth's return from a trip. His second wife was Ruhama Emery, widow, April 1793. She was the widow of James Emery and daughter of Barzillae Rich Esq. of Orrington. Ruhama died in Montgomery 1895. 9 children. The third wife was Mary Riddle.

Notes: Dr. James Holmes was a brother of Dr. Job Holmes who went to Calais, Maine. Dr. Job Holmes married Vesta Hamlin who was a sister of Hannabel Hamlin and daughter of Dr. Cyrus Hamlin of Oxford and Paris Hill, Me.

From the Life and Times of Hannabel Hamlin by Charles E. Hamlin p 26- "Vesta was engaged to Dr. Job Holmes, whom she soon married, and moved to Calais, Maine. The home was now broken."

Oxford, Maine is the southeastern town of the eastern expanse of Oxford County. It was originally a part of Hebron or Craigies's Mills from which it was separated in 1829. First settlers were from Worcester, Mass., Ipswitch, Plymouth and other Mass. towns. Among the first settlers were Ebenezer Holmes and Cyrus Shaw. Foxcroft was one of the six townships granted to Bowdoin College in 1794. The township was purchased from the institution November 10, 1800 by Joseph Foxcroft at 45¢ an acre. Foxcroft was imposed by the college to have a settlement of twenty four families. In 1810 there were 65 people.

Lincoln in township No. 3 was sold at auction in 1825 to Alfred Gates with some others including Enoch Lincoln, Dr. Cyrus Hamlin, father of Hannabel Hamlin, Dr. Ezekiel Holmes. Dr. Enoch Lincoln, and Dr. Ezekiel Holmes were in Lincoln exploring in 1824. The town was named for Enoch Lincoln. Enoch Lincoln entered Harvard but did not graduate. He was a resident of Paris, Maine and lived with the Hamlins for a time, then Portland, then became Governor of Maine. He was the son of Levi Lincoln of Worcester. In the state park at Augusta, Maine is a long line of trees and at the end is a marble shaft marking the grave of Enoch Lincoln.

From the Bangor Historical Magazine Vol. 4 p 13

James Stuart Holmes, the subject of this paper, was the second lawyer to commence the practice of this profession in that part of Maine that is now Piscataquis County. Although one other lawyer, David Agry, remained here a short time when he went to another state in the west. He had preceded by few months at Sebec. Mr. Holmes will be remembered and denominated as the pioneer of the profession in this Piscataquis County. He was born in that part of Hebron, now Oxford November 13, 1792. He was the oldest of nine children, eight sons and one daughter. One brother Job of Calais married Vesta, the sister of Hannabel Hamlin. The Holmes claimed to be descendants of the Stuarts, Royal family of England. James boyhood and early youth were passed on his father's farm among the hills of Oxford, Maine which have produced so large an array of noted and talented men. He attended the town schools and Hebron Academy until he was thoroughly prepared for college. He graduated from Brown University 1819. He immediately entered the law office of the Hon. Enoch Lincoln of Paris, who afterwards became representative in Congress and Governor of the State of Maine. Mr. Holmes remained there four years pursuing his legal studies varied only by occasional visits to Portland where he was the guest of Hon. Stephen Longfellow, a distinguished lawyer and politician of that time, but now remembered as the father of the poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. At this time Holmes enjoyed the acquaintance of the future author of "Evangeline." In 1878 he visited the poet at his home in Cambridge, Mass. and there these two old time friends revived and lived over again the recollections of the bygone days. In 1822, after admission to the Bar, he settled in the new town of Foxcroft, on the northerly bank of the Piscataquis River where his two brothers, Salmon and Cyrus, had preceded him in 1818. He here opened a law office and commenced the practice of his profession. In the autumn of the same year he opened and taught a high school, for one term, which was incorporated the next year 1823 by the Legislature as Foxcroft Academy with a small grant of land. This is a successful school today and a monument to its founder. He was a member of its board of trustees and served without interruption until his decease. He always took great pride and interest in this institution of learning and never until the last year of his life, when he became too feeble to attend an academical examination of the students and seldom any meeting of the board of trustees.

From the time of entering the profession to about the years 1838-39 he had an extensive and lucrative practice, though brought directly in competition with such eminent men, eminent for learning as well as for forensic talent, as Hon. John Appleton, Gorham Parks, J. P. Rogers, Jacob McGaw, A. G. Jewett, and others of the time, who were all intellectual giants, but he was regarded as the peer of the ablest. For a long time he was a law partner of Hon. James S. Wiley, at the time a representative from this district. The organization of the new county at Piscataquis produced radical changes in the legal business in the region and in the fraternity as well. It introduced new methods and narrowed the field of labor. From this time onward the practice declined until he entirely disappeared from the scenes of a former active life and his retirement was permanent. Joseph B. Brown of Foxcroft, a member of the Piscataquis Bar, was a contemporary with Mr. Holmes and in his reply says: "I well remember a remarkable scene in the year 1843 in which Mr. Holmes was an active participant. The Adventists or followers of Mr. Miller were numerous in the neighboring towns of Atkinson. Their preaching of the second coming of Christ was deemed a heresy by leading citizens and members of other churches. Some of these citizens went to Dover and instituted legal proceedings under the vagrant act, against Israel Damon and several others who were preachers and leaders in the Miller Faith. In the Universalist Church on the hill, which for several years was used as a Court House, there were arraigned before Thomas Scott, Justice of the Peace, without pecuniary compensation. Mr. Holmes volunteered his services for the defense.

For four days the courtroom was crowded with people. During the while there was a succession of praying, singing of hymns, plaintive and exhilarating as only the old style Millerites could sing, shouting, jeers, groans, and applause, but above all these occasional sounds could be heard Mr. Holmes eloquent argument for religious freedom and tolerance and the right of every person to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience, under his own vine and fig tree. At that time he had lost none of the vigor and the fire of his oratory had not grown thin. I remember it as one of the grandest defenses of religious toleration and freedom, that it had ever been my pleasure to listen to or read of. He was also one of the earliest in this country to join the order of Free Masons. Soon after he came to Foxcroft he was made a Mason by Penobscot Lodge, then at Garland and now in Dexter. At that time the highways were impassable for carriages and he in company with Hon. Charles P. Chandler, used to make the journey, a distance of two miles on horseback to attend the meeting of the lodge. This was before there was any lodge in this section. Subsequently he was instrumental in starting a Masonic Lodge in Foxcroft in 1826, and was one of the charter members. He was its first master, after the reorganization in 1845. The only other civil office other than municipal that he ever held was that of chairman of the board of county commissioners, to which position he was appointed by Gov. Edward Kent in 1838. He served on that board of the school committee for many years and was deeply interested in all that pertained to education. Religiously he was a free thinker, though he affiliated with the Universalists. In 1828 (Rawson Genealogy p 112) it says August 4, 1829 he united with Miss Jane Patten and a family of six sons and one daughter were the fruits of this union. (Some source says there was another daughter Lucretia.) Three of the six sons died in early manhood. Politically he was the first National Republican with which the party was voted. As a National Republican he supported the administration of John Quincy Adams. He hated Andrew Jackson and loved Henry Clay, as the men of the day loved and hated those two great leaders. At the state elections of 1879, although feeble, and in almost a dying state, he insisted on being carried to the polls to cast, as he termed it, "his last ballot for freedom." He died peacefully at Foxcroft December 30, 1879. He was a natural scholar and continued to cultivate a classical taste reading Latin and Greek to the close of his life and was found among them oftener than most men.
